Pro-War Spokesman Cries Defiance.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—The sending of an American expeditionary force to Europe or Africa was proclaimed in the senate today by the administration's most candid spokesman as not too great a sacrifice to defeat Hitler if other methods fail.

This declaration was made by Sen. Claude A. Pepper, Florida Democrat, who has a perfect record of urging pro-war steps upon the administration which are ultimately followed by President Roosevelt. In this instance, as is customary with him, Pepper noted that Mr. Roosevelt had not authorized him to make a foreign policy statement.

In the second day of debate on repeal of most of the neutrality act, Pepper followed Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., O.], who charged that a vote for the repeal resolution could be followed by only one more step—an open declaration of war against Germany and the dispatch of a second AEF.

Clark Enters Debate.

Pepper was attempting to answer Taft's arguments when he was interrupted by Sen. D. Worth Clark [D., Idaho].

"If a constitutional declaration of war is necessary to defeat Hitler, would the senator from Florida favor it?" asked Clark.

"Yes," said Pepper.

"Do you think Hitler could be defeated short of a declaration of war by the United States?"

"The answer is yes," replied Pepper. "Materials can beat him."

"May I follow that up," said Clark, "by asking if an AEF following a declaration of war is necessary to defeat Hitler, would the senator favor that?"

Willing to Have AEF.

"The answer is yes," said the militant Pepper who was too young to fight in the last war and is, at 41, too old for front line service if the United States becomes involved again.

"I stop at no sacrifice on the part of this country to defeat Hitler if all other measures fail after a fair trial," thundered Pepper to his colleagues. He turned upon Clark.

"Now I will ask a question," he said. "Would you prefer to be a victim of Hitler rather than to send an expeditionary force abroad?"

Dodges Next Question.

Clark started to protest that the question was unfair. Pepper yelled: "Answer yes or no!"

"O, well, of course, no," said Clark. "But what possible ground has the senator for assuming that this country will become a victim of Hitler?"

Pepper did not answer the question. He proceeded to ridicule the statements of several British generals that American man power by the millions will be necessary to beat Hitler.

"We are not going to let the British tell us how to defend America," he declared. "Lord Beaverbrook told the house of lords that what Britain needs is tanks and guns, not men."

It was Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] who interrupted this time.

"Lord Beaverbrook told me not long ago," said Wheeler, "that Britain needed three million American men; that Britain would match the Americans man for man; and that that was the only way to win the war."

"That may be his honest opinion," remarked the discomfited Pepper.

Taft Questions Pepper.

Previously, Sen. Taft had expressed incredulity when Pepper asserted that he had never declared himself in favor of war.

GERMANS MOVE NEARER MOSCOW IN NEW SECTOR

Moscow revealed early today that fighting had moved to within 55 miles of the capital in a new sector, but claimed the Germans had lost 60 per cent of their strength in the capital fight.

The Russians said heavy fighting also raged west and southwest of Moscow. Reports reaching London said that in one sector the Germans had been thrown back 10 miles and in other sectors were digging trenches and tank traps to protect previous gains.

Berlin said German artillery for more than 24 hours had been violently shelling Leningrad and hinted this might be the prelude to a tank and infantry assault.

The Russian situation in the south was admittedly serious and London sources estimated that the German drive was within 10 to 15 miles of Rostov, the gateway to the Caucasus. The Germans reported the capture of an important tank and munitions factory center in the Donetz basin.

DEMANDS MORE POWER TO KEEP MINES RUNNING

Congressmen Urge Aggressive Stand.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sen. J. W. Bailey.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—President Roosevelt within the next 48 hours will send a request to congress for anti-strike legislation in an effort to cope with the defiant attitude of John L. Lewis, it was learned tonight.

Legislative sources said the President considered his powers inadequate to deal with mine strikes such as the walkout of 53,000 miners in soft coal captive mines operated by the large steel companies.

The walkout was ordered by Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America. Lewis is demanding a union shop agreement.

Bailey Forces Action.

The President's request for legislation, which may go to congress tomorrow, was forced by the action today of Sen. Josiah W. Bailey [D., N. C.] in introducing an amendment to the neutrality revision bill defining sabotage against the United States to include strikes holding up the rearmament program. Bailey's amendment would provide fines of up to $10,000 and 10 years' imprisonment.

Informed sources said administration leaders feared that the strike issue would become embroiled in the neutrality revision debate and delay the speedy revision desired by the administration. Accordingly, it was agreed that the President would request anti-strike legislation to be dealt with separately, and it is understood Bailey will withdraw his amendment.

Three Appeals Spurned.

Tempers rose on capitol hill today because of Lewis' refusal to heed three appeals from Mr. Roosevelt to resume mining operations at once, pending settlement of the dispute.

Lewis is scheduled to confer tomorrow with Myron C. Taylor, representative of the steel companies, but the United States Steel corporation, of which Taylor formerly was chairman, already has announced that the coal strike necessitates curtailment of steel production for rearmament.

The President was represented as believing he held adequate authority to deal with strikes in industrial plants, such as seizure and operation of them by the government, but has not felt sure of his power over mining strikes. There were unsubstantiated reports in Washington tonight that the government might take over the captive coal mines if Lewis continues his defiance.

Issue Up to Congress, Says Bailey.

In introducing his amendment Sen. Bailey declared on the senate floor that some citizens "under the color of law and claiming their legal rights are doing more to delay and destroy the defense of this republic than all the dictators of foreign nations."

Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel [D., Tex.] said during the neutrality debate that the senate appeared ready to "look for coyotes in foreign fields while the skunks here at home destroy our liberty."

Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] termed the calling of the mine strike a "disgraceful" episode and called Lewis an "arrogant" labor leader.

Rep. Clare Hoffman [R., Mich.] in a statement told Mr. Roosevelt "to pipe down in his defiance of Hitler" if he "lacks either the ability or the courage to meet the challenge of Lewis."

Sowed the Wind, Says Hoffman.

"The President sowed the wind," said Hoffman, "and he is now, in the defense strikes, reaping the whirlwind. The President now finds himself at the mercy of the tyrants which he brought into being and established in power.

"Heretofore the President and the administration have surrendered to Lewis. What will they do this time? If the President follows his usual course, he will temporize, vacillate, and take no adequate decisive steps."

Diary of Slain Girl Reveals 122 Romances

Frederick Wheeler.

Farmington, Me., Oct. 28 [Special].—A torridly worded diary in which pretty Florence H. Buzzell, 20 years old, told of having had 122 romances was used by authorities today in collecting evidence against a wealthy cattle dealer accused of slaying her from a motive of jealousy.

The defendant, Frederick Wheeler, 48, married and the father of four children, pleaded not guilty this afternoon to a murder indictment secretly voted yesterday after a five months investigation of the girl's gunshot death last June 7. He was ordered held without bail for trial, the date of which was not set.

Altho contents of the diary were carefully guarded by investigators, it was reported to have named many local young men. Disclosure of the document's existence and the questioning by police of some of the youths named in it caused a stir in and around Farmington.

Three Years of Romance.

Miss Buzzell, a secretarial school student, was said to have filled several volumes with descriptions of her "progress in education and her experiences." The account of her love affairs, which covered a period of three years, was complete up to the time of her death, police said.

Wheeler, who was seized in Boston last night, was said to have financed the girl's schooling at a business college in Augusta, Me. Authorities reported that he became enraged when his protége failed to keep a date with him on the night before she died and went out with a younger man.

"Wheeler apparently was jealous because another man was wooing and winning the girl away from him," commented Henry Weaver, state police chief.

Wheeler was said to have admitted he spent considerable amounts on her—a figure of $5,000 was one sum mentioned. Investigators said she lived in an apartment while at school in Augusta and stayed at expensive hotels in other cities, that she drove her own car, on which Wheeler paid the insurance, and that she planned to enter Boston university this year under his sponsorship.

Notes Returned for Christmas.

Florence signed notes promising to repay the funds expended on her, police said, but these were signed back to her last Christmas.

The girl's body, pierced by a bullet fired from a revolver which lay at her side, was found last June 7 in a hay field near the farm home of her brother, John, near Chesterville. Wheeler visited at the home on the day of her death, police said.

The girl left the house while her brother was taking a nap and his wife went to a grocery. Wheeler contended he had not left the house during Mrs. Buzzell's absence but, according to Chief Weaver, there were indications that he had.

Some children who were playing in a field near the scene of the tragedy were reported to have told police of overhearing a quarrel between Florence and Wheeler, which led to violence.

When arrested in Boston, Wheeler said he had merely gone there on a weekly cattle buying trip, adding: "I'm perfectly willing to go back because I'm innocent of any crime."

His indictment came as a sensational climax to the long investigation of the slaying, which local authorities at first termed a suicide. Wheeler's brother, Clyde, is chief deputy sheriff of Franklin county. He went to Boston and brought the indicted man back here.

Lehman Joins Farley in Blast at La Guardia

New York, Oct. 28 [Special].—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman and James A. Farley, former chairman of the Democratic national committee, today denounced Mayor Fiorello La Guardia as grossly abusive and unfit to hold high public office.

"The mayor's tactics are . . . inexcusable in a high public official," said Gov. Lehman in serving notice he would "take no more abuse" from La Guardia. "New Yorkers are sick and tired of Mr. La Guardia's unbridled tongue."

The attack of the two political leaders came as the campaign of William F. O'Dwyer, Democratic candidate against the mayor's third term ambitions neared the election next Tuesday. It was touched off by La Guardia's outburst last night against a decision of the Court of Appeals, highest tribunal in the state, that no election may be held this year for state controler. The vacancy thus left by death will be filled by appointment of Gov. Lehman until Jan. 1, 1943.

Farley Rips into Little Flower.

Farley tore up a previously prepared radio address to assert that La Guardia had falsely accused Lehman of "fixing" the court, of which his brother, Irving Lehman, is chief justice. Indignant at La Guardia's having called the four time governor a "goniff," or thief, and a double crosser, Farley said the 7,000,000 citizens of New York City have reason to bow their heads in shame

The man they twice elected mayor, he said, "showed himself in his true colors as a cad and a slanderer. . . . The preservation of your own self-respect demands that you rebuke the cad, La Guardia, by voting for the gentleman, O'Dwyer."

Democrats regarded La Guardia's attack on the court as the best break they have had in a campaign in which party ranks are split wide open. They were incensed at President Roosevelt's party bolt to indorse La Guardia.

Sidetracked, Says Farley.

After what was taken as a reference to the Roosevelt indorsement, Farley said he believes the President realized the mayor does not have the stability of character, instincts of a gentleman, poise, or dignity required to hold a place in the cabinet. For these reasons Farley said he believes the President wishes to keep La Guardia away from Washington, where an episode such as the court outburst might cause disastrous results.

GANG'S OWN BOOKKEEPER NAMES MEN AND PLACES

Initials and Code Words Used on Corruption Roll.

The Tribune today publishes on its back page a photostatic copy of the secret records of the Guzik-Nitti-Humphreys-Vogel gambling syndicate, listing names, nicknames, and initials of persons to whom graft payments were made by the syndicate in the month of July this year.

The syndicate, its records show, has been paying some $300,000 a year to politicians, policemen, fixers, and public officials of Cook county and its country towns.

Payments in Cash.

The payments made monthly in cash—the example of which is printed in an adjoining column—comprise the graft demanded by these public officials, policemen, fixers, and politicians for protection afforded operation of dice games, punchboards, bookmaking, and slot machines which net the syndicate bosses millions of dollars a year.

Many of the names on the graft list are of villages and towns in Cook county where open gambling flourished in July and in which some one person or persons were paid protection money to permit the illegal operations of Capone's former henchmen.

Unprecedented Proof.

Never before has a newspaper been able to print such startling proof of political corruption. The bookkeeper for the syndicate put his financial data on the income and outgo for the month of July on six sheets. Photostatic copies of all of them have now been published by The Tribune.

In more than one instance The Tribune has established independently that transactions were made as recorded on the ledger sheets. Its reporters who have investigated the graft payments repeatedly have been told the full names of some of the persons whose nicknames or initials appear on the graft list.

Deny Taking Bribes.

These persons have denied taking bribes and have insisted that their names or nicknames either were used to cover up the real bribe takers or that the appearance of their names on the bribe list is a mere coincidence.

In order that the full power of the law may be brought to bear on the gamblers and the grafters, The Tribune today will turn over to State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney the original of the syndicate's financial records, together with the collateral information which this paper has gathered.

State's Attorney Courtney said last night that he would make every effort to punish the gamblers and establish the identity and punish the bribe takers.

Open Up Investigation.

After examining the photostatic copies of the ledger sheets last night Mr. Courtney said:

"I am eager to see the original sheets. A study of them may open up entirely new lines for us in an investigation which Capt. Dan Gilbert and I have been making. Every bit of evidence offered will be investigated in the hope that the evil rule of the Guzik-Nitti gang may be broken. I have fought syndicate gambling and the gang leaders thruout my tenure in the state's attorney's office. I'm going to keep on fighting these gangsters. These papers may prove of great help."

Examination of Sheet No. 6—the graft sheet titled by the bookkeeper "kick outs"—discloses the following:

An individual designated as O'G was marked down as having been paid $5,500 in July.

"Tub" Listed at $4,000.

Another referred to as "Tub" did something for which the syndicate listed him as getting $4,000.

Baire stands for some one the gamblers believe helped protect them in the county. He is listed as having been paid $2,500.

Protection in Lincolnwood was given by persons not designated. The gang indicates by the entries that it considered the protection worth $1,100 a month.

In making up the payoff list, the syndicate bookkeeper made notations indicating protection was paid for in public offices.

There is an entry Liq. Com.—175, indicating that the bookkeeper was told that some one who could get favors from state liquor law enforcement agencies was worth $175 a month to the syndicate.

The word Laird is written in at the top of the column on the "kicks outs" sheet. The word had been scratched off another sheet listing merchandise purchases by the syndicate. It was apparently written in on this "kicks outs" sheet after the bookkeeper had completed the page.

Deposed Police Head.

Laird is the name of the deposed head of the county highway police. He denied when he was fired by Sheriff O'Brien last August that he had ever taken a penny of graft money. Laird was in charge of highway police during the month of July. He first resigned and then later was let out by Sheriff O'Brien after the publication of a photograph in THE TRIBUNE of Laird dining with William Skidmore, reputed fixer of gambling in Chicago. The word Skid appears on the list with 2,500 entered after it.

The syndicate bookkeeper in several instances noted two payments against the same name, with an X appended to some entries.

Persons familiar with syndicate methods say that the X denotes "extra expense." In some instances, it is believed, this was for transportation and storage costs incident to putting in and taking out slot machines. Sometimes it was in response to special demands made by village officials, politicos, or policemen. Sometimes it was for court costs after a fake raid had been pulled, and sometimes it was for tickets for benefit dances.

Nine Months of Free Operations.

It is gangland's habit to pay the grafters monthly, but the graft payment to officials and policemen is known to be figured on an annual basis. Certain county or local officials agree that the gamblers will have nine months of noninterference with their illegal operations out of the calendar year. During the year there are periods when raids must be made and the slot machines closed down. These periods, according to the agreement between the sellers and buyers of protection, must not comprise more than three months of the year.

Altho the six ledger sheets which THE TRIBUNE has published indicate the syndicate has a gross income of $3,875,000 a year and net income of $2,660,000, it is by no means certain, of course, that their figures cover all the gang operations in Cook county.

Three Sources of Income.

Three sources of income have been shown in the records printed by THE TRIBUNE. They are receipts from the wholly owned slot machines, from subordinate gangs operating in the county, and from the operations of big gambling houses.

Sheet No. 1 of the records showed that 12 collectors for the gang brought to headquarters in July a total of $99,235. This would represent the normal take of less than 1,000 slot machines. Many more are said to be operating in the county areas.

This fact, coupled with the indentification [by tavernkeepers] of the collectors' names given on sheet No. 1 as those of syndicate men working in the northwest side of the county, leaves a suspicion that part of the west and southern suburban territories' receipts were not included in the bookkeeper's reports.

Pay 25 Per Cent of Profits.

Sheet No. 2, which was reproduced in THE TRIBUNE last Sunday, showed how smaller gambling gangs operating in the county outside of Chicago were paying 25 per cent of their profits to the Guzik syndicate. Sheet No. 3, which was printed on Monday morning, disclosed the details of the $139,000 a month net profit which rolled in from the syndicate's gambling houses. Yesterday's publication of ledger sheets No. 4 and No. 5 bared the merchandise purchases of the gang during the month and a recapitulation of the gang's profit and loss and split.

In addition to the gambling operations in the county outside of Chicago, the gang is deeply entrenched in juke box operations and bookmaking in Chicago. Its income runs high in the millions. It has thousands of employés. It is big business.

The head men are Jack Guzik, Frank Nitti, Murray Humphreys, and Edward Vogel, all of whom were tutored in gang practices under the old master, Al Capone. All except Vogel, who is the slot machine executive, have served, as Capone did, terms in prison for income tax evasion.

Mrs. Seidel's attorney, Theodore Nowicki, told the court that Mrs. Seidel and the children were about to be evicted from her apartment because she was unable to pay rent.

Seidel was ordered to the county jail Oct. 3 after Mrs. Seidel said she feared he would leave the court's jurisdiction. He was released Oct. 21 after he posted a $1,000 ne exeat bond. The Seidels were married in 1935, and they separated Sept. 16.

ALLMAN ORDERS HIS CAPTAINS TO HALT GAMBLING

Lights Dimmed in Cicero Resorts of Gang.

Police Commissioner Allman yesterday laid down the law to his district commanders who, he said, had allowed gambling to open up during the last 10 days.

At the same time Police Chief Fleming of Sheriff O'Brien's county highway force was in personal charge of squads assigned to Cicero to end the reign of the Guzik gang which grew from the old Capone and Nitti gangs of panders, bootleggers, crooked gamblers, and outright criminals.

Allman addressed 50 district captains and six supervising captains at the central police station. The meeting had been called to discuss traffic conditions and was addressed by Ald. George Kells. Then Commissioner Allman ordered all persons excluded except police captains.

Says He's Still Boss.

"I don't know who you think you are taking orders from, but I want you to know I'm still boss of this department," Allman declared in a tone that suggested he was angry.

"You weren't taking orders from me when you allowed gambling to be resumed. In the last few months I had occasion to suspend a few captains for 30 days because they didn't follow my orders.

"In the future, the captains who disobey orders are going to be taken before the trial board. You have plenty of time to carry out my orders.

"Get back to your districts and see that you do what you have been told to do. You'll take orders from no one but me."

Lights Dim in Cicero.

Last night the lights were dim in the gambling houses of Cicero.

At the Town club, 2131 Cicero avenue, there wasn't even a 26 game to be seen. Upstairs, where the Capone founded Rock Gardens club operated for years, all was dark. Some rough looking gents told callers "We're closed."

At the Paddock club, 4833 Cermak road, an elegantly furnished room which has served as a casino at night and a horse gambling room in the afternoon was empty. The bartender was playing solitaire. At the Circle club, 5534 Cermak road, where in other days, 'tis said, a good poker game could be had, strollers last night saw only a nickel rhummy game.

However, in a raid on an alleged handbook at 2331 South 52d avenue the sheriff's police arrested Frank Monti, said to be the keeper, and three patrons. Nine other suspected handbooks were visited without results.

"We're putting the clamps on," said Lieut. Fred Hager of the sheriff's police department.

"Chief Fleming and I visited all the spots personally and we told them their day is done. The statement by Chicago Crime commission investigators that we staged a phony raid Saturday at the Town club is not true. We arrested seven persons there and they will be arraigned in court on Oct. 30."

[The crime commission observers said they were present when the raid was made and they were sent upstairs by the management and told to wait until the police left, when the betting would be resumed. It was, they said.]

BARBERS TO SEEK UNION SHOPS IN DOWNERS GROVE

An estimated 500 master and journeymen barbers of Du Page county will descend on nonunion Downers Grove barber shops today in an attempt to induce them to join the Master Barbers' association and local 851 of the Barbers' union.

Frank Aliotta, secretary-treasurer of the Master Barbers' association, said the union men will first inform the police that they do not intend to create a disturbance or stir up violence. Then the shop owners and employés will be asked to join. Where the unionists meet refusals, they will picket the shop peacefully, Aliotta said.

Du Page county barbers will take a holiday for the occasion. Aliotta said the drive is being made "in a spirit of coöperation, organization, and progress," and added that cut-price competition in Downers Grove probably would cause many barbers in that town to welcome the union movement.

NORTON RESIGNS AS SLEUTH FOR ELECTION BOARD

John Norton, once chief of detectives on the Chicago police force, announced yesterday that he is resigning Nov. 15 as chief investigator for the board of election commissioners. He has held the latter post since 1936 when, at the age of 63, he left the police department under the compulsory retirement law. Norton said he is resigning because of ill health. County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki and the election board have not yet decided on his successor. The investigation department has a force of 20.

344 IN ASSESSOR OFFICE SUE FOR 2 WEEKS' WAGES

The 344 employés in the office of John S. Clark, county assessor, yesterday filed a mandamus petition in Superior court to compel the county board and Michael Flynn, county clerk and controler, to pay them their salaries for the period Sept. 1 to 15, totaling $29,066.

The suit, filed by Attorney James W. Breen, asserts the employés worked during the two weeks, but that Flynn refused to approve the pay roll. Employés in all other county offices received no pay for two weeks this year, in accordance with the county board's budget balancing ruling of last January.

The board held up the checks of Clark's employés, contending that Clark failed to dock them as other workers were docked. Clark objected to the payless pay day plan, and insisted his office made up for the proposed cut by hiring less additional help at peak periods and by reducing the amount of overtime worked by regular employés.

A MILLION TO ONE CHANCE SAVES LIFE OF FALLING PAINTER

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—Charles Kirchemann, 46 years old, cashed in on a million to one bet today and the payoff was his life.

Painting from a scaffold dangling 100 feet in the air from Williamsburg bridge, he stepped off into space. His blindly flailing arms closed around a pipe encasing bridge cables.

Then, as Kirchemann swayed in the wind by his fingertips, Electrician George Horst climbed down close and bound Kirchemann's wrists to the pipe. Police appeared and pulled him to safety with a rope.

BIOFF, CAUGHT IN A LIE, ADMITS GANGLAND LINK

Flustered by Cross-Quiz, Tells Chicago Past.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mathias F. Correa.

New York, Oct. 28.—Red faced and flustered, Union Leader Willie Bioff today admitted under cross-examination in the movie shakedown case that he had lied under oath on several occasions about his early career in Chicago.

Bioff's story about his shadowy past—wrung from him by United States Attorney Mathias F. Correa—linked him with the Al Capone gang and labor racketeers.

On trial before a jury in the court of Federal Judge John C. Knox, Bioff is the Hollywood representative of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employés. His co-defendant on charges of extorting more than half a million dollars from film company officials on threats of calling strikes, is George E. Browne, president of the IATSE and business agent of the Chicago stage hands' union.

Union Pals in Court.

Spectators jamming the courtroom, many of them members of the Bioff-Browne union, leaned forward and listened in breathless silence while the pudgy, scar-faced defendant reluctantly answered the prosecutor's stinging questions.

Bioff admitted that after his conviction for pandering in Chicago in 1922 he worked for Mike Galvin, racketeering boss of the teamsters local union, who was killed in a gangland assassination in 1936, and Philip D'Andrea, Capone gunman.

The latter was believed to be the same D'Andrea who was arrested when a pistol was found in his briefcase in federal court during Al Capone's income tax evasion trial several years ago.

Calls Self Messenger Boy.

Before Correa started on him, Bioff had enjoyed nearly two days of direct examination at the hands of his counsel. He had wound up a rambling, entertaining story of how he had actually received "over a million dollars" from the film executives but was only acting as a messenger boy and didn't pocket a cent.

The money, according to Bioff's version, all went to his intimate friend, Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of the board of 20th Century-Fox Film corporation, who needed it for a slush fund for the movie industry's fight against adverse legislation. The nature of the legislation was not disclosed.

Browne knew nothing of the transactions, according to Bioff. This refuted testimony in the government's case that Browne had been on hand when several extortion payments were made, both in New York and Hollywood.

Arrest Blamed on Schenck.

When the smooth-flowing narrative ended, Correa arose and asked the defendant if at the time of his arrest in California in 1939, on a fugitive warrant to bring him back to Illinois to serve out his sentence for pandering, he had not blamed the action on Joe Schenck. Wage negotiations were under way in Hollywood at the time and Schenck represented the producers in the controversy.

"I did say that," admitted Bioff.

"Yet, after that time, you acted as a messenger and took cash to Joe Schenck?" inquired Correa.

Bioff mumbled that he had but he bore no ill feeling toward Schenck. Schenck was convicted of income tax evasion by Correa last spring and is under a three year sentence.

Then the prosecutor tangled up Bioff on conflicting stories of the men he had first worked for in Chicago when he got his start in the labor movement. Yesterday he related he first worked for Jerry Leahy, business agent on the teamsters local, and in a habeas corpus proceeding before Judge John Prystalski in the Cook county criminal court on March 6, 1940, he testified his boss was the notorious Mike Galvin, secretary-treasurer of the local.

"Wasn't the reason you didn't mention Galvin's name here because he was a notorious labor racketeer in Chicago?" thundered Correa.

A Prohibition Bartender.

Bioff finally, in a slowly worded answer, said he gave Galvin's name in Chicago because he had been a "prominent Democrat" and he wanted to impress some people; that it would help him in the case.

"Who did you want to impress, the judge?" asked Judge Knox.

"No, he was a big Democrat and I wanted to have my friends to know I knew him," said the defendant.

With the prosecutor prodding him further, Bioff said that altho Galvin had died in 1936 he still had friends in Chicago whom he thought it would be a good idea to impress.

Recalls Another Job.

Since his brief flurry as a bartender was the only job Bioff could remember, outside of working for Galvin as a driver from time to time, the United States attorney asked him if he had not worked as superintendent of a brickyard. Then the union leader recalled he had worked in the St. Joseph Valley brickyard at St. Joseph, Mich.

Philip D'Andrea was president of the brickyard and had hired Bioff, it developed. Bioff claimed he never knew D'Andrea had ever acted as a Capone bodyguard, but thought he had at one time operated a macaroni factory.

Bioff again admitted he had falsified his answers to an application for a $5,000 life insurance policy when he said he had worked in a brickyard for 10 years but claimed he did so because he needed to have an employment status to get the insurance for his wife.

Admits False Testimony.

Finally the defendant confessed he had testified falsely under oath before a legislative committee in California in 1937 when he said he had been a stagehand in Chicago for 14 years. He did it "for the benefit of some communists," Bioff cryptically explained. He indicated he was trying to confuse the legislators, whom he identified as the radicals.

Earlier Bioff testified of the great friendship which existed between him and such Hollywood figures as Harry Warner, president of Warner Brothers, and Joe Schenck.

He recalled visiting Warner on numerous occasions on his ranch in the San Fernando valley and presenting the film magnate with six rams which had heads suitable for mounting as museum pieces. On one visit, he said, Warner told Claudette Colbert, the screen star, that Bioff was a fine fellow and she should join his union.

Chip In to Aid Downey.

But the deep and abiding friendship was the one between the defendant and Schenck, according to his testimony. He and Schenck had chipped in $10,000 toward the campaign fund for Sen. Sheridan Downey, who defeated Sen. William Gibbs McAdoo in the 1938 primary, but Schenck had paid the entire contribution, according to Bioff.

Schenck regarded him so affectionately, Bioff recalled, that he [Schenck] bought more than $65,000 worth of stock [20th Century-Fox, Consolidated Oil, Continental Can and Hollywood Turf club] for him in 1937, Bioff realized about $1,500 on the profits from the stock transactions.

Bits of correspondence between Schenck, Bioff and the brokerage house of Mervin Ash and Company, Los Angeles, were introduced in evidence to show the defendant's memory was clear on the transactions.

According to Bioff he obtained 100 shares of Hollywood Turf club race track stock that had been earmarked for Claudette Colbert, the film star.

"Harry Warner, president of Warner Brothers Pictures, told me he was holding 100 shares for Claudette Colbert but would give it to me if I wouldn't say anything about it," related the witness.

He took it and paid $10,000 for it, the sum being advanced to him by Joe Schenck.

Bioff had to close the stock deal in the fall of 1938 when Schenck told him government agents were bothering him about it in their income tax investigation. Schenck had originally lent Bioff $100,000 for the purchase of an alfalfa ranch, but later suggested the stock deal as a better way to make some money for his friend.

COUPLE TO MARK 63D ANNIVERSARY.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

The Tribune will pay $5 for each timely, interesting question submitted by a reader and used in this column.

The Question.

How long has it been since a man offered you his seat on a bus or street car?

Where asked.

The Answers.

Miss Marie Parker, clerk, 18107 Dixie highway—I'm sure it was more than 12 years ago. The occasion was nothing more than that he was a gentleman and I a lady. To be offered a seat is more unusual nowadays than for me to offer my seat to an older woman.

Mrs. W. F. Meyers, housewife, 8746 Dauphin avenue—The last time a gentleman offered me his seat was when I had my baby son in my arms. A few other women were standing also, but when he saw the baby he relinquished his seat. I am almost ashamed to say that "baby" celebrated his 19th birthday not so long ago.

Miss Gretchen Pellum, clerk, 1824 East 73d street—It was last Christmas when I had two arms full of bundles. There were more women on the car with just as many packages and so I didn't feel flattered, but only lucky that I happened to be standing beside the gentleman who stood so I might sit down.

Miss Nina Peters, typist, 18357 Klimm avenue, Homewood—It's a rare event, but it happened yesterday. He was seated beside my girl friend and it might have been a little annoying to him to overhear our conversation. Anyway, I think it was very considerate of him. Most men would have done the same thing.

Miss Ruth Koch, clerk, 7239 South Artesian avenue—Why, I always have a seat! This morning on my way to work I was offered a seat and the day before and the day before that. It seems I have no trouble and hardly ever have to stand in a bus or train very long. Why do you ask?

Mrs. George Kalleres, housewife, 535 McKinley avenue—I'll admit those are occasions to be remembered. The last time was a month ago. A young man who looked like he'd spent a long, hard day in the office offered me his seat. I really think it was an act of politeness.

COURT TO ASK MRS. ORTON FOR SOME ANSWERS

Attorney's Quiz Ignored by Divorce Defendant.

Mrs. Annabelle Adams Orton, 35 years old, may have been indiscreet with gentlemen other than her husband, wealthy Philo A. Orton, 68, but her alleged indiscretions were conducted in such a secretive and ladylike a manner that she cannot object to answering questions about them, Orton's attorney argued yesterday before Judge Cornelius J. Harrington.

Mrs. Orton is being sued for divorce on the charge that she was guilty of misconduct with an alphabetical brigade consisting of a Mr. R., termed a wealthy New York manufacturer, Mr. F., Mr. P., and "several other men whose names are unknown."

Safe from Prosecution.

Orton's attorney, Daniel Covelli, in taking depositions recently asked her 90 pages of questions, many of which she refused to answer on the ground that she might incriminate herself. Covelli then filed a motion asking the court to order her to answer. Yesterday's hearing was on this motion.

"She never could be prosecuted for adultery under Illinois statutes," said Covelli, "because the statutes state that 'one must be living in an open and notorious state of adultery.'

"Mrs. Orton was always secretive in her relations with Mr. R. She always locked the doors after Orton left home for work. That secretiveness could not be construed as 'open and notorious.' Thus she could not incriminate herself by answering the questions. Orton's divorce bill simply charges acts of misconduct over a period of time with a number of men.

Only the Man Liable.

"Nor could she fear prosecution under the Mann [federal] act. Mr. R. is the only one liable to prosecution under that law."

Mrs. Orton's attorney, Harold Keele, interrupted: "The bill charges 'open and notorious' misconduct by inference."

"She is guilty or she wouldn't refuse to answer," countered Covelli. "Or else she is shielding Mr. R."

Judge Harrington closed the hearing by ordering Attorney Keele to bring Mrs. Orton to court today, when he will ask a few questions. Then, the judge indicated, he will decide whether Mrs. Orton must answer Covelli's 90 pages of queries.

Nature at Play

A picture of what shopper got when she asked for sweet potatoes.

Mrs. Viola Archer, 4838 Vincennes avenue, went shopping yesterday for sweet potatoes—and she got a duck. She didn't notice it until she returned home and prepared to bake the potatoes. There, in the potato bag, was something that didn't look at all like a sweet potato. It looked like a miniature duck, with tail, neck, and head and markings resembling eyes. It was only a freak sweet potato.

JUDGE SCANLAN MAKES PLEA FOR SITTING JUDGES

Denies They're Controled by Any One.

Judge Kickham Scanlan of the Appellate court, one of the Republicans on the Democratic coalition ticket in the famous 1921 election, yesterday came to the defense of the sitting judges on the current Democratic Superior court ticket, and compared their position with that of incumbent jurists 20 years ago.

"In 1921 the then dominant city hall machine, mad with power, determined to drive practically all of the sitting judges from the bench," Judge Scanlan said. "The Democrats countered by naming all Democratic judges, plus those Republicans who had been left off the city hall ticket. The entire Democratic ticket was overwhelmingly elected.

Judge Scanlan declared that this year the Republicans again are trying to drive from the bench sitting judges—Democrats and Republicans alike.

Declares Charge Is Absurd.

"The present Republican leaders," the judge continued, "seek to justify their amazing position by the absurd claim that judges of the Superior court are controled.

"To show the mendacity of the charge, let us take five of the judges who have served on the bench for from 25 to 34 years—Judges William M. McSurely, Michael L. McKinley, John M. O'Connor, Oscar Hebel, and John P. McGoorty. If these judges have not demonstrated their honesty and independence, then long years of faithful judicial service count for nothing. It matters not who he be, the man who states to the people of this county that such judges are controled by any one, lies in his teeth."

On the other side of the campaign, Ronald N. Brown, one of the G. O. P. candidates, took after State Senator Harold G. Ward, Mayor Kelly's legislative spokesman and a member of the Democratic ticket.

Cites City Tax Rate.

"The mayor's political appointee is running on a tax issue of the state legislature," Brown said of Ward. "If he wants a tax issue for a judge of Cook county, why not take Boss Kelly's own tax problem?

"He and his boss ruled associates are running here in Cook county, where Ed and Pat [Nash] are, and have been for 10 years, in absolute control. And right here in Chicago the tax rate last year was $9.52, the highest in Chicago's history and the second highest in the country. Let's stop the tax gougers by beating the bosses on Nov. 4."

Attorney General George F. Barrett plugged for the G. O. P. ticket in a radio broadcast, recommending support of the candidates to "help restore to this community a guarantee that the three fundamental principles of Americanism—the two party system, a balance between the three branches of government, and majority rule—will be kept alive."

Seven of the Republican judicial candidates met yesterday in Passavant hospital at the bedside of Lionel G. Thorsness, candidate for chief justice of the Municipal court. Thorsness was injured last week in an automobile accident.

U. S. PRINTS 1,000 TAGS TO PIN ON AIR RAID VICTIMS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28 (AP).—One thousand identification tags, designed for use on wounded air-raid victims, have been printed for the Office of Civilian Defense by the government printing office. The cards carry spaces for the name and address of the victim and the person to be notified, the nature of the casualty, the treatment given, and whether morphine or a tourniquet was used.

The OCD, of which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is assistant director, confirmed the purpose of the tags, saying they were prepared as a suggested model for copying by local civilian defense councils in cities where bombing attacks might occur.

PLAN HEARINGS ON MOVING OF DOUGLAS TOMB

State Rep. Roland V. Libonati [D., 17th], chairman of a legislative committee to decide whether to remove the tomb of Stephen A. Douglas from its present site at 35th street and the Illinois Central tracks, said yesterday that public hearings will be held before the monument next month. Old timers who knew Lincoln and Douglas have been invited to attend and to relate anecdotes which will be read into the committee report.

PLAN TO GUARD POLLS TUESDAY ANNOUNCED BY BUSINESS GROUP

Confirming earlier predictions, Henry Pope Jr., chairman of the Business Men's committee, yesterday announced that his organization of volunteer poll workers will man precincts again at next Tuesday's judicial election to work against vote frauds. Pope and other leaders of his committee conferred with Gov. Dwight Green on the matter last week.

"Judicial elections, are usually a field day for vote fraud thieves, with the 'floater' and 'short pencil artist' quite active," Pope said. "Civic organizations do what they can, but they need the active coöperation of the electorate.

"The coöperation is best extended by the voter getting to the polls early and casting his ballot. If the voter does this early in the morning, it's a dead certainty some one else can't do it for him late in the afternoon."

Pope's organization had more than 4,000 business men active in 800 precincts last November in the 16 so-called river wards where fraud has been most prevalent in the past. The presence of the watchers was given considerable credit for the more than 50 per cent increase in the Republican vote in those areas.

WOMAN BELIEVES 3 STRANGERS AND LOSES A $750 RING

Mrs. Eva Wolf met three strangers in rapid succession near her home at 841 Belleplaine avenue yesterday. No. 1 said he was a European refugee who had seven diamonds to sell. No. 2 said he was a dentist, and when he learned about the diamonds he offered to buy them. No. 3 said he was a jeweler and pronounced the diamonds worth $1,200 each.

The dentist found he hadn't enough money with him to buy the diamonds, and suggested that Mrs. Wolf keep them until he could get cash. He gave his watch to the refugee for security. Mrs. Wolf was persuaded to give the $750 diamond ring she was wearing to show good faith until the transaction was completed. The men left and didn't return. Another jeweler looked at the glistening sets and said they were glass.

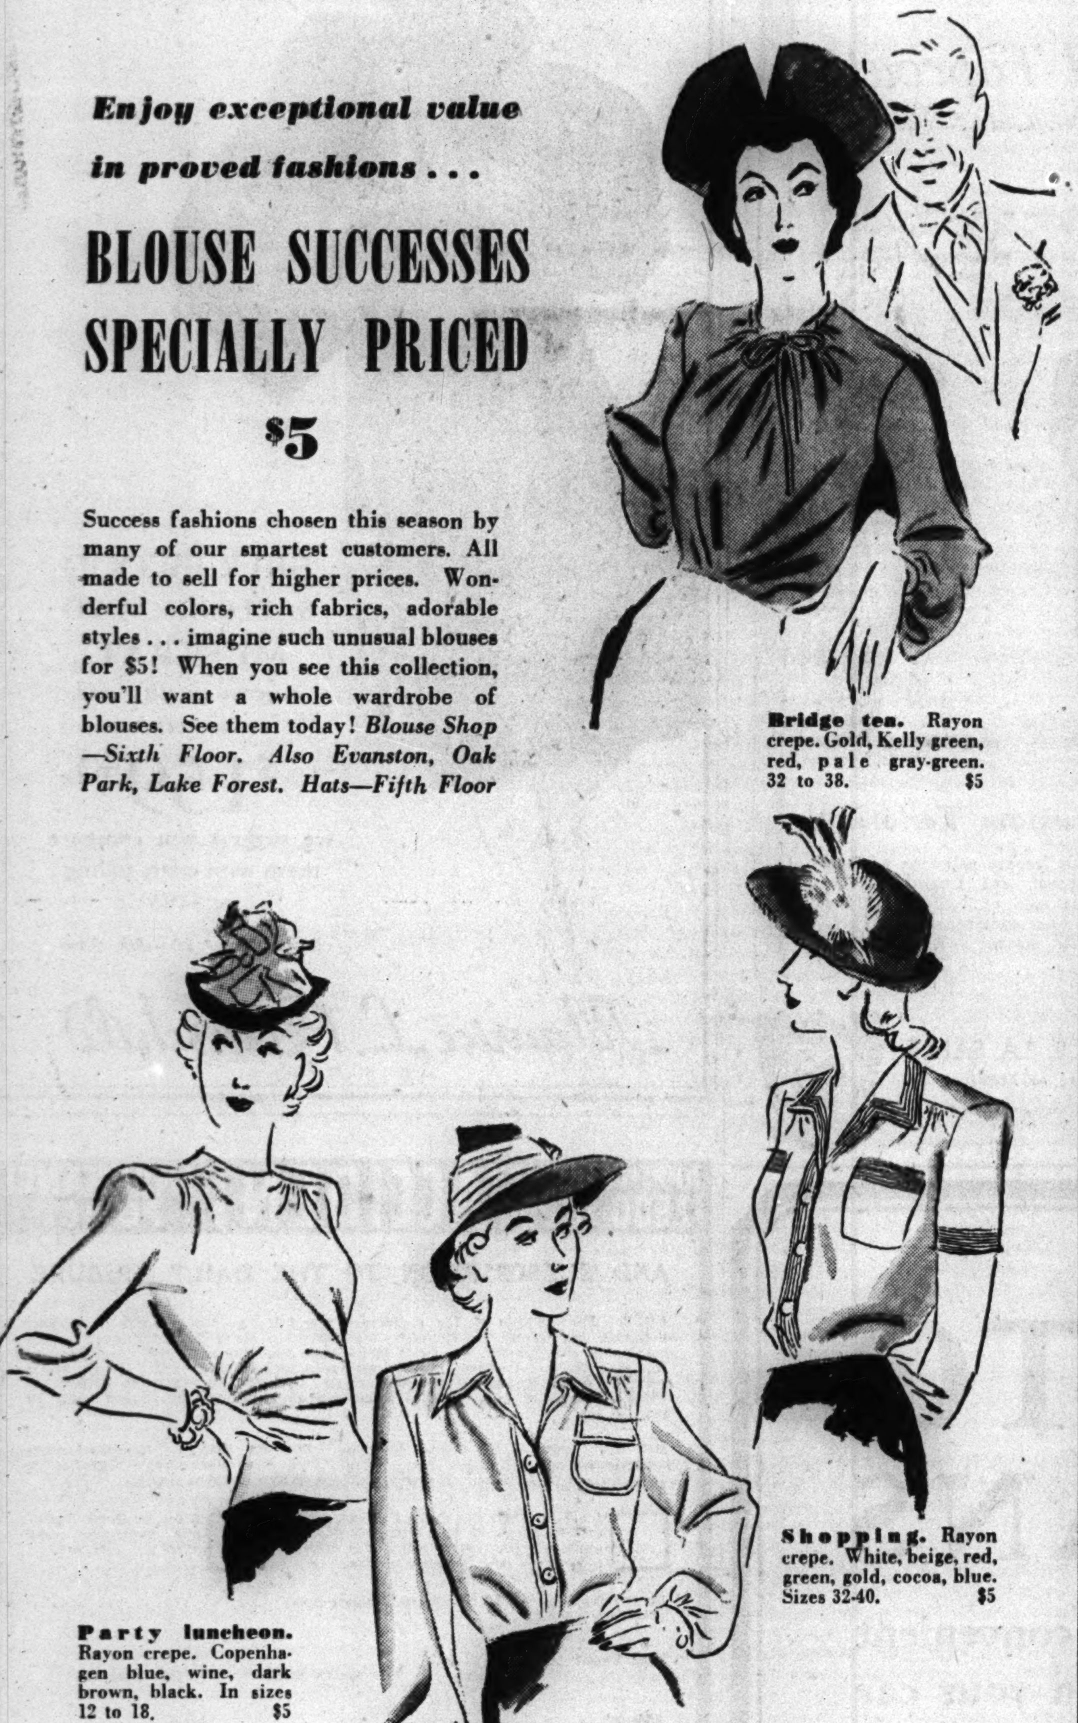
Three men believed to be the same swindlers persuaded Mrs. Sarah Levine of 5125 Harper avenue to give them $200 with the same story. She is 70 years old.

FETE REPUBLICAN JUDGESHIP SLATE AT A TEA TODAY

More than 350 women are expected to attend a reception and tea for Republican judicial candidates this afternoon from 2 to 4 p. m. in the Chicago Towers club. The tea will be given by the Women's National Republican Club of Chicago.

In order of their arrival, the candidates in the Nov. 4 election will be introduced by Mrs. Bertha Baur, Republican national committeewoman from Illinois. Entertainment will be provided by Lola Fletcher, opera singer and former member of the Chicago Civic Opera company. She will be accompanied by Miss Betty Hanson, pianist.

Mrs. George Weichelt, club secretary, is reception chairman.



An amount will be added to quoted prices of all our merchandise to cover additional expense due to the Illinois Retailers' Occupation Tax.

NASTY POSTCARD SALVOS SHOWER ON FOES OF WAR

Messages Bear Stamp of Propaganda Groups.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—The sudden increase in the number of offensively worded post cards and letters being directed at members of congress and others who are striving to keep the United States at peace has been recognized as one of the not so subtle forms of organized British propaganda, it was learned today.

Altho they comprise only a small fraction of the total mail received by the anti-war members of congress, a survey disclosed, almost every sack brought into the office buildings contains some of the objectionable material.

Crank letters are not new in Washington; all officials receive them and long since have learned to accept them as one of the unpleasant features of public life. However, the perceptible increase coming at this time when the administration is striving to secure repeal of the neutrality act and the striking similarity between the various messages were the factors which betrayed the most recent ones as propaganda.

Unpleasant Accusations.

The bulk have been found to come from New York City or its environs, recognized as a British propaganda center second only to Washington itself.

The favorite theme of this mail, of course, is the charge that the recipient is a Nazi or in league with Hitler and to accuse him of desiring to become the American Fuehrer, altho records show that the noninterventionists were among the first to denounce Hitler and his policies.

"I was making speeches in the senate against Hitler when Lord Halifax [now British ambassador to the United States] was over in the Black Forest shooting wild boar with Goering," Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], a leader in the fight to keep America out of war, declared recently.

Wheeler Target of Messages.

In a card delivered at his office today, Wheeler was accused of "stabbing President Roosevelt in the back" and told he is "giving aid and comfort to Hitler and Mussolini."

"You are going to vote against the bill because Hitler, an Austrian exconvict wants you to," declared another message. The reference evidently was to the administration's pending measure for repeal of the neutrality act.

"I never saw such lies and deceits as you have been guilty of," declared another message.

Other senators, including Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] and Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] said they have shared in the abuse via the mails. Representatives who have been in the forefront of the nation's effort to keep out of war, also have received some of the letters and cards.

Similar communications have been received at America First headquarters here addressed to Charles A. Lindbergh, Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman of the organization, and other America First officials.

One card, signed "Von R." read: "The Fuehrer regrets he cannot promise you gauleitership of the entire country. This has been promised to Herr Lindbergh. However, you and Sen. Wheeler and Sen. Nye will be in charge of the western provinces extending as far east as the Mississippi provided you continue to prove your continued allegiance. Heil Hitler."

Some of the notes are not printable. The language ranges from the violent threats and bitter invectives of war mongering fanatics to various insulting accusations. The writers, careful to guard against being traced and prosecuted for violation of the postal laws use the common penny post card or plain, cheap stationery.

Names Not Signed.

Almost without exception, these letters and cards are unsigned, in contrast with the ordinary type of messages in which the writers are careful to make known their identities as voters to add weight to their arguments on the various matters before congress. The majority of the recent wave of propaganda postcards are typewritten. The members noted that it is indeed strange in most cases for persons to be able to afford only a penny postcard and yet have the luxury of a typewriter.

ABUSE IS GAINING HERE

America First officials in Chicago said that there has been a steady increase in abusive mail during the last month. Richard A. Moore, national publicity director, reported 50 per cent of this mail is in postcard form, the other half letters, and most of it is anonymous or signed with fictitious names.

"As the American people become more convinced that they want no part of the European war," said R. Douglas Stuart Jr., national director of America First, "the propaganda technique, not only of the British, but of our own official warhawks becomes more desperate and ridiculous. It is the same technique as trying to frighten the American people with secret documents when facts and reason do not support your arguments."

Samples of Messages.

Among the favorite messages of the card writers, Moore said, are "Nazi rats," "skunks," "traitors," favorite forms of address are "Herr Lindbergh and Herr Wood," and the favorite signature is "A Hitler." Other greetings run like this, "Go back to Germany where you belong;" "You're doing good work and we bund members never forget. We win war. Then you get good chob;" "You should get what you're asking for by going to a concentration camp;" "You'll be a hot shot when Hitler takes over, suppose you'll get Illinois."

Two messages sent lately to Charles A. Lindbergh read: "You stink as your father did. . . . What can you expect from an illiterate mechanic, you louse, you copperhead, you Benedict Arnold;" and "Too bad your airplane didn't fall into the ocean."

"While this type mail has increased," said Moore, "our other mail has increased accordingly. While we could prosecute those few who sign their names, we take no notice of the attacks as we believe it shows that the committee's work is effective."

Northwestern University Scholars Elected to Phi Beta Kappa

14 Women; 11 Men

For the first time in several years Northwestern's co-eds have outnumbered their male classmates in elections to Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary society. Fourteen women have been named, it was announced yesterday, to 11 men. Sixteen of those honored are from Chicagoland. They include:

Mrs. Jean Bundy Boggs, 7758 Eastlake terrace; Seymour Fox, 4449 Hamlin avenue; Helen McCullough, 5833 West Circle street; Walter Phares, 1618 Columbia avenue; Catherine Putnick, 4249 Mozart avenue; Ada Shaw, 5241 Kenmore avenue; Jack P. White, 6115 Winthrop avenue; Frank Wright, 1700 North New England avenue; Anne Catherine Zimmer, 2330 Estes avenue; Elizabeth Cobb, 777 Prospect avenue, Winnetka; Phyllis Ford, 1319 Cobb boulevard, Kankakee; Dorothy Kell, 448 Harrison street, Gary, Ind.; Lorna MacCallum, 1014 North Humphrey avenue, and Elizabeth Nightingale, 1125 Schneider avenue, both of Oak Park; Randolph McCandlish, 1530 Washington avenue, Wilmette, and Herbert Steinberger, 2222 Maple avenue, Evanston.

Included among the out-of-town winners is Gordon Langlois, Salt Lake City, Utah, who for the last two years has held a Chicago Tribune scholarship. He is employed as a guide by THE TRIBUNE, and is a former editor in chief of the Syllabus, campus yearbook, which received top honors in a recent national competition. Langlois is a chemistry major.

5 FLYERS DIE AS ARMY TRAINING PLANE CRASHES

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 28 (AP).—Five Kelly field flyers, three of them cadets, were killed today in the crash of their attack trainer in an inaccessible spot on the eastern New Mexico plains during a training flight.

Col. Frank Hackett, commander of the army air base here, said the dead were: Second Lieut. W. H. Carpenter, 28 years old, Rothville, Mo.; Second Lieut. G. W. Jones, 22, Hastings, Neb., and Cadets E. B. La Roach and K. C. Manchee of Dallas, Tex., and M. Marantz of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Two Die in Cotton Field.

Tulare, Cal., Oct. 28 (AP).—Second Lieut. John I. Lothrop, 26, Santa Monica, and Aviation Cadet Lawrence E. Riggs, 21, Rupert, Idaho, were killed today in an army airplane crash in a cotton field near Woodville. The plane burned while some 50 cotton pickers looked on. Ted Hopkins received burns trying to extricate the bodies.

PUBLIC CAN NOT VIEW NAZI MAP, PRESIDENT SAYS

Might Disclose Source, He Asserts.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—President Roosevelt declined today to make public the Nazi map of South and Central America which he said in his speech last night he has in his possession and which, he said, shows Hitler's prospective division of Latin America into five vassal states, including Panama and the Panama canal.

The President also refused to submit to inspection another reputed Nazi document he mentioned in his speech—a document which he said established Hitler's plan to abolish all existing religions if he achieves domination of the world and to substitute therefor an international Nazi church with Hitler's "Mein Kampf" replacing the Bible.

Sayr Symbols Disclose Source.

At his press conference the President said his reason for declining to make the documents public is that they bear certain symbols and notations which would disclose the source from which they were obtained and might embarrass certain persons and dry up the source of this and other information concerning the doings of the Nazis. Asked whether the notations were in German he did not answer.

When the President's attention was called to Berlin's vituperative comment on his speech and pronouncement of the map as a fake and forgery Mr. Roosevelt bubbled over with merriment. He said perusal of the language employed by the Nazis would extend the range of anybody's vocabulary.

As to the charge that the map is a fake he recalled that the Berlin government had charged him with torpedoing the Kearny. Then, becoming serious, he stated emphatically that both the map and the religious document came from a source of undoubted reliability.

Similar to Published Plan.

In response to another question, the President said he did not know whether the religious document is the same as that published by the Christian Science Monitor on Oct. 22. Examination of the published document reveals that it contains all the details mentioned by the President. The Monitor said that it is a proposal by Alfred Rosenberg, one of the chief theory makers of the Nazi party, but that there is no evidence of its official adoption. The Rosenberg plan, said the Monitor, had "become available to neutral sources in Europe."

Asked whether he had disclosed the map to Latin American governments he replied in the negative, explaining that such disclosure could be made only in the utmost confidence in order to protect the source of the information.

It was upon the inclusion of the Panama canal in the Nazi territory on the map that the President relied for substantiation of his charge that Hitler aims at the conquest of the United States after subduing Europe. His reference to the religious document was widely viewed as one calculated to rouse the churches to support of war on Hitler and to counteract church criticism of his recent statement that there is the same freedom of worship in Russia as in the United States.

Taft Assails War Move.

The anti-interventionists were unanimous in declaring that the speech proves conclusively that the President is bent upon getting the country into the war as a full fledged belligerent, without the constitutional sanction of congress.

"President Roosevelt," said Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., O.], "has now admitted publicly that he has tricked the American people. While talking of peace—even while senate leaders talk of amending the neutrality act as a measure of defense—President Roosevelt announces he has already done what he can to plunge the nation into a shooting war.'

Sen. David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], chairman of the senate committee on naval affairs, said that the President's speech "shocked and grieved millions of his fellow countrymen."

"Their fears and apprehensions," he went on, "are now confirmed."

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], isolationist leader, said that the President in his speech "indicates to me that he feels very clearly that we are in the war and ought to get in further."

Marriage Ends

PRINCESS BABA.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 28 [Special].—A final divorce decree today legally ended the fairy tale-like romance between Valerie Brooke [Princess Baba] Gregory and Robert Jack [Bob] Gregory, English born professional wrestler and athletic instructor.

The final decree was signed by Superior Judge William S. Baird at the request of Attorney Paul Sheedy, who represented Gregory when he won the interlocutory decree Oct. 24, 1940, on the ground of desertion.

Accoring to the testimony he gave at that time, Princess Baba, the daughter of Sir Charles Vyner Brooke, white rajah of Sarawak on the Island of Borneo in the East Indies, left him on May 30, 1939, without his consent and has since refused to return.

They were married, Gregory reminisced, amid the flashing of photographers' bulbs in London on Nov. 20, 1937, shortly after Sir Charles had cut off his daughter's allowance upon hearing of her engagement.

RAF BOMBERS BLAST ITALIAN TRAIN, STATION

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 28 (AP).—In a sweep over southern Italy yesterday the royal air force blew up a freight train near Cotrone and hit a railway station and bridge, an RAF communique said today.

Rome Admits British Raids.

ROME, Oct. 28 (AP).—British bombers killed three persons, wounded 12, and damaged several houses in a raid yesterday upon Bengazi, axis-held Libyan city, the Italian command said today.

Three persons were wounded and insignificant damage was caused in British raids on two harbors in extreme southern Italy, it announced. German planes struck at British military objectives in the besieged city of Tobruk, Libya, the high command said.

F. D. R. MAP DRAWN IN KOENIGSBURG, SAY ARGENTINES

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 28 (AP).—The map of a Nazified South America, to which President Roosevelt referred in his speech last night came from Koenigsburg, Germany, where "200 German geographers and map drawers work under the protection and orders of the Fuehrer," the newspaper Critica said tonight without disclosing the source of its information. Critica said the Nazi map would make Argentina and Uruguay "protectorates of Il Duce"; would give Germany all territories from Brazil north to the Panama canal, and would place Japan in control of Peru, Chile, and Paraguay.

F. D. R.'S SPEECH HAILED IN LONDON AS 'CLOSE TO WAR'

Expect U. S. Battleships in British Ports.

BY GUY MURCHIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 29 [Wednesday].—Nearly all this morning's London dailies record appreciation of President Roosevelt's Navy Day speech.

Minister of Supply Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express had C. V. R. Thompson, chief of its New York bureau, write an editorial on the significance of the President's declaration. Thompson says the Nazis are madder than ever at Roosevelt, not because he has "brought his nation to the brink of war," but because "he has beaten them at their own game."

The President's announcement concerning maps, Thompson declares, was "in all save one very important particular an example of perfect Nazi technique—the only difference is that his maps are genuine. Roosevelt will use those maps as a reason for America's full fledged entry into the war to crush Hitlerism."

Torpedoing Will Bring War.

The neutrality act, he predicts, will be repealed, after which American ships will sail into British ports and there is "no doubt that some of them will be torpedoed. From that moment it will just be a question of time and choice when America declares war on Germany."

Walter Karig, Washington correspondent for the Star, says the speech means that "England will see the American flag flying on American ships of war in British ports soon. They cannot get there without shooting their way across the sea, of course. Perhaps that isn't war, but it is close enough to serve practical purposes until a counterinvasion of the continent is possible. When that comes, the United States will participate, Roosevelt broadly implied.

Roosevelt's Timing Praised.

Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard says:

"Once more the President has chosen his time with great skill. In the last fortnight the axis has sought to execute a giant pincer movement on the United States. Japan rattled her saber. Germany launched her torpedoes. Hitler and Tojo were working together with isolationists to keep their swords in their scabbards. The plan has failed."

"Forgeries, Insults," Says Berlin.

BERLIN, Oct. 28 (AP).—Authorized spokesmen and the press attacked President Roosevelt today for his Navy day speech, which they said brought the United States closer to war and libeled German intentions.

The Hamburger Fremdenblatt said the speech was 'the last step to an undeclared shooting war against Germany and her allies."

The Hamburg paper called Roosevelt a "shirt-sleeved demagog" and said America was a land of poker playing "where one likes to do a lot of bluffing."

Authorized sources called the speech "a conglomeration of suspicions, insults, slanders, falsifications, and suppositions which could not by any stretch of the imagination be worse." They asked if the President "wants to drive his people into war at any cost."

F. D. R.'s Map Called Forgery.

The "secret map" which Roosevelt said had come into his possession showing Germany's plans with regard to South America was described as "a complete swindle and forgery."

The document showing German plans to abolish religion had been known to the German government since early October when the British air force dropped it from the skies, the sources asserted. It was a forgery from beginning to end, they said.

Echoed in South America.

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 28 (AP).—President Roosevelt's description of mapped axis plans to enslave this entire continent and Panama prompted an approving echo in South America.

"Excellent!" exclaimed the Brazilian undersecretary of foreign relations.

Juan Antonio Solari, acting chairman of Argentina's committee investigating subversive activities, interpreted the speech as confirmation of the United States' determination to "eliminate the threat of Nazi Fascism."

The Argentine foreign ministry said the situation was "too delicate" to permit comment. Equally reticent were official sources in Uruguay, Paraguay, Chile, Bolivia, and Peru.

Rome Depicts F. D. R. as Clown.

ROME, Oct. 28 (AP).—A placard depicting President Roosevelt as a clown was carried in a demonstration in Rome today commemorating the Fascist march on Rome while Fascist political circles accused him of lying to get the United States into war.

MUSSOLINI'S ON HIS BALCONY AGAIN; SAYS WE'LL DIE WITH RUSSIA

ROME, Oct. 28 (AP).—Premier Mussolini told a blackshirted Fascist throng tonight that "the shady European and American allies" of bolshevism would perish with the Russian system.

His speech was the climax of the celebration of the 19th anniversary of the Blackshirts' march on Rome. Thousands gathered below his balcony overlooking the Piazza Venezia took his remarks as a prediction that the United States and Britain would go down with Russia.

"Notwithstanding all coalitions we will smash every obstacle," he told the crowd. "Struck to the heart, bolshevism, against which we began the first battles 20 years ago, is dying."

The crowd called: "Duce! Duce! Duce!"

INDIAN MOSLEMS QUIT ASSEMBLY OVER WAR POLICY

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 28 [Delayed] (AP).—The Moslem party walked out of the central legislative assembly today in a demonstration for a stronger Indian war effort.

Mohammed Ali Jinnah, party leader, said it was an effort to "open the eyes of the blind and the ears of the deaf." India is in real war danger, he said, criticizing the way the government was meeting the situation and the manner in which the viceroy's defense council was formed.

"We should be co-sharers in facing the danger," he said.

REDS BAN FLIGHT OF BRITISH CHIEF OVER IRAN AREA

Propaganda Official Is on Way to Moscow.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TEHERAN, Iran [Persia], Oct. 28.—Sir Walter Monckton, British press chief, who has been waiting here two weeks for a Russian plane to carry him to Kuibyshev, the new seat of the Red government, is expected to depart shortly. A Russian military plane en route to pick up Monckton was scheduled to arrive today.

Monckton came from London in a British military plane, but the Reds refused to allow him to fly over their territory, according to the British legation. They said it was contrary to their policy to permit a foreign plane to fly over a military area.

The Russian attitude surprised British circles inasmuch as Monckton is going to Russia to try to coordinate British and Russian propaganda and to study the Russian methods.

Some neutral diplomats expect the Iranian government to sign an alliance with the British and Russians shortly in the face of continued pressure, altho there are other reports that the Iranians are preparing counter proposals.

Diplomatic circles believe that the Iranians prefer to be forced to sign, since that would give them an out if the Germans ever reach here. It is pointed out that this country requires sugar, grain, and other imports from India in order to feed and clothe the population.

U. S. MARINE SHOT BY JAP; EMBASSY MAKES A PROTEST

PEKING, China, Oct. 29 [Wednesday (AP).—The United States embassy today charged that the wounding of an American marine on sentry duty at the embassy early yesterday was the work of a Japanese and a strong protest was presented Japanese authorities here.

The protest, handed to the Japanese by Richard P. Butrick, counselor of the embassy, requested that prompt and effective measures be taken to apprehend the assailant.

The marine sustained flesh wounds in the right foot when the gunman, dressed in civilian clothes, alighted from a jinrikisha at the main embassy gate and fired four times. The American returned the fire but the attacker escaped in the darkness.

British Troops in Lonely Outposts Beg for Pianos

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 28.—British troops stationed in lonely outposts have sent an appeal to the army comforts depot for pianos so that they can stage "sing-songs" to while away the tedium of long winter nights. The depot has appealed to the public for pianos which now, presumably, will rival war materials for priority shipments to Iceland.

Adopts Baby Boy

Mrs. Eloise O'Brien in Judge Jarecki's chambers yesterday for adoption proceedings.

Mrs. Eloise O'Brien and her husband, Pat O'Brien, the movie actor, yesterday adopted a son, 2 months old, in the court of County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki. Mrs. O'Brien told the court that her husband is working on a motion picture and was unable to be present. She left last night by train for her home in Los Angeles, Cal., with the adopted son, named Terrence Kevin O'Brien. The boy was obtained from the Cradle in Evanston, from which the O'Briens previously adopted two other children, Mavourneen, now 7, and Pat Sean, 5. Mrs. O'Brien was accompanied to the court by Ralph E. Batten, attorney for the Cradle, and two detectives.

No. 1 Pro-War Spokesman Cries Defiance.

American boys in 50 American planes to bomb Tokio into a shambles, what were you advocating?" asked Taft. "I may be mistaken but that sounds like war to me."

"I was just advocating that some Americans volunteer for service with the Chinese," replied Pepper. He added that Taft was a "yes, but" senator. This phrase was originated by President Roosevelt who frequently uses it to describe persons who pretend to agree with him and then offer objections.

"I'd rather be a 'yes, but' senator than a 'yes, yes' senator," retorted Taft.

Reviews History of Act.

The Ohio senator's discussion of neutrality act repeal was a tempered and mannerly representation of the history of neutrality legislation. The inevitable conclusion to be drawn from the administration's course, he charged, was that passage of the resolution before the senate would be direct authority from congress to the President "to carry on an undeclared war against Germany, Italy and Japan, on all the oceans of the world, and in all ports into which seagoing ships may sail."

The proposed repeal of sections 2 and 3 of the neutrality law, he said, would mean the dispatch of American ships into British ports thru the submarine blockade of the Germans. It could not be doubted, he added, that many of these ships would be sunk and many Americans would be drowned.

War Declaration Next Step.

"There remains only one more step," he said, "and that is an open declaration of war and the sending of American troops to Africa, Asia, or Europe. There are very few senators who have not pledged themselves irrevocably never to send American troops to Europe. In my opinion, they violate that pledge if they vote for this resolution.

"If they authorize an undeclared naval war, it will be fought bitterly. Once in war there is no stopping short of every possible means of defeating the enemy.

"Already we see the king of England reviewing 100 Americans in the British civilian training corps and a dozen American naval lieutenants. We see a constant expectation and demand on the part of the British that we send an expeditionary force.

Equipment for Great Army.

"The President is proposing to double the tank program and the airplane program. Of what value can this additional equipment be except for an American army many times larger than the present army?

"If for six months or a year we carry on a naval war, and then it appears to be indecisive, as it will almost certainly be, the time will come when we are forced to take the steps necessary to bring that war to a close. A million men may be sufficient to seize Africa. Hardly less than 3 million will be sufficient to crush Hitler.

"In the light of the administration statement, in the light of the actual conditions which exist in the Atlantic ocean, I think it is fair to say that this congress, if it passes the present resolution, will never again have the opportunity to determine whether we go to war or not."

BURNED WHEN BED CATCHES FIRE.

Ralph Bartholomew, 55 years old, a salesman, was burned on the back and hands yesterday when his bedclothes caught fire, presumably from a burning cigaret, in his room at 661 North Clark street.

REVEAL CHINESE TRAINING IN U. S. ARMY AIR CORPS

Ontario, Cal., Oct. 28 [Special].—The presence of a group of Chinese aeronautical students, reported to number 50, in the United States army air corps training detachment at Cal-Aero academy was disclosed today. The Chinese, few of whom speak English, frequented the city on shopping tours.

Army officers here would not comment, but Maj. Gen. Barton K. Yount, commander of the west coast air training center at Moffet field, quoted Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson as saying: "The story may be confirmed tha the Chinese students are here under lend-lease funds."

Chinese at Scott Field, Too.

East St. Louis, Ill., Oct. 28 [Special].—Col. Wolcott P. Hayes, commanding officer of Scott field, disclosed that a small number of Chinese troops and technicians are studying at the field's army air corps radio and communication school. He refused to give details of their training program.

REDS CLAIM 60% LOSS BY NAZIS IN MOSCOW BATTLE

Assert Germans Cannot Take Capital.

BY HENRY C. CASSIDY.

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, Oct. 28 [Delayed] (AP).—Dispatches from Moscow declared today German forces hammering at the approaches to the soviet capital had lost 60 per cent of their fighting strength in the last few days and that it had become apparent that they would be unable to take the city.

Military sources were quoted as saying that Russian artillery was laying down a barrage so fierce as to make Moscow's defenses impenetrable.

"It now has become clear," one dispatch said, "that despite the fact the Germans have brought up strong and extensive reserves and a large amount of materiel in the last few days they will not take Moscow."

Total German losses were estimated at 4 million men.

"Not a Step Back."

In addition to their losses in man power the Germans were said to have lost many tanks and vast quantities of other equipment.

Battling fiercely under the slogan "Not a step back," Red army troops were reported to have repulsed many German attacks in the direction of Mozhaisk, 57 miles west of the city, and to have retaliated with sharp counterattacks.

This correspondent talked by telephone with Moscow this evening and was told that the Germans had tried to raid the capital from the air several times in the last few days, but that life in the city was continuing at the usual wartime pace.

Nazis "Dig in" at Moscow.

The Germans were reported in military dispatches tonight to be building defense fortifications in some sectors of the Moscow front in an attempt to consolidate earlier advances which long had been blocked.

This turn to essentially defensive tactics was reported in front line accounts to Pravda, the communist party newspaper, which stated that the Nazis were digging not alone trench lines but anti-tank obstacles as well against Russian counteraction.

Dispatches from the southern front said the Germans have been halted for several days on the approaches to Rostov.

Battle 55 Miles from Moscow.

MOSCOW, Oct. 29 [Wednesday] (AP).—Heavy fighting in the Volokolamsk sector, about 55 miles northwest of Moscow and about midway between the Kalinin and Mozhaisk sectors was reported early today by the soviet information bureau.

This new theater of fighting before the soviet capital is on a rail line that curves up from Moscow and continues on west toward Rzhev and the Latvian border.

The early morning communique, said giant battles still raged in the Mozhaisk sector, 57 miles to the west of Moscow, and in the vicinity of Maloyaroslavets, 65 miles southwest, with many Nazi thrusts beaten back.

Siberian Troops Enter Lines.

LONDON, Oct. 28 (AP).—Supported by hardened reserves from Siberia, the Red armies before Moscow were declared tonight by informed neutral quarters to have measurably improved their position by general counterattacks which in some sectors threw the Germans back 10 miles.

The defenders of the far south, however, were seeking to beat back imminent disaster before Rostov, where mighty German forces were reported still advancing—altho at slackened pace—after having already reached to within 10 to 15 miles of that vital city.

The supreme soviet commander in the south, Marshal Semeon Budenny, hurried up reinforcements for one of the most decisive battles of the war. His chances of holding the offensive short of Rostov, however, were described as slim.

In the Moscow theater the weather was said to be turning increasingly nasty, from the German viewpoint. The terrain, far from being frozen, was slippery mud under rain and light snow falls.

140 Tons of Drugs Sent Russia: Mrs. Churchill

LONDON, Oct. 28 (AP).—Britain has sent Russia more than 140 tons of "urgently needed" medical supplies, Mrs. Winston Churchill disclosed today. "The scale of Russian requirements of drugs and surgical instruments is immense," the prime minister's wife said in a radio talk.

Letter Subjected to British Censorship

Letter from Caracas, Venezuela, to Chicago exporter which was censored by British despite clear marking, "Via Cristobal," by which routing the letter need not have fallen into British hands.

Two Letters Displayed

Further evidence that American commercial correspondence with South American firms is being subjected to British censorship was revealed yesterday by an official of a Chicago exporting company.

The exporter displayed two air mail letters from clients in Caracas, Venezuela, and Barranquilla, Colombia, both opened by British censors despite clear markings "Via Cristobal," Canal Zone. Mail directed to Cristobal should move north either to Miami, Fla., or Brownsville, Tex., without interference.

The letter from Caracas, Venezuela, altho postmarked Sept. 11, did not reach Chicago until Oct. 20. British examiner 622 opened the letter on Oct. 17, 36 days after it had been posted. The Barranquilla letter, also marked "Via Cristobal," was postmarked Oct. 10, censored by examiner 4599 on Oct. 17, and reached Chicago Oct. 20.

Because of the similarity of the censors' date stamp the export official said he believed both letters were censored at Kingston, Jamaica. Pan American Airways, Inc., said mail from Barranquilla ordinarily was routed thru Jamaica, and that the Caracas letter could have been censored either in Jamaica or Trinidad.

DECLARE SOVIET STILL HAS BASES ON FINNISH LAND

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 28 (AP).—Declaring the Russians still possess bases on Finnish territory, the newspaper Uusi Suomi said today that Finland had not yet won a military victory sufficient "to entitle us to prepare with any feeling of security to end our defense fight" against the soviet.

The paper said the Finns could not agree with Britain's "fantastic theory that pure defense absolutely involves not crossing our own boundary line, but leaving our home area and its population inside the range of hostilities and exposed to devastation by the enemy."

Nowhere, Uusi Suomi added, have Finnish troops penetrated into territory not inhabited by the Finns themselves "since antiquity."

Find Cafes in London Sell Horse Steak for 70 Cents

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 28. — Horse steaks disguised as beef and flavored with sauces and onions have been sold for as much as 70 cents each in some London restaurants. This discovery was made by ministry of food detectives, who found the carcasses of three horses being prepared for the menu at one eating place. Horse flesh also was said to have been used in so-called "steak and kidney pies." Under ministry of food regulations, restaurants selling horse meat must display a notice advising their patrons of the fact. Otherwise they are liable to prosecution.

GERMANS ATTACK LENINGRAD WITH BIG GUN BARRAGE

Pour Shells on Factories and Food Depots.

BERLIN, Oct. 28 (AP).—Violent German shelling of besieged Leningrad, apparently as a prelude to a big tank and infantry assault, and repulse of desperate soviet counterattacks on the Moscow front were reported tonight after the high command announced the fall of Kramatorsk, key southern soviet industrial city.

Thick clouds of smoke were said to be hanging over Leningrad as German batteries fired on soviet defenses outside that city and war factories and food depots within. Military quarters said the bombardment began 24 hours ago.

Other units claimed direct hits on a Russian naval airdrome, the destruction of a large hangar, and the silencing of one fort's batteries at Kronstadt, big Red fleet base west of Leningrad.

Supported by Many Tanks.

The soviet thrusts of recent days in the central sector were supported by "almost all the artillery they still possess" in that sector and by many tanks, said DNB, official news agency, but nevertheless were hurled back. Hand-to-hand fighting was reported at some stages of the battle.

The high command said the capture of Kramatorsk, 100 miles southeast of Kharkov in the Donetz basin, meant the loss to Russia of the Stalin plant, one "of its biggest tank factories."

A military commentator said that of the 100,000 inhabitants of Kramatorsk some 30,000 were working in the big Stalin plant. Not only tanks, but cannon, guns and munitions were manufactured in that busy city.

The high command which yesterday praised the Italians for good work on the Russian front, today credited Hungarian units with taking other important but unidentified soviet industrial towns in the Donetz basin.

Picture of Other Fronts.

German airmen bombed Russian railway lines leading eastward and southward out of Moscow, and hammered at junction points west of Rostov-on-the-Don, gateway to the Caucasus.

In an unnamed northern sector one German army corps claimed the capture of 12,000 Russians in a 11 day fight thru almost impassable forest and swamp areas. Sixty-six soviet cannon and 297 machine guns were seized or destroyed.

RYERSON SENDS RESIGNATION TO AMERICA FIRST

Edward L. Ryerson, chairman of the board of Inland Steel company, has resigned from the America First committee, it was announced yesterday, with the statement that "the greatest democracy in the world has been slowly, but surely, guided by our national government executives into a situation that has not permitted the people of our land to determine upon a national policy."

He said, however, that the United States has been brought face to face with an emergency which may mean active participation in war at any moment. To deal with such an emergency, Ryerson held, demands unified action by all the people.

"I have believed that a strong national movement in support of these policies [aid to England and humanitarian aid to innocent sufferers] was essential to counteract the influence of those who began by advocating aid to England short of war, but later became dominated by a group that advocated the policy that aid was so essential that it must be given regardless of war.

"I still am convinced that the great majority of our people want to remain out of the conflict and believe that aid to Britain and other nations can be given in a way to avoid acts that mean war."

KING BORIS CALLS UNITY KEYSTONE OF BULGAR POLICY

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 28 (AP).—King Boris, in a speech opening the Bulgarian parliament, today said that the full unification of his country was the keystone of its foreign policy, that relations with Turkey were developing favorably, and that valuable connections with surrounding countries were being established in the spirit of the three power [axis] pact. Meanwhile, in the Dobruja regional court 11 men, mostly Turks and Tartars, were condemned to death on espionage charges.

Chinese Claim Capture of 2 More Min River Islands

HONGKONG, Oct. 28 (AP).—The Chinese Central News agency today said in a Foochow dispatch that the Chinese had captured two more islands at the mouth of the Min river during the week-end. The Japanese occupants fled to warships, it was said.

[Shanghai advices from Foochow on Monday said a Japanese naval garrison had left Sharp Peak Island, which dominates the approach to the Min river, major stream of Fukien province.]

SYRIAN LIBERTY RECOGNIZED BY GREAT BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The British government has taken another step in the strategy of presenting Adolf Hitler with a solid militarized zone of seven countries from Libya to China. Syria today was recognized as an independent republic. King George VI. sent a telegram of congratulation and best wishes to the president of Syria, Shiek Tajjedine El Hassani, who assumed office in September when Gen. Georges Catroux, "Free French" military commander in the middle east, proclaimed Syria's independence.

Recognition by Britain, it was said, carries out a pledge given by Sir Miles Lampson, ambassador to Egypt, on behalf of Britain when the British entered Syria in June. The exchange of diplomatic representatives between Syria and Britain is being considered.

Foreign office circles pointed out that Iran [Persia], Iraq, and Syria would probably continue to be occupied thruout the war. With British forces already in Egypt, Palestine, Trans-Jordan, and India, a continuous east-west line is thus formed for the defense of the British possessions from Africa and the Suez to the far east.

Cardinal Suhard Seeking to Reunite French Church

VICHY, France, Oct. 28 (AP).—Cardinal Emanuele Suhard came to Vichy today to report to Marshal Petain on relations between the Catholic church and German authorities in occupied France, and to reëstablish connections between the churches of occupied and unoccupied France.

GERMANY BANS USE OF FOREIGN NAMES ON RESTAURANT MENUS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 28.—Foreign names for dishes will be removed from German menu cards. The dishes are to be called by their German names. The German Economic Associations of Hotels and Resturants says that the "language of the trade" is to be cleansed.

All such expressions as "café complete, table d'hôte list, grillroom, diner, souper," and even "menu" itself are to vanish forever.

Restaurant and hotel owners who continue to use other than German words and phrases will have their names and those of their establishments published in a "blacklist" in their trade paper.

MANY KILLED BY FIRE IN SHANGHAI AND TSINGTAO

Six Die in Shanghai Fire.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 28 (AP).—Six Chinese died today in a fire which destroyed large stocks of chemicals and celluloid stored in a warehouse off Nanking road and threatened to spread to nearby foreign-owned buildings. Scores of Chinese were left homeless.

NAZIS OFFER TO FREE PRISONERS IF FRENCH TELL

Reprieve of 100 Ordered by Hitler Himself.

PARIS, Oct. 28 (AP).—A "last chance" offer to release war prisoners whose families turn informer on the assassins of two Germans was announced tonight by Gen. Otto von Stuelpnagel, commander of the German occupation forces.

Suspension of the reprisal order for the death of 100 hostages was ordered by Adolf Hitler personally, the general said, to give the French more time to deliver information on the six assassins.

"Happy to Stop Executions."

Gen. von Stuelpnagel's announcement said:

"I have informed the French government that the Fuehrer of the reich had decided to suspend the execution of new hostages in reprisal for the Nantes and Bordeaux assassinations.

"A last chance thus is given to all Frenchmen to coöperate in the investigation of these crimes and thereby show by deeds that they disapprove of these two assassinations.

"The army in France and I myself would be happy if measures like those which have been applied could be avoided."

Nantes Lights Up for RAF.

LONDON, Oct. 28 (AP).—Residents of the German occupied city of Nantes flashed lights in greeting to the RAF Sunday night as the British flyers dropped high explosive and incendiary bombs along with thousands of leaflets, the air ministry stated tonight.

Answering the leaflets, which were described as "a message of hope for ultimate deliverance," some residents flung open their doors and lit up their houses "as tho blackout curtains had been torn aside from the windows," the air ministry said.

Invaders Chased from Somaliland, Vichy Insists

VICHY, France, Oct. 28 (AP).—The Petain government announced today French troops had forced invading British and De Gaullist forces to withdraw from French Somaliland and return to Eritrea.

BERLINERS TOLD BY GOEBBELS HOW TOUGH A TIME THEY HAVE

BERLIN, Oct. 28 (AP).—Propaganda Minister Goebbels in a published appeal today to Berlin residents pointed to "the coming of certainly not easy weeks" and asked them to "keep your heads high and never give in."

"I know you have it hard today," he wrote. "You must all work as never before. Your wives sometimes stand for hours before stores in order to buy some vegetables. Sometimes you have to go without a glass of beer, sometimes without cigarets.

"Then because necessary hands are not available, you have to shovel coal; then at nights go into air raid cellars and after two hours sleep back to hard work. That is the way it is in many cities of the reich and in some it is even worse."

MINISTER DIES IN HOLLAND.

Holland, Mich., Oct. 28 [Special].—The Rev. T. W. Muilenberg, 77 years old, a minister of the Reformed church for 50 years, died in his home here today.

NAZIS LIFT BAN ON BROADCASTS IN SEIZED LANDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 28.—Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels has lifted his ban on an additional number of European radio stations, thus permitting the German public to listen to their programs. The number of "allowed" stations now totals 84. They are scattered from the far north to the Spanish border. Of these, 27 are German stations, not including 16 German short wave stations not listed.

The new "release" means that Germans are allowed to listen to programs—strictly censored by the Nazis—put on by stations in occupied territories. Radio stations in "befriended" nations—such as Italy, Rumania, Finland, and Spain—still are on the blacklist.

All of the occupied territories are represented by one or more stations, from Namsos, Norway, in the north to Belgrade in the southeast. Luxemburg, Strasbourg, Paris, Brussels, Bordeaux, Oslo, Hilversum [Holland], Warsaw, and Vilna [Lithuania] suggest the scope of the list, which also included Minsk and Smolensk.

WATCHES LAND MINES BLOW UP PORT OF ODESSA

Tribune Writer Tells of City's Destruction.

BY ALEX SMALL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ODESSA, Russia [With the German armies of occupation in the Ukraine], Oct. 23. [Delayed.]—This afternoon I stood on a hilltop in the center of this city overlooking the stadium and the harbor. I saw and heard Odessa being blown up and destroyed by fire.

With a group of other correspondents who had just entered the city I was driven away from the Rumanian military headquarters by officers who said that the building, formerly the headquarters of the Russian GPU [secret police], might blow up at any moment.

All Buildings Unsafe.

The officers had evacuated the building and were standing on the opposite side of a wide avenue scrutinizing a street map of Odessa. Only a few buildings in the city, they said, thus far had been examined for mines. For the rest, not one could be considered safe.

The officers said that Odessa's soft soil is honeycombed with catacombs. They believed that the Russians had left huge quantities of high explosives there before leaving the city.

"At any moment whole sections of the city might fly into the air," they cautioned.

Hence we were on this hilltop with groups of silent, anxious people about us.

We were there 90 minutes, during which we ate an open air lunch of raw bacon and army bread and listened to a lecture by a German officer on how the city had been taken. In that period I counted 22 heavy explosions. Some came from the direction of the port and were explained as the work of engineers blowing up mines there.

Sees Warehouse Burn.

But most of the blasts came from the center of the city and after each rose a heavy column of smoke. In mid-afternoon there was an unusually violent series of three in quick succession and immediately the roaring flames of a huge fire pierced thru the black smoke waves.

In the center of Odessa a four story warehouse was a mass of flame. Five firemen were directing a feeble stream into the fire from what looked like garden hose. We passed the house in which Russia's national poet, Aleksandr Pushkin, once lived. It was demolished—blown up by the Russians before they left, the Rumanians told us.

Then the military authorities said our group could not stay in the city that night and we would have to leave. We crept out of Odessa as if it were doomed, as did every one else who could make his way out.

We had had a lesson as to the effectiveness of land mines. They still even the stoutest hearts.

Afraid to Sleep at Home.

Other dangers, such as artillery shells or air bombs, are to some extent calculable. Defense or escape from them may be divined. But the thought of a mine exploding under your feet is demoralizing. In Odessa mines had driven people into the streets and parks. They were afraid to sleep at home.

The mines are only the latest of Odessa's miseries after a siege of nearly six weeks. This once proud and rich port—queen of the Black sea—is a ghost of its former self. It has been hit by every weapon and missile used in this war. Half of its buildings have been destroyed, its public services put out of order, and its industry and commerce paralyzed.

The people—that is those who are left, estimated at more than half of Odessa's former total of over 600,000—are without work or food, more often without shelter. In the streets they are clamoring for water—the water system being partly destroyed—and for bread. Where they are going to get the latter is a mystery. The Rumanian army has none to spare—rather the contrary.

Refuse to Take Money.

Already a few peasants are driving into the city in their farm carts, but they refuse to take any money which the citizens of Odessa can offer. They want no Russian rubles and look skeptically on Rumanian lei. Their preference among forms of money is the special German mark issued for occupied countries, but above all they want, as everywhere else in the ravaged areas, payment in kind. That gives the city people a chance to barter the bits of rubbish which constitute their personal property.

On the way into the city I saw signs of a long and vigorous siege. For miles along the shore roads all buildings have been destroyed or damaged.

The houses everywhere appeared to be touched in some way. There were broken windows and walls nicked with shell splinters. Other homes show big holes where shells crashed into them. Still others are heaps of rubbish, either because they were hit by dive bomber explosives or blown up by the Russians.

The streets leading into the city are filled with water from broken water mains. We had to move thru factories and railway yards along the port, where great swaying plates of sheet iron showed where oil storage tanks stood until they were dive bombed and where wrecked workshops appeared thru empty windows.

Home on Furlough

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Private Ted Wolf, a Tribune printer in civilian life, is greeted by kiss from wife when he arrives on C. and E. I. train from Camp Forrest for furlough.

Ear-to-ear grins and tears were commonplace yesterday when 529 soldiers of the 33d division piled off a special train from Camp Forrest, Tenn., at the Dearborn street station. Hundreds of relatives and girls were waiting when the 13 car train pulled in.

For most of the boys, the return to Chicago means a 15 day furlough. For others, however, it means the end of army life. These men were discharged because they are 28 years old or older, or because of increased needs of dependents. Represented in the contingent were 129th, 130th, 131st, and 132d infantry; the 122d, 123d, and 124th field artillery, the 168th engineers, 108th quartermaster, 108th medical corps, and 107th cavalry.

U. S. Cavalry Officer Joins Kuibyshev Embassy Staff

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, Oct. 27 [Delayed] (AP).—Capt. Robert McCabe Jr., a cavalry officer, arrived today to become an assistant military attaché at the United States embassy in this secondary soviet capital. Maj. Ivan D. Yeaton, the military attaché, departed yesterday for consultations in Washington, D. C., leaving the office in charge of Maj. Joseph A. Michela.

BRITAIN COMBATS PROFITEERING IN PALESTINE SHOPS

JERUSALEM, Oct. 28.—Recent rises in commodity prices in Palestine's retail markets, which resulted in large scale mercantile profiteering, have produced government action with a view to eliminating sharp practices. The latest phase of the administrative campaign has been an appeal to the public to coöperate in reporting merchants and shopkeepers charging above controlled prices. Pointing out that almost all of Europe now subsists on short rations and many populations are starving whereas Palestinians have enough food and even luxuries of which even the people of Britain are deprived, Col. George Wykeham Heron, Palestine's controller of supplies, last night reviewed in a radio broadcast the whole supply position. He said there was no reason for higher prices than those fixed by the government.

Beaverbrook Has Asthma; Fear He May Give Up Post

LONDON, Oct. 28 (AP).—Lord Beaverbrook, Britain's bustling minister of supply, has suffered severe attacks of asthma for the past few days, the Press association reported today. This led to speculation whether he would be able to remain in his post for the remaining two months of a six months' term which he had promised to serve. Beaverbrook is 62 years old.

KEARNY'S CONVOY DUTY ADMITTED BY ROOSEVELT

Hunting Submarines When Torpedoed, He Says.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—President Roosevelt today disclosed that the United States destroyer Kearny was convoying merchantmen and searching for submarines in the north Atlantic when she was torpedoed Oct. 17, presumably by a German submarine.

Mr. Roosevelt said he did not know whether the American man of war was convoying British or American vessels when she was attacked. He did know that the destroyer was in the midst of a number of other United States fighting ships, which were scattered about the ocean, hunting down submarines, after an attack on the convoy.

Ship Nearly Cut in Two.

The President added that the ship was very nearly cut in two by the blast of the exploding torpedo. The blast ranged forward and upward from the point of contact on the starboard side. He said he did not know whether the torpedo struck head on or delivered a glancing blow.

The President said he had seen pictures of the Kearny taken since her arrival in port. He paid tribute to the toughness of the vessel, saying that she was not even listing in the pictures.

Mr. Roosevelt's implied admission that American men of war are convoying both British and American merchant vessels occasioned no surprise at his press conference. Months ago, when the question of convoys was raging, it was suspected American warships were convoying merchantmen. At that time the administration shied away from the use of the word "convoy."

Today Mr. Roosevelt showed no reluctance to use the word convoy or to reveal American warships are convoying merchantmen in what Nazis regard as the war zone.

Aid Follows Knox Precedent.

Mr. Roosevelt discussed the Kearny incident casually when he was questioned on the disclosures of details of the attack on the vessel, which cost 11 American lives, by Undersecretary of the Navy James Forrestal. The navy official made the disclosures in a Navy day speech at Philadelphia, rather than thru an official navy department annnouncement.

In saving the details of the destroyer incident for his speech, Forrestal borrowed a leaf from the book of conduct of his chief, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox. Knox disclosed details of naval operations against submarines in an article for a national magazine, for which he was paid.

CLOSED SHOP IS MONOPOLY, LABOR CONVENTION TOLD

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—The closed shop question was injected into the 35 nation conference of the international labor organization today by a statement that the issue "is monopolistic in every sense of the word."

Albert W. Hawkes, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce and an adviser to the United States employers delegation, said many labor disputes in this country revolved around the problem and expressed belief that it "transgresses the rights of our individual citizens as guaranteed by the constitution."

"We have spent 50 or 60 years to get rid of monopoly in business," Hawkes added. "Why build up monopoly in any group among our American people or anywhere else in the world? We talk about the 'four freedoms' in the United States. I would talk about the fifth freedom—the sacred right to work on any job where any person, corporation, or government agency requires the service an individual is able and willing to render."

Hawkes contended the closed shop was not necessary to keep labor organizations alive.

Acquit Doctor of Charge of Abortion in 10 Minutes

A jury of nine women and three men required only 10 minutes yesterday to acquit Dr. Carlo A. Fioretti, 30 years old, of a charge of abortion. The physician, a lieutenant in the army medical reserve corps, has offices at 163 East 154th street, Harvey. The case was tried before Judge Ulysses S. Schwartz in Criminal court. Dr. Fioretti denied the charge, and the complaining witness, a former student nurse, admitted she had attempted self-abortion with drugs.

FIRST NATIONAL GIVES $43,500 TO COMMUNITY FUND

A gift of $43,500 from the First National Bank of Chicago will be reported to Community Fund leaders at noon today when the fund's Industrial and Women's divisions hold a joint meeting at the Palmer House. The bank's contribution is separate from another gift soon to be reported by First National employés.

Other contributions made public yesterday were: Units of Union Carbide and Carbon company, $3,000; Poor & Co., $3,500; Felt & Tarrant Manufacturing Co., $1,700; Reid Murdoch & Co., $1,750, and $1,000 each from Arnold Schwinn & Co., Peabody Coal company, Aermotor company, Norris Grain company, Sprague, Warner & Co., Halsey, Stuart & Co., and Rand McNally & Co.

Police Cancel Days Off Friday—It's Halloween

Halloween goblins had better be thinking of some pranks that will be funny but not mischievous. Chief John Prendergast of the uniformed police announced yesterday that all policemen's days off have been canceled for Friday in order that there may be plenty of policemen on duty to see that Halloween is celebrated in an orderly manner.

Snow Reported

Today is expected to be warmer than yesterday, according to the government forecast, with rain tonight and tomorrow and a drop in temperature tomorrow night. The season's first killing frost occurred yesterday morning, and Maywood reported the season's first snow last night. The snow, Maywoodians said, was light but fell steadily for several hours, finally achieving enough depth so that auto tracks could be seen faintly in the streets.

16 CORN HUSKERS COMPETE FRIDAY FOR STATE TITLE

Tonica, Ill., Oct. 28 (AP).—Ecus Vaughan of Piatt county learned today that he might be hard pressed to retain the Illinois corn husking championship he won last year.

Competing against him Friday afternoon in Theodore Schafer's cornfield will be several men who qualified by setting county records and several others who are veterans of big time corn husking. The state contest entry list of 16 was made public today by Prairie Farmer, sponsor of the event.

The Illinois champion and runner-up will compete against the best two men from each of 10 other states next Monday in the national husking contest, to be held in another field on Schafer's farm west of here.

STAGE BOYCOTT TO PROTEST FOOD AT ILLINOIS TECH

More than 300 students of the Illinois Institute of Technology staged a sitdown boycott yesterday in the cafeteria on the Armour engineering campus at 3300 Federal street. The boycott, which did not interfere with classes, was in protest against the prices and food in the cafeteria, which serves 1,500 students a day.

The boycott was touched off by an editorial in the campus newspaper urging student control of the cafeteria and bookshop, which are operated by the institute. The demonstrators, sitting at tables, refused to buy food and booed the few students who did venture to the counters.

In midafternoon the boycott was called off and a student committee agreed to meet Friday with Dr. James C. Peebles, dean of undergraduates, and air their grievances.

SEVEN MEMBERS OF POLICE FORCE TO BE RETIRED

One police captain, one sergeant, and five patrolmen, who have served a combined total of 220 years in the police department will be retired in November, it was announced yesterday.

Capt. Gregory Moran, 59 years old, of the Deering street station, who joined the force in 1907, will be retired because of ill health. Sergt. Emil J. Breitzman of the Hyde Park station, will be retired because of the 63 year age limitation. He also joined the force in 1907.

Also reaching the age limitation will be Patrolmen Roderick Aylmer, Morgan Park; John F. Tolan, Warren avenue, and Thomas M. Hayes, Austin. Patrolmen Emil Mertz, Englewood, and Lawrence J. Kelly, bureau of identification, will retire voluntarily.

WATER FAR OFF; BLAST, FIRE RAZE OIL FIRM PLANT

Fire which followed an explosion of undetermined origin yesterday virtually destroyed the one story brick garage and pumping house of the Arrow Petroleum company, in Forest View, one block east of Harlem avenue at 4900 south. Firemen from six suburbs had to pump water from the drainage canal, one-quarter mile south, and it was an hour after the explosion before water was sprayed on the blaze.

The fire threatened a tank containing 2⅓ million gallons of oil, located only 50 yards east of the building. The damage was estimated at $60,000.

Lawrence Ellingren of Elmhurst, a mechanic, was the only employé in the building when the explosion occurred. He said the blast appeared to originate in the boiler room. It knocked him down, but he got up and ran to safety.

Historic Declarations of American Foreign Policy

No. 13—William McKinley:

"This government has maintained an attitude of neutrality in the unfortunate contest between Great Britain and the Boer states of Africa. We have remained faithful to the precept of avoiding entangling alliances as to affairs not of our direct concern."—Annual Message, Dec. 5, 1899.

A POLICY OF SUICIDE.

Mr. Roosevelt's Navy day address was profoundly disturbing, not only because it left no doubt of his ambition to send the conscripts into the shooting war as rapidly as possible. That, after all, was an old story; on many previous occasions Mr. Roosevelt had repudiated the solemn promises made just a year ago when he was a candidate for the third term.

Much more alarming than this added evidence of bad faith was the self-revelation. Mr. Roosevelt is beside himself. He is indifferent to truth, reason, consistency. He twists facts to suit his purpose. He is at one moment a prey to fear and at the next bellicose and boastful.

So far as the content of the speech is concerned, all that was in any sense new was Mr. Roosevelt's assertion that he had obtained secret documentary evidence of a determination of the Germans to divide South America, including the Panama canal region, into five principalities to be ruled from Berlin, together with other documents to prove Germany's determination to destroy all religion. He did not say how the papers were obtained, but he has apparently accepted them uncritically and it is not at all impossible that the fears they aroused have unbalanced his judgment.

Any one familiar with such matters knows that every general staff in the world has studied every conceivable problem of military action. If Mr. Roosevelt were to go into the files of the war or the navy department he no doubt could find documents which indicate how we would attack Britain and seize and govern Canada. The mere presence of such papers proves nothing beyond the desire of military men to prepare for contingencies, however remote, which might arise.

Spies are forever turning up such papers. The important question with relation to these papers is not whether they are genuine or even whether they represent Hitler's present ambitions. If both these points were conceded for the sake of argument, the principal question would remain. That question is whether we can protect the western hemisphere and our own country in particular from such a projected invasion by a less costly and bloody means than the one Mr. Roosevelt proposes. Mr. Roosevelt would have us fight Germany in Europe, where Germany is strongest, instead of fighting her where the odds are at least equal. He would have us believe that Germany's 80 millions can defeat America's 130 millions and America's even greater preponderance in industry, agriculture, and finance and that Germany can do so on our side of the Atlantic ocean. That conclusion was not reached after consulting his military advisers. It was born of terror or some equally unreliable guide.

Mr. Roosevelt is persuaded of Hitler's determination to destroy all religion and calls for his destruction on that account. At the same time Mr. Roosevelt allies this country with Russia. Nothing that Hitler has said in public or in secret against religion can match Russian accomplishments as the enemy of religion. Hideous as Hitler's persecutions have been, they pale before Stalin's. No spy documents are required to establish Stalin's purpose. It has been published to the wide world, boasted about, pointed to with pride, acclaimed by his adherents in every land. If Mr. Roosevelt is determined to embark upon a crusade for religious freedom the world over, he has chosen a strange ally. That he dared to mention the subject of religion in such circumstances provides a striking demonstration of his state of mind.

The occasion for Mr. Roosevelt's war is to be the sinking of American owned merchant ships. Almost all of them were flying foreign flags and were manned by foreign crews. The ships were alienated by Mr. Roosevelt in order to evade the terms of the neutrality law. Had he obeyed the spirit and letter of the law, as his oath requires, these incidents would not have arisen. So far as the destroyer Greer is concerned, he deliberately misled the American people into thinking she had been attacked without warning or excuse; weeks later the truth that she had been hunting a German submarine in coöperation with British patrols was revealed, but not thru his agency. The facts regarding the attack on the Kearny are now being learned somewhat belatedly and until they are all known Americans, with the experience of the Greer as a warning, may well withhold judgment.

The neutrality law must go, said Mr. Roosevelt, because it violates the cardinal principle of American foreign policy: freedom of the seas. To hear Mr. Roosevelt tell it, his listeners might never have suspected that he is responsible for the neutrality law as it stands today. It was amended to his specifications in 1937. It was further amended, again to his specifications, in 1939. He praised it to the skies in his Chautauqua address in 1936. It is his law. What he found particularly admirable about it after his alterations were accepted in 1939 was its provision that American ships and seamen be kept out of the zone of war. That, he said, would eliminate those incidents which make for trouble.

Now he says freedom of the seas is and always has been a cardinal principle of American policy. He says so at a time when the British navy, with his blessing, will not permit American food to reach the starving children in the conquered democracies of Europe. He didn't believe in the traditional concept of freedom of the seas when the neutrality act was hewn to his line and he doesn't believe in it now.

"Very simply and very bluntly," the Navy day orator said, "we are pledged to pull our own oar in the destruction of Hitlerism." We are to halt the German army and force it to dig in. Then, as he foresaw events, the German power will decay for lack of victories to sustain it. In these declarations Mr. Roosevelt may have been simple, but he was not blunt. Had he been blunt he would have said that the only way to stop the German advance is with troops in Europe. Obviously the British are sending none. Obviously that is what our conscripts are to attempt. Anybody who thinks this task is likely to be accomplished at a cost of less than half a million American lives is self-deluded or just plain deluded.

"And when we have helped to end the curse of Hitlerism we shall help to establish a new peace which will give to decent people everywhere a better chance," etc., etc. That was also what Mr. Wilson said and it was also what Mr. Wilson's allies didn't want, as they promptly revealed once the war was over. Mr. Roosevelt quotes freely from German secret documents, but he might have quoted with greater effect from British documents, public or secret, pledging a better chance to the people of India, for example. Maybe such documents are available. It would be interesting to know, too, if Mr. Churchill is any less opposed to freedom of the seas today than he was in 1918. It would be instructive to be told why the world will be better, as Mr. Roosevelt says it will be, after America is bankrupt and the best of her youth have been slain. As a reward, he intimates, we shall be permitted to engage in a joint policing of the world. The rôle is one for which few Americans who know what that implies can hanker.

Mr. Roosevelt is sure that Americans will pursue this mad course of conquest and domination because their ancestors came here in search of independence and strove for it mightily. He neglected to add that the independence they craved was independence from Europe, its intrigues, its wars, its hates, its taxes, its political systems. They achieved their purpose. They made here the freest and richest country the world has ever seen. All of this Mr. Roosevelt would destroy. His excuses are justifications for national suicide.

DEATH IN THE AIR.

The series of fatal mishaps which have overtaken the army's air corps has not surprised those who have followed the course of our military aviation. There have been many reasoned criticisms of ship design, methods of training and discipline, and methods of selecting personnel. That these criticisms were not unfounded we now have reason to know. One bomber, for example, while flying thru a heavy California fog, hit a mountain top near San Francisco. Five lives were lost because the pilot had not been trained to keep above the highest peak which he might encounter.

This loss of life was needless and avoidable. The accident—if it can be called an accident—was the inevitable result of excluding from the management of army aviation precisely the men who were best qualified for leadership. The army could have had the benefit of the genius and experience of such men as Lindbergh, Williams, and Rickenbacker, but chose to depend upon lesser men. The result of the course taken is tragic, but it was also foreseeable.

FROM THREE FRONTS.

The German communique:

"In the Donetz basin the pursuit of the retreating enemy is being continued. German troops entered Kramatorsk. Thus the soviet union has lost one of its biggest tank factories. Operations also are progressing on the rest of the front. The air force effectively bombed the harbor of Kerch and sank a merchant ship of 3,000 tons."

The Russian communique:

"During the night our troops fought the enemy in the directions of Mozhaisk, Maloyaroslavets, Kharkov, and Taganrog. Thirty-three tanks and more than 140 trucks loaded with infantry were destroyed by direct bomb hits in an air raid on German armored troops on the western front."

The American communique:

"Graham's second down pass to Motl brought the ball to Ohio's 44 yard line. Benson plunged a yard for a first down. Graham passed to Hasse on the 5 yard line and Hasse scored, outrunning Fisher and Hecklinger. With Kruger holding the ball, Erdlitz's place kick for the extra point was good. Score: Northwestern, 7; Ohio State, 0.

THE DUTCH AND THEIR DOGS.

[New York Sun.]

According to a Reuter dispatch the Nazis have warned the Dutch newspapers that "severe action will be taken" unless they cease printing whole pages of dog pictures whenever Hitler meets Mussolini or Horthy. The item unfortunately does not tell just what the foundation of the Nazi complaint is; the reader is left to his conjectures. One that comes to mind is that the Germans interpret this act of the Dutch press as an insinuation that Hitler and his allies are comparable to dogs, but surely Hollanders have too high a regard for the canine genus to draw any such comparison.

If, indeed, the Nazis were more like dogs Europe would be a pleasanter place to live in than it is. Dogs are faithful; they keep their treaties; they jealously protect their own and their master's homes, but they do not poach on the preserves of other dogs. Aesop's fable about the dog in the manger is certainly a fiction: Nobody in modern times ever knew a dog that tried to prevent others from enjoying what he could not himself enjoy.

THREAT TO LABOR.

[Bucyrus, O., Telegraph-Forum.]

"The threat of Hitlerism is directed not only at labor, even tho labor is among the very first that will suffer therefrom."

The sentence was intended to sway labor to his side under threat of domination by a man whose forces and whose philosophies are much farther from our shores today than any time since Europe's war started.

Labor will be the first to suffer, but not at the hands of Hitler. Labor will be the first to suffer in the inevitable long-time depression to follow Mr. Roosevelt's eight years of spending and debt creation and the tremendous artificial prosperity of his foreign program. There is a limit to such spending and artificial prosperity always collapses to the great detriment of labor. The Roosevelt administration is labor's worst enemy.

DOMES IN THE SKY.

"The dome of the Baha'i temple is believed to be the sixth largest in the world in diameter."

We published this statement recently on the authority of an architect who has been associated with the construction of the new landmark, and nobody challenged us. We might add that the architect did not pretend to be the final authority on dome-measuring.

Then we submitted the matter to two other architects, with a demand for information about the five greater domes. They rushed to their office and produced two volumes, each weighing about 20 pounds, that contain scale drawings of many of the world's greatest buildings. We checked their findings with the Britannica. The result of this symposium, which filled an interesting after-dinner hour, is the following catalog of domes:

1. The Pantheon in Rome, diameter 144 feet. Built A. D. 112.
2. St. Peter's in Rome, diameter 140 feet. Begun 1506, completed 1603.
3. The Duomo [cathedral of Santa Maria del Fiore] in Florence, diameter 139 feet. Begun 1422, completed 1471.
4. Santa Sophia in Constantinople, diameter 104 feet. Founded A. D. 532, dedicated A. D. 538.
5. St. Paul's in London, diameter 102 feet. Begun 1675, completed 1710.

The diameter of the Baha'i temple dome is, if we remember correctly, in the low 90s. It is in close competition with the dome of the Invalides in Paris [92 feet], under which Napoleon is buried, and the dome of the United States capitol in Washington, whose rotunda is 96 feet in diameter.

The Baha'i and the U. S. capitol domes, however, have metal support, steel in the former and cast iron in the latter. They cannot be called true vaults, like the Big Five named above.

Do we hear some one saying, "Why all this talk about domes?" Because the United States leads the world in domed buildings. The influence of the capitol in Washington has spread over the land; almost every state capitol and county courthouse sports a dome, often of impressive size.

THE WHITE QUEEN IS COMING.

Out of the North where the sun shines the palest,
Out of the Arctic, where earth is unseen,
Out of the land of Aurora Borealis,
Comes Madam Winter to be our new queen.

Holiday! Holiday! Treat her to madness!
We'll entertain her before she grows old!

Burden the board when the feast days are here, then!
Frolic and gambol on skates and on skis.
(God will have mercy on sinners who freeze.)

Welcome her! Welcome her! Flatter the stranger!
Win the queen's favor and come to the feast!
Holiday! Holiday! (Risk not her anger!
All those who kow-tow will suffer the least.)

How to Have Fun at a Wedding.

I attended a Polish Goralian wedding reception the other evening and enjoyed the most carefree four hours of my adult life. There was continuous dancing; they danced the overeks, kujawiaks, krakowiaks, and fast and slow polkas. Some of them were dressed in Galician, Goralian, and Ruthenian-Huzulian costumes, which struck me as having more color than an autumn sunset.

There were all kinds of Polish dishes, beginning with wodzianka and kwasna kasza and all the way thru pirogi, bigos, Polish sausage, and potato bread with black caraway seeds. And there were Polish liquors, too—wisnufka, miod, kartoflanka, starka and piounufka.

After much eating, drinking, singing and dancing came the bridal dance. They place a plate in the middle of the floor and each man present gets a chance to dance with the bride, during which he throws silver dollars against the plate in an effort to break it. Once he breaks it, his dance is over and another man gets his chance, until there is no one left save the bridegroom. His dance is the last.

The Goralians among the guests wore costumes of leather, eagle feathers in their headgear, and leather slippers like the moccasins of the American Indian; they carried tomahawks and a pipe similar to the calumet; they have reddish complexions, coarse black hair, and high cheek bones.

ABANDONED ORCHARD.

Far from the traveled highway old trees bend
With dignity; unbidden, they still bear
A gold and crimson yield; the autumn air
Is cider-scented as the Winesaps blend
With piquant Limber Twigs. Reluctantly
The black boughs loose their hold upon the stem*
That binds the apple to the ancient tree,
And soft-winged silence hovers over them.

This silence comes from patient listening
For gentle hands upon a broken gate—
For long-remembered songs to terminate
The lonely hours when only crickets sing;
But low sighs echo as the leaves are thinned

CYSTITIS—A DISTURBANCE OF THE BLADDER.

THE human bladder is an extremely accommodating pouch, serving as a reservoir for the output of the kidneys. These latter organs secrete continuously—more rapidly at times than at others. Despite the fact that the liquid flows downward and the sac fills, the emptying intervals may be hours apart.

Ordinarily, this receptacle is highly resistant to infection. Even tho bacteria are present, if the structure is perfectly healthy, they will be washed away or die in an attempt to gain a foothold on the mucous surface. But they will grow whenever the circulation is disturbed, if showers of microbes are constantly discharged from above, or if something interferes with normal drainage.

In men past the age of 60, enlargement of the prostate gland may serve as a dam, preventing complete voiding. If a lake of fluid remains, decomposition may occur if germs are harbored. Irritation may follow. In such an event, the walls become swollen and spongy and organisms may find a cordial reception on the part of the injured lining tissue. Then it is that cystitis—inflammation of the bladder—may ensue.

Now, most of our troubles come from one particular bug—namely, the colon bacillus. On the other hand, the pus producing microbe [staphylococcus], which is responsible for most of our boils, is a common invader.

The cardinal symptoms are frequency — accompanied by smarting, burning, or actual pain. When a "sample" is examined it may be found to be loaded with pus. The severity of the malady governs the manifestations. The desire to evacuate may vary from every 10 minutes to every half hour. When the disorder is acute, the victim will complain bitterly of the cramplike twinges which come at the end of each interval. This is due to the spasmodic contraction of the inflamed organ. Could we look within the pouch, the inner surface would probably appear shaggy, deep red, and engorged.

At the very outset the temperature is high—103 degrees in adults and 105 or more in children. Exhaustion may be extreme. The patient can't rest because of the numerous trips to the bathroom. Many times the episode is ushered in with a chill.

Sometimes, in older women, frequency may occur without the slightest discomfort. This is observed more often when walking about or standing. Here, the urinary reservoir has bulged forward, causing a constant feeling of pressure. A slight surgical procedure may prove curative.

Treatment of cystitis consists first in identifying the cause and making certain that the kidneys are not involved. In many instances, simple remedies will suffice. If a freshly passed specimen is highly acid, a teaspoon of sodium bicarbonate taken three times daily may bring relief.

In cases of long standing, however, it may be desirable to render the urine acid to prevent the growth of germs. Then it is that urotropin may be combined with acid sodium phosphate. Calcium mandelate will have the same effect. This is particularly useful if the "starter" of the trouble lies within the kidneys proper.

Neither medicine nor an instrument should be introduced into the bladder from the outside during an attack. A bland diet is essential. Such items as alcohol, coffee, red meats, asparagus, and rhubarb may well be avoided. Hot sitz baths, hot packs, and hot rectal irrigations ofttimes are soothing. If the malady hangs on, vaccines may be employed.

Occasionally one can lengthen the intervals with practice. An attempt is made to retain the urine five minutes after the urge comes. This is increased by five minutes each day until a normal period has been established.

We should recall that cystitis means inflammation within the bladder, while pyelitis points to infection within the kidneys.

GOOD MUSCLES.

C. writes: What can I eat to build up my muscles?

REPLY.

The essentials are: Good blood, plenty of nourishment, and exercise. Fat is not strength. A mere gain in weight without adequate activity will not achieve your objective. A carefully balanced eating program is recommended. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for this diet.

HANDWRITING ON THE WALL.

M. H. writes: I have heard of a certain apparatus that detects a person's ailments by his handwriting. Is such a thing possible?

REPLY.

By no stretch of the imagination can handwriting portray heart disease, cancer, etc. On the other hand, vagaries of penmanship may point to certain maladies of the nervous system.

STUFFED NOSE.

L. A. writes: What causes the nose to become stopped up on going to bed? This results in mouth breathing.

REPLY.

Some infection, deformity, or polyp within the nasal passage. Swelling narrows the airways. Irrigations with a mild solution of common salt or baking soda should help.

HEAD PAINS.

P. F. writes: Does a neurotic patient suffer from pains in the neck and head?

REPLY.

Yes, frequently. No one should be labeled a neurotic, however, until a careful examination has ruled out the presence of disease. Pains may come from so many causes—neuritis, arthritis, etc. —that a detailed diagnosis is in order.

A SANE HALLOWEEN.

Robinson, Ill. Oct. 26.—As to soaped windows at Halloween: Some 12 years ago in our city of 5,000 Mr. Everett Smith and I conceived the idea of a Halloween party for the grade school children and advertised it with the stipulation they should have enjoyment to the fullest except soaping windows and destructive mischief.

With the exception of a few autos there has not been a window soaped in our town in all the years since then.

The party is an annual event and includes treats of candy suckers, oranges, apples and a hillbilly band.

The treats are handled mostly by the local teachers, and the rich as well as the WPA workers come and bring children that are too small to come alone.

CUTTING OUT THE CAROLS.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—By chance I have learned that the State street carols will not be heard this Christmas season. One of the greatest things about Christmas is the spirit of Christmas, and who among us is not moved by those age-old and beloved carols whether heard in a church, by a caroling troop, or thru the loud speaking system on State street?

Are thousands of joyous shoppers, many of whom are visitors here for the sights, to be denied this musical pleasure as they inch their way along our bright way in search of a little gift to express their happiness at being alive and able to give?

If you want these carols this season write the State Street council, 209 South State street, Chicago. H. M. T.

PIGS FOR "DEFENSE."

Oak Park, Ill., Oct. 27.—I see that Mrs. Roosevelt suggests that suburbanites raise pigs.

We are willing to do even this in defense of our country. But what is our quota? We recall something about an administrative ruling that killed off hogs, that the farmer could raise only so many, and beyond that there was a penalty.

We don't want to be penalized for good intentions, so before we begin, will you obtain from the White House the quota for each suburbanite? Also where do we get the first pigs? Will the government furnish these? Chickens, too?

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

LEGAL ASSIGNMENT.

La Salle, Ill., Oct. 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can a legal assignment of note be made without indorsing the note or writing the assignment on the note but write the assignment on separate sheet of paper?

If assignment of note can be made on separate paper [2] would the signature of the assignor have to be acknowledged before a notary public? C. V.

1. Such an assignment would not technically amount to an indorsement, but it would have the legal effect of vesting in the transferee such title as the transferor had. See section 48 of the Negotiable Instruments Law. We could advise to better advantage if you had indicated your reason for desiring to proceed in an irregular way.
2. No.

FIVE METEORS.

Glen Rock, N. J., Oct. 22.—In my star land of the five meteors there was a sight of revelry by night! Glory came to my window for a crowded quarter of an hour from 11 to 11:15 p. m. These shining travelers were to seek no bourne toward east or north. Zenith bound and on southern quest, they went in sparkling radiance.

First Bellatrix of great Orion's warders, hurled his flaming meteor toward red Aldebaran clouded in the Hyades, with further orders for Mars. Wonder seemed fulfilled but it was not to cease. Mighty Betelgeuse took from his quiver a golden bolt and sent it hurtling to high Jupiter. Bellatrix then hurled a shower meteor in glowing curve to Betelgeuse, with further orders for Castor and Pollux.

Then Jupiter sent a brilliant globe in slow flame upward to the zenith and another quickly to far spread Orion. Then all the worlds of major glory assembled in complete stellar jubilation, rising Sirius, Mars wandering luridly, glittering Jupiter on high, red Aldebaran, ringed Saturn, royal Rigel, and the watcher of the skies shaded his eyes for the ancient of first days, the God of creation, the voice that worked in darkness and made light, was verily present in beauty, glory, life eternal, and wonders indescribable.

ASKS FACTS ON RECREATION.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Our organization will be present on Nov. 18 at the Chicago Recreation conference, Hotel Sherman. "Recreation on the Military Front" will be the theme of our committee. Naturally I shall be glad to present the facts stated by your correspondent who wrote the letter, "Moral Meddlers." We would appreciate letters from soldiers, sailors, marines, and air service, giving the true picture of their recreational needs, and if they are satisfied. We of the VFW assure them we will fight for their best interests.

AN EFFECTIVE CARTOON.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—We were touched and edified by McCutcheon's splendid cartoon on the first page of today's paper. Congratulations to the artist for the beauty and timeliness of his creation.

MRS. E. C. BURCH.

[Numerous other letters were received Monday and yesterday commending Mr. McCutcheon's Sunday cartoon on the uninvited Prince of Peace.]

WORRIED ABOUT DISUNITY.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Your paper is doing everything possible to create disunity.

If Hitler wins, our gold and wealth will absolutely have little value. America cannot compete with slave labor. We will become a third rate power. The situation is unhealthy. D. WILSON.

ACHIEVEMENT AT A CAMP.

Camp Croft, S. C., Oct. 26.—Last April work was started on the soldiers' library at Camp Croft. Starting from scratch a librarian was appointed and the war department appropriated $6,000 to equip and supply a camp library.

At present more than 4,000 books are available for circulation. These include mysteries and westerns, a large supply of the classics, books that have been popular for many years, and most of the current best in both fiction and nonfiction.

In addition—and primarily for the boys away from home—the library receives 13 newspapers daily. These include the Spartanburg Herald, The State, Atlanta Journal, Baltimore News-Post, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Christian Science Monitor, Washington Post, Philadelphia Inquirer, and New York Times. Plenty of magazines are also supplied.

Three weeks ago hospital service for the boys in uniform was started and now every Tuesday and Thursday books and magazines are brought to soldiers in bed to read. PVT. JULIUS FICHTER.

ICKES IN THE WARS.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—I note that in a speech delivered last Monday in Chicago Secretary of the Interior "Howling Harold" Ickes demands a congressional investigation of the America First committee.

What about Ickes' war record? In 1897 Ickes, at the age of 23, graduated from university. Did he enlist for the Spanish-American war that was then in progress? O, no. He accepted a job as reporter on a Chicago newspaper.

In April, 1918, at the ripe old age of 44 he enlisted in the YMCA and served in France as a secretary helping us veterans win the war with the famous "chocolate barrage" which all veterans of the AEF are familiar with. With such a record in defense of Old Glory it behooves Mr. Ickes to keep his big mouth shut on such a subject as patriotism. L. W. J.

BUSES' SMELLY FUMES.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—I have lived in Chicago all my life and have taken particular delight in our boulevards and parks which are known the world over for their beauty and cleanliness. Our park engineers must spend a tremendous amount of time and money to keep our parks beautiful. But I cannot understand why they permit the buses to travel thru the parks with smelly fumes emanating from their motors.

I understand they use Diesel engines and a cheap fuel oil for power and this certainly shouldn't be permitted if it is the idea of our park commissioners to keep our parks free from obnoxious odors. L. A. SEFFREN.

HIDDEN DISBURSEMENTS.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—If it is a fact that the officers of some of the moving picture corporations have paid large sums of money to Browne and Bioff, as printed in the various newspapers, and then said officers reported these disbursements as legitimate business expenses, why didn't the public accountants who audited the records of the moving picture corporations detect such misrepresentations.

C. P. A.'s, please answer.

Milk Mixture for Stomach Ulcer Pains

A recent medical discovery now being used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcers caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lurin from their druggist. Lurin contains this new discovery in its purest form. Easy to take. Just mix two teaspoonfuls in a half glass of milk. Costs but little. Try a bottle, it must satisfy or money refunded. BIT STRAINED, BUT WINDSORS LUNCH AT WHITE HOUSE

Mrs. Roosevelt Flies Away on Early Plane.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—White House hospitality finally met up with the duke and the duchess of Windsor, the world's most famous lovebirds, today at one of the strangest luncheons the executive mansion ever has known.

Missing at the luncheon table were the hostess of the White House, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the nearest capital relative of the duchess, Mrs. D. Buchanan [Aunt Bessie] Merryman, and the Windsors' best American friends, Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Rogers of New York.

Mrs. Roosevelt skipped out of the White House to take a plane at 11:40 a. m. to fill a Chicago speaking engagement, contracted for six months ago.

Two Later Planes Available.

Mrs. Roosevelt might have attended the luncheon and taken either of two later planes, which would have permitted her to lunch with the Windsors and still keep her lecture engagement.

Before Mrs. Roosevelt left, however, the duchess tracked her down for a brief visit in Mrs. Roosevelt's headquarters at the office of Civilian defense. The duchess and Mrs. Roosevelt shook hands repeatedly for the benefit of photographers. Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, wife of the treasury secretary, looked on.

Mrs. Roosevelt and the duchess motored back to the White House, where the duke was waiting for them. Mrs. Roosevelt then departed for her plane and the Windsors left for the British embassy to prepare for the luncheon engagement.

Waiting at Phone, Says Friend.

Aunt Bessie wasn't at the luncheon for the reason that she hadn't been invited. At the White House it was said the plan had been to invite her, but that she could not be reached in time. This explanation brought a contemptuous sniff from a friend, who reported Aunt Bessie was at her telephone with a ready "yes" on her lips, prepared to sail to the White House luncheon in yards of silk, purchased in expectation of an invitation.

The White House reported that Mr. and Mrs. Rogers, in whose French château the duke married the American woman for whom he gave up the British throne, were unable to keep the luncheon engagement.

Duke's Secretary Attends.

An odd collection of guests assembled at the luncheon. Americans attending, in addition to the President, were Capt. and Mrs. James Roosevelt, eldest son of the President and his latest daughter-in-law; Maj. Gen. Edwin M. Watson, White House secretary and military aide, Capt. John Beardall, the White House naval aid, and Mrs. Beardall; James C. Dunn, adviser on political relations to the secretary of state; Ray Atherton of the state department and Mrs. Atherton; George Summerlin, chief of protocol for the state department, and Mrs. George Barnett, distant cousin of the duchess.

The lone British guest, in addition to the guests of honor, was Maj. E. G. M. Phillips, the duke's secretary. No one from the British embassy was present.

The luncheon originally was scheduled for Sept. 25 but was postponed because of the fatal illness of G. Hall Roosevelt, brother of the President's wife. After more than a month of delays today's luncheon was announced suddenly yesterday.

After the luncheon, which one of those present described as "a bit on the stiff side," the duke and the duchess left for New York. They plan to return Saturday to Nassau, where the duke will resume his duties as governor of the Bahamas.

(Story in adjoining column.)

The duke of Windsor pauses to call out to an acquaintance as he and the duchess arrive at the White House in Washington to be luncheon guests of President Roosevelt.

VISIT OF DUCHESS BLASTED AS SAD WASTE OF MONEY

St. Albans, Vt., Oct. 28 (AP).—Describing the duchess of Windsor's American visit as a "luxurious pleasure trip" and "a sad waste of ammunition money," William Loeb, publisher of the St. Albans Messenger, suggested today she cut the trip short and devote her time to war work.

"Your extravagant behavior," he wired the duchess, "compares most unfavorably with the pitifully gallant sacrifices of the plain British people and the quiet, self-effacing war services of the British royal family."

Loeb criticized the reported purchases by the duchess of dresses costing between $245 and $650 and hats at $35 and $40.

MRS. ROOSEVELT OUTLINES PLAN FOR 'NEW ORDER'

"Americans must face the fact that democracy is building toward a new order and one that must give hope to all peoples of the world."

This statement was made last night by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the President, before 1,800 persons in Orchestra hall. Mrs. Roosevelt spoke for a fee of $1,000 at a rally sponsored by the Chicago Civil Liberties committee in observance of Chicago Civil Liberties day, officially proclaimed for the occasion by Mayor Kelly.

Upon her arrival at Orchestra hall Mrs. Roosevelt had to break thru a circle of approximately 50 women pickets, representatives of We, the Mothers, Mobilize for America and the Citizens Keep America Out of War committee.

Signs Chide Speaker.

The women, with determined faces and steady tread, carried signs which read, "You Can't Pull English Wool Over Our Eyes," "Eleanor, Our Sons Are Like Your Johnny, They Don't Want to Kill," and "Our Flag Is the Stars and Stripes, Not the Hammer and Sickle or the Union Jack."

Mrs. Roosevelt's response to this welcome was her opening statements: "In these days when we are living thru a great emergency it is quite natural that we should be fearful of our civil liberties, fearful that because of some other necessities we will lose them. I don't think any of us here tonight need worry as yet about their real loss. There are very few people in this country who do not speak their minds and very few who are not doing what they want to stress their point of view."

As the basis of her talk Mrs. Roosevelt defined the four freedoms outlined by the President: Freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom from want, and freedom from fear.

A New World Economy.

"Freedom from want, translated into world terms, means a world economy," she said. "That is, of course, a simplification that is going to require from all people in the world a great deal of intelligence. We must realize that with that right go the responsibilities of all peoples of the world, a responsibility to see that the things people require are accessible to all nations.

"I don't think that even in peacetime we are going to be without real problems and emergencies. As the one great democracy of the world, we have to show that we are able to meet problems as well as any other nation. We must realize that the world we are going to live in is not the kind of world we lived in before. Americans must face the fact that democracy is building toward a new order and one that must give hope to all peoples of the world."

FORT SILL PROUD OF ITS WELL KEPT DRAFTEE CENTER

Over 20,000 Handled in About 9 Months.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fort Sill, Okla., Oct. 28.—The reception center here is the pride of the big artillery reservation. Its bright green lawns, bordered with small bushes and evergreens, give it the appearance of an oasis in the desert.

Much of the landscaping was done by conscripts and recruits who pass thru the center, Brig. Gen. George R. Allen, commandant, having decided they should have something to do while at the center. The boys take great pride in their accomplishments and each group tries to add something to the scene.

Many of the new arrivals have been so surprised by the beauty of the place that their blues were temporarily banished. Their morale also remains higher while living in surroundings like this reception center.

Facilities for Recreation.

The buildings, about 250 in all, include a theater, a recreation house, large men's hall, small officers' club for staff, chapel not yet completed, tennis courts and facilities for volley ball and various other amusements. The buildings are the conventional semipermanent army structures, mostly of two stories, and painted cream with brown roofs.

The operation of the center is typical of such assembly points. When a conscript's number is called, his local draft board notifies him to report to the state induction station. There he is given a final physical examination. If he passes he is officially inducted and required to take the oath of allegiance, thereby becoming a soldier in the United States army.

From the induction station he is sent to a reception center, traveling usually with a small group on vouchers issued by the induction station. The induction station official notifies the commandant of the reception center the number of men on the way and the time of their arrival. The newcomers are met with transportation facilities, regardless of the hour, and taken to the reception center grounds.

Examined for Disease.

Their first stop is the infirmary, where they are given a brief physical examination for possible contagious diseases. Then they are taken to the mess hall for a hot meal, no matter the time.

If it is night, the men are taken from the mess hall to the barracks, where they are assigned a spring cot in squad rooms and given a mattress, blankets, sheets, pillow and pillow cases. The staff men who have been acting as guides show them how to make a bed.

Next morning, immediately after breakfast, the processing begins. If conscripts arrive during the day, this procedure starts directly after they have eaten. The first step is a general army classification test or I. Q.

Next, the men's classification and qualification cards are filled out. These are cards about 8 by 10 inches bearing a complete record of each conscript since birth. They are kept at headquarters and sent with the soldiers wherever they go in service. When they return to civil life the cards are sent to Washington where they are kept as permanent records.

Get Inoculations.

The new soldiers are given uniforms and other wearing apparel and then are inocculated against typhoid, small pox, lock jaw, and, if facilities at the infirmary permit, their blood type is recorded.

Next comes the viewing of motion pictures which give advice on first aid, venereal diseases and prevention treatment, and military courtesy. The articles of war also are read to them at this time.

Basic training in such subjects as saluting, school of the soldier and squad work is done by staff instructors from the time of the conscripts' arrival until they leave the reception center for training centers.

The camp staff consists of one regimental officer, who is in command, 38 reserve officer assistants, and 242 enlisted men. The latter are 85 per cent trainees who have finished training center work. The others are regular army men on detached service.

The Fort Sill reception center has facilities for handling 1,000 men a day but usually gets about 400. Since it started operating last Jan. 3 until midnight, Oct. 11, a total of 19,000 conscripts and 1,235 recruits have passed thru the center.

Former Convict Seized; Impersonated Officers

Marvin Levisohn, wanted in Chicago on suspicion of impersonating army officers and passing bogus checks, has been arrested in Kansas City, Mo., Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan, chief of the Chicago office of the secret service, said yesterday. Capt. Callaghan said Levisohn often posed as a lieutenant colonel, and cashed bogus checks in 15 cities. Levisohn is 41 years old and an ex-convict, the federal officer said.

U. S. DEMOCRACY IS SWEPT AWAY, DURANT INSISTS

Believes Roosevelt May Seek Fourth Term.

Will Durant.

Congress belongs to the President today, the Supreme court belongs to the President, and the same thing has come to this country that has come to dictator countries in Europe—state capitalism. This generation will not see the return of democracy.

Will Durant, philosopher and author of the best seller "The Story of Philosophy," made that statement yesterday in a speech at the Chicago Rotary club luncheon in Hotel Sherman.

Durant drew his first applause when he said:

"I'm still betting on the British aristocracy. In the long run it will win the war—with a minimum of expense—to Great Britain."

The only chance of an early revolution from governmental control of capital, which he described as the basis for dictatorship, lies in an early peace, he said.

"The only possibility of an early peace," Durant said, "lies in acceptance by Great Britain of terms I believe Hess delivered, namely, that Germany be allowed to conquer Russia and take the Ukraine and that Germany would withdraw from the Scandinavian countries and occupied countries of Europe and England retain its fleet.

"On such terms a peace might be made.

"It might be wise for our government not to commit itself until it knows if such a bargain was made."

Ideal Abandoned, He Says.

Durant said American policy has changed from the idea of this country being an island of refuge.

"We have transformed the American dream into a dream of permanent Anglo-Saxon domination of the world—usually called the 'freedom of the seas,'" he said.

"Just as England has intervened periodically in continental affairs to keep itself secure, so have we made up our minds to put down any nation that threatens our comfort.

"That is perfectly all right—it will mean that you will have permanent conscription, that soldiers must be idealized and that we must have more statues of generals—if we can find the generals.

Notes Vanishing Freedom.

"The present change is so tremendous," Durant said, "that we are building a nation that the founders of our republic could not possibly recognize.

"It may be we are living the last year in the history of democracy. It becomes clear we cannot fight a war by democratic means. We of this generation may never see again the right of free speech, press, and assemblage we have enjoyed.

"When the war is over we will have to keep a dictator because of the resulting depression.

"If we are in the war by next summer, and I believe we will be, we probably will reëlect President Roosevelt to keep from changing in the middle of the stream and we will have him for 16 years—longer than Germany has had Hitler."

Durant concluded by saying that state capitalism can substitute for the profit motive, which he described as the underlying basis of freedom and democracy, only in war and crises.

U. S. WILL TAKE MILK DISPUTE TO SUPREME COURT

The ruling of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals Monday that the Wrightwood Dairy company, 2942 North Ashland avenue, need not submit to federal marketing regulations will be appealed to the Supreme court, A. W. Colebank, federal milk market administrator in Chicago, announced yesterday.

The company contends that its business is entirely within Illinois and that therefore it is not subject to marketing regulations embracing interstate commerce. The department of agriculture tried to force the company out of business last year because it failed to furnish the department monthly reports.

On Oct. 29, 1940, Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward ruled the company need not submit to federal regulation. His decision was upheld by the Circuit Court of Appeals.

A dozen other dairies which buy and sell milk entirely in Illinois had not decided yesterday whether they would follow the Wrightwood company's example. The other milk dealers are in interstate commerce and are not affected by this case.

KEOKUK SALESMAN DIES.

Keokuk, Ia., Oct. 28 [Special].—C. O. Hamilton, 59 years old, a salesman, died last night of a heart attack.

BILLY RANIERI'S BROTHER ENTERS NAVAL SERVICE

Christopher R. Ranieri, 22 years old, 4901 Altgeld street, a brother of Billy Ranieri, victim in a sensational kidnaping case in 1928, yesterday took the oath of a naval recruit. Billy Ranieri, who is now 23, joined the army last March.

Two brothers were sworn in apprentice seamen, with the intention of studying electrical engineering and making the navy their career. John F. McKeighan, who reached the minimum age of 17 a few days ago, said he had been wanting to join the navy since he was 14. His brother, James, 19, said he waited so they could be shipmates together.

Betty couldn't believe it when I said... DINNER'S READY!

"Here we were just getting home at 5:15—and we promised the men folks we'd have dinner ready at 6 o'clock. Betty was sure it couldn't be done. But I insisted it could."

"As fast as we prepared the food I put it on the electric range. First potatoes, then the beans, the steak, the pudding and finally at 10 minutes to 6 the biscuits went into the oven."

"Just as we finished setting the table, Dom and Paul came walking in. Betty thought we had failed. But when she turned to say 'I told you so', I shouted 'Dinner's ready!'"

"Well, dinner was on the table at 6 sharp, and Betty was the most surprised person you ever saw. Even to this day, she can't get over the speed of electric cooking."

An electric range cooks food as fast as food can be cooked

Yes, today's electric ranges are marvels for speed. The efficient electric units, accurate temperature control and complete oven insulation on sides, top and bottom, direct every bit of intense heat right into the foods. They start to cook quickly and continue to cook as fast as foods can be cooked properly.

You'll find, too, that electric range cooking is easier, cleaner, and remarkably low in cost. It's the up-to-date cooking method.

FREE INSTALLATION—in any 1, 2 or 3-family entirely residential building in Chicago now using Edison Service.

FREE SERVICE—in Chicago all operating parts of electric ranges are serviced without charge to the customer.

WHEN BAILIFFS DANCE LAWYERS PAY FIDDLERS

Each Court Attache Has 20 Tickets to Sell.

Municipal court bailiffs are going to frolic Friday night. Their Bailiffs Benevolent association will give its annual ball in Hotel Sherman. Tickets are 55 cents, including tax.

The bailiffs and their wives and sweethearts will be very happy at their party. But, according to the moans issued by many lawyers yesterday, certain barristers will not be happy. They will sit at home Friday night poorer men because of the bailiffs' ball.

The story, as told by the lawyers yesterday, is that the annual bailiffs' party always has been a headache to them. They say every bailiff gets 20 tickets and he pushes most of them off on the lawyers who appear in the bailiffs' office asking for service of writs and what not.

Lawyers Tracked Down.

This year, the lawyers say, new methods have been used. Where formerly the bailiffs waited in the courtrooms and the bailiffs' office to snare the unwary lawyers, teams of canvassers are pursuing their quarry in the lawyers' offices.

"And," said one of the lawyers yesterday, "if a lawyer's office isn't sacred—what is?"

"The association is 25 years old," he said. "Each year it gives a party and tickets are sold to raise about $1,500 for benevolent purposes.

Tells Aid to Poor.

"Most of the money is used to aid poor families whom the bailiffs are ordered to evict. If a bailiff sees that $10 will get an evicted family shelter and food he goes to the fund for the money.

"Some of the money is used for flowers and other funeral purposes for bailiffs' families. The fund is audited each year."

Horan said he had stopped the practice of selling tickets in the courtrooms.

"That is no place for ticket selling," he added. "And if the boys are going to lawyers' offices they are doing it on their initiative. I do not approve of such methods."

DETROIT HOUSING BIDS REJECTION BLAMED ON OPM

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28 (AP).—Col. Lawrence Westbrook, special assistant to the federal works administrator, testified today he had recommended rejection of all bids on a Wayne county, Michigan, defense housing project because the Office of Production Management opposed award of the contract to the low bidder.

Westbrook told the senate defense investigating committee his recommendation, to John Carmody, FWA chief, was based solely on a contention by the OPM that award of the contract to the P. J. Currier Lumber company of Detroit would "adversely affect the defense program as a whole."

Currier previously testified that there was no question about the ability of his company to carry out the contract, despite statements that AFL teamsters might refuse to haul materials for the job. Currier employs CIO labor.

FIND BODIES OF 12 NEGROES IN FIRE IN NEW JERSEY

Montclair, N. J., Oct. 28 (AP).—The bodies of 12 Negroes, nine of them children, were found tonight in the charred ruins of a two and a half story frame building at 4 Walnut place, and Coroner George W. Olcott Jr. said, "We are still hunting for bodies."

Most of the victims, the coroner added, had been tentatively identified as members of the Boggs family, who moved here recently from the south.

Park Policemen Put Away Their Summer Uniforms

Chicago Park district police today will put their summer uniforms in moth balls and don fall outfits. This afternoon Police Chief Roger F. Shanahan will hold uniform inspection of the central and south section police in Soldiers' field. Members of the north section will be inspected tomorrow and west section inspection will be held Friday.

Vincent Astor's Condition Is Reported Satisfactory

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—Vincent Astor, 49, financier and sportsman, was reported in a satisfactory condition today following a major intestinal operation last Tuesday.

WARNS OF PERIL TO HOME WORSE THAN WAR BOMB

Harry K. Rogers.

Feminine visitors to the homemakers' conference and exposition in Hotel Sherman jump in dismay when a sheet of fire leaps from a small booth. Behind the smoke and flame stands its creator, Harry K. [Smoky] Rogers, honorary chief of the Chicago fire department. To all who approach he explains that he just has ignited a small part of a magnesium incendiary bomb.

"Every one in America is worried about these bombs in Great Britain," he says. "But there is tremendous apathy in this country to the bombs falling here all the time."

America's bombs, he explains, are 25 causes of fires in the home ranging from hot ashes to defective wiring and rubbish. Because of these the American people burn as much property in five years, Rogers says, as has been destroyed in Great Britain since the war started.

JEAN THOMPSON OWES $500,000; HAS NO ASSETS

Mrs. Jean Thompson, a Chicago horsewoman nationally known around the horse show circuit, declared yesterday before Martin Ward, federal referee in bankruptcy, that she has no assets to meet nearly $500,000 in liabilities.

Mrs. Thompson testified at a hearing to discover what properties, if any, she possesses. She was examined by Arthur C. Wick, trustee appointed by the referee. Mrs. Thompson filed a bankruptcy petition last July 31.

Mrs. Thompson testified that she has not owned jewelry in more than 10 years, and that she sold her mink coat long ago. She said that most of her liabilities occurred after the 1929 crash, when she and he husband, A. C. Thompson, lost heavily in real estate.

HOTEL CLERK ROBBED.

A lone gunman took $165 last night from Joseph Furlong, night clerk of the Maryland hotel, 900 North Wabash avenue. Police said the same man got $270 last Friday from the same hotel.

FALSE TEETH BROKE UP A TRUE ROMANCE

But Everything's Rosy Now

Showered her with gifts and kisses.
Mrs. H. loved Herbert too;
But his kisses were taboo!

1. Why? Herb's FALSE TEETH were a "sight"
Though he brushed them every night.
The "aroma" they effused
Really couldn't be excused!

2. Said his dentist: "Try a can
Of this POLIDENT, young man;
It soaks your plates clean, sweet and pure;
And stops vile 'Denture Breath' for sure."

3. Herbert did; and now no strife
Darkens his domestic life.
MORAL: POLIDENT'S just right
To keep your plates, and romance, bright.

Cleans, Purifies Without Brushing
Do this every day: Add a little POLIDENT Powder to half a glass of water. Stir. Put in plate or bridge 10 to 15 minutes. Rinse, and it's ready to use.

Dallas Rust, Chicago

Sept. 29th. Your sign of the Zodiac is Libra; your ruling planet is Venus. If you can control a tendency to evade your duties and obligations if they do not happen to suit your tastes, there is no reason why you should not be most successful. You have a sensible and balanced point of view, as a general rule, and are adept at handling the general public. While you are ambitious, you manage to be rather charming and gracious about it, and are impersonal and friendly.

Grace B. Burdick, Fayette, Ia.

Mar. 23rd. You were born under the sign of Aries; your ruling planet is Mars. While you probably are outspoken and apt to be self-willed, you have no pettiness or smallness in your nature. You are an intense and ardent person, probably happiest when hard at work and making active progress. Seldom daunted, once you have made a decision, you are capable of giving your best forces to any task you accept.

Rudy Pasterella, Chicago

Oct. 26th. Your sign of the Zodiac is Scorpio; your ruling planet is Mars. You are a thoughtful person, with a tendency to be contemplative and serious. You have natural abilities as a leader, energy, and a capability for hard work, and are deeply sensitive. Intensely strong-willed, you must learn to control your emotions and avoid brooding; self-control is important to persons of your sign.

Sally Davis, Richland Center, Wis.

Jan. 24th. You were born under the sign of Aquarius; your ruling planet, or birth star, is Uranus. You are probably an intellectual person, with strong convictions and the courage to stand up for them. Capable of great concentration, you are hard working and generous in helping others, but you are at your best when making your own decisions and following your own plans. You have a refined nature, and are a good mixer, but must avoid a tendency to be too independent and rather changeable.

William F. Chana, Berwyn, Ill.

Apr. 14th. You were born under the sign of Aries; your ruling planet, or birth star, is Mars. You are an outspoken person, well-fitted for executive work. Able to give intense concentration to any project which interests you, you have courage and enthusiasm. You must guard against letting small irritations smoulder, and a tendency to be completely self-willed when your enthusiasms are aroused.

June Markert, Chicago

June 13th. Your sign of the Zodiac is Gemini; your ruling planet is Mercury. You are probably an opportunist by nature, and are easily adaptable and interested in a wide variety of things. Your disposition is a cheerful and happy one, and you are gifted with an ability to express yourself well and forcefully, although tactfully. Because you make friends and achieve happiness with little trouble, you must guard against being diffusive and overly versatile.

Robert J. Weideman, Garrett, Ind.

Oct. 6th. Your sign of the Zodiac is Libra; your ruling planet is Venus. You are a friendly and sociable person; but endeavor at all times to keep a balanced viewpoint. Endowed with ambition, you are pleasant and gracious but cannot be imposed upon by anyone. You possess artistic capabilities but must guard against a tendency to be discontented and easily upset by anything distasteful to you.

Mrs. E. J. Neece, Chicago

Sept. 27th. You were born under the sign of Libra; your ruling plant is Venus. You have a gracious and pleasant personality and are generally charming in your contacts with others. You have a strong sense of fair play and natural abilities as a leader, since you are innately diplomatic and tactful. You are not easily fooled by others, and no one can impose upon you, but you are peaceful and well-balanced by nature. Guard against a tendency to avoid anything which is not to your liking even when it is important.

Edward R. Woodward, Mason City, Ia.

Sept. 6th. You were born under the sign of Virgo, your ruling planet is Mercury. You have selected an excellent vocation, since many persons of your sign have succeeded in that line. You are thoughtful and analytical, and are generally serious. Neatness and cleanliness are outstanding characteristics, but you must guard against a tendency to judge others who are neither as discriminating nor as exacting as you are.

Gloria Messinee, Chicago

July 24th. Your planetary ruler is the Sun; your sign of the Zodiac is Leo, symbolized by the lion. You are well equipped for the work you have selected, since persons born under your sign are magnetic and able to influence others easily. Gifted with intuition and the ability to lead, you are also generous and kindly. Because you have many friends and admirers, you must guard against a tendency to dominate.

Billie N. Benson, Granville, Ill.

Sept. 26th. Your sign of the Zodiac is Libra; your ruling planet is Venus. You are a capable and probably artistic person, with an appreciation of the material things of life. You are inclined to be idealistic, and are gifted with poise and affability. Fair-minded and honorable, you are also ambitious, and are not inclined to give ground where your principles or wishes are concerned. Guard against restlessness and discontent.

Marcella Lewis, Chicago

May 26th. You were born under the sign of Gemini, your ruling planet is Mercury. You are an alert and affable person, with a pleasant and impersonal manner, which fits you well for dealing with the public. You have a cheerful disposition and a variety of interests. Resourceful and capable, you have good powers of expression. However, these pleasing tendencies may lead you to follow the path of least resistance, and be too easy-going.

Joseph A. Zale, Hixton, Wis.

April 30th. You were born under the sign of Taurus; your ruling planet is Venus. With the exception of a slowly provoked but violent temper, you have a rather placid and pleasant disposition. If you can control that quality, which may make you stubborn and headstrong, you are well-fitted for success, since you are strong and determined, able to work consistently and progressively toward your goal. You are probably most trustworthy and dependable.

Mrs. K. L. Schenet, Elgin, Ill.

Mar. 17th. You were born under the sign of Pisces; your ruling planet is Neptune. You are probably a very popular person and an excellent and pliable companion. You are inclined to be idealistic, and are a most sympathetic and loyal friend. However, you must guard against a tendency to be indecisive and impractical. Learn to conserve your energies; don't be too self-sacrificing.

Ruth A. Peinteur, Chicago

Nov. 1st. You were born under the sign of Scorpio; your planetary ruler, or birth star, is Mars. You have a very strong will and are apt to be intense in all you do. An excellent judge of people, you seldom forget either a kindness or a disservice, and are likely to repay in kind. You are hard-working, rather proud, and generally most reserved with others. You can probably achieve your desires in this world, but must learn to control your feelings, and avoid a tendency to be jealous.

Nancy Farr, Sturgis, Mich.

Feb. 8th. You were born under the sign of Aquarius; your ruling planet is Uranus. You are probably a contradictory and complex person, varying between intensity and impersonality. You are a hard worker, and helping others is enjoyable and instinctive with you. You are well able to protect your own interests, however, but must guard against a tendency to be independent and, at times, most obstinate.

Richard Stageman, Chicago

Nov. 16th. You were born under the sign of Scorpio; your ruling planet is Mars. You have natural abilities as a leader, and a great deal of energy and determination. You are inclined to be intense, and surprisingly and deeply sensitive. You are honorable and substantial as a rule, and proud and expressive. However, you must learn to control your emotions; learn to forget and to forgive.

Mary Cullings, Elmwood, Ill.

Dec. 17th. You were born under the sign of Sagittarius; your ruling planet is Jupiter. You are a happy and a vital person, able to enjoy everything and make the best of any situation. Your disposition helps you to make friends easily, and your tact and kindness aid you in keeping them. You are well fitted for work which calls for dealing with the general public, but must guard against a tendency to lack ambition and be too easy-going.

Toribio Pulido, Chicago

Apr. 15th. Your sign of the Zodiac is Aries; your ruling planet is Mars. You are probably dexterous and energetic, and active and enthusiastic in your approach to all phases of your life. Daring, at times, you are generally self-assured, and unafraid to tackle problems which confront you. You must guard against a tendency to be too impulsive and to act too quickly, without pausing for sufficient thought.

Jean Madison, South Bend, Ind.

Oct. 29th. Your sign of of the Zodiac is Scorpio; your planetary ruler, or birth star, is Mars. You are inclined to be conservative and retiring, and stable and well-balanced in all things. You probably have a good sense of humor, and enjoy luxuries of all kinds. Domesticity can be enjoyable to you, or you can be equally successful in work which requires patience and an ability for detail. However, guard against obstinacy and a tendency to be unforgiving and resentful.

"The Fighting Littles" Is Booth Tarkington at His Humorous Best.

BOOKS

Humor Is Rich in Tarkington's Tale of Family

"The Fighting Littles," by Booth Tarkington. [Doubleday-Doran, $2.]

Rx. "The Fighting Littles" is a prescription—a certain, sure antidote to those black thoughts that hover around your consciousness and jab at the few stray bubbles of joy that come your way in this sad world. It is Booth Tarkington in his very best form, the way he was in the days of Penrod, and Herman and Verman, and of "Seventeen."

The Littles consist of Ripley, the father, who never entirely leashes his temper because he never exactly gets a chance, and Mrs. Little, who is a buffer between him and 17 year old Goody and 14 year old Filmer. Goody's genius at irritating her father is rather as an agent than as the original prod, for it is her suitors who rasp his spirit, the slam-banging Ham Ellers in particular, with her father's favorite Norman Peel [to his own sorrow] as an interlude.

Filmer is the household darling until love comes into his life and little Antoinette Fry begins to make a man and a sap of him. But it is Goody's dear little schoolmate from the south, who calls him "Dadda Little" and sits on his lap, who proves more than even Ripley Little's ample vocabulary can cope with.

Mr. Tarkington has made the Littles deliciously real, as real as taxes. It is so funny that if there were a tax on laughter "The Fighting Littles" would bankrupt you.

Does New Novel

A Victorian Lady Meets Life in Novel Laid in West Indies

"The Golden Violet," by Joseph Shearing [Smith & Durrell, $2] is an absorbing "story of a lady novelist" of Victorian England who writes about romance but knows little of real life until she is married to a Jamaica planter who wants only her money. Life on his lonely plantation leads to infidelities which end in tragedy during a bloody uprising of native slaves. It is a gloomy, brooding story of tropical villainy and a vivid picture of West Indian life in 1860.

Joseph Shearing's "Forget-Me-Not," published in this country in 1932 as "Lucile Clery: A Woman of Intrigue," has been republished in 1941 as "The Strange Case of Lucile Clery" [Harpers, $2]. It tells a fictionized version of a famous French crime, which also was the base of the plot of "All This, and Heaven Too," by Rachel Field.

Life of Famed Doctor Makes Alluring Story

"William Henry Welch and the Heroic Age of American Medicine," by Simon Flexner and James Thomas Flexner. [Viking, $3.75.]

"Fatal Partners—War and Disease," by Ralph H. Major, M. D. [Doubleday-Doran, $3.50.]

BY DR. IRVING S. CUTTER.

Dr. Flexner and his son portray the life of a physician who has guided and molded the lives of more young scientists than any one of his generation.

William Henry Welch, the son of a country doctor, had been thoroly vaccinated against the art of healing. Fortunately, his alma mater [Yale] did not see fit to award him a coveted fellowship in Greek. His final determination to enter the medical profession followed the line of least resistance. But it gave us our foremost bacteriologist, our most stimulating teacher. Welch established scientific journals, aided in the development of the Rockefeller institute, and—after Osler went to Oxford—became the guiding spirit of Johns Hopkins.

The story of Welch's life is a fascinating one, unusually well told. He will live long in the memory of those who glimpse his personality thru this intriguing chronicle. Scientist, teacher, humanitarian, public health expert, builder of libraries and of laboratories, he was responsible for countless advances in medical practice. Dilatory—always putting off unwelcome tasks—he nevertheless contributed more to American science than any one in his sphere.

Our authors have accomplished their task with workmanlike accuracy. They were given an ideal subject.

Anything from the pen of Dr. Ralph Major will be welcomed by a large host of lay and professional readers. In his tale of the partnership of war and disease, he begins with the Greeks and the Romans, tracing the influence of epidemics upon the ebb and flow of the fortunes of belligerent nations.

In like fashion, he points out clearly the great advances made in military hygiene which followed the Franco-Prussian hostilities. While weapons of destruction have been made more frightful, the beneficent rôle of the physician and the surgeon has become more powerful. Even in the midst of violent conflict, soldiers may be protected against typhoid, bubonic plague, and Asiatic cholera.

Dr. Major possesses an easy, fluent style and the volume will provide an evening's entertainment with a generous amount of vital information.

Authors Meet

Gunther Takes Reader 'Inside Latin America'

"Inside Latin America," by John Gunther. [Harpers, $3.50.] Published today. Dual choice of the Book of the Month club.

"Young Man of Caracas," by T. R. Ybarra. [Washburn, $3.] To be published tomorrow. Dual choice of the Book of the Month club.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

Eventually to take its place beside his fascinating "Inside Europe" and "Inside Asia," but in the meantime having a more vital and immediate interest to the reader, is John Gunther's "Inside Latin America."

"The future of the United States is indissolubly bound to that of Latin America. We need Latin America as much as it needs us," are the words with which he closes the book. They are words practically taken out of any reader's mouth by the time he has finished this extremely illuminating book, which is practically an X-ray of our good neighbors.

Using the same method as in the Europe and Asia volumes, John Gunther tells his readers exactly what they want to know about the countries from Mexico to the Strait of Magellan which he includes in his title. "Latin America," he says in the first sentence of his first chapter, is merely a working phrase, for "Latin America" doesn't exist. "What does exist," he writes, "are 20 independent and highly individual countries which differ from one another strikingly."

Those individualities—political, social, economic, and geographical—he makes vivid and memorable as he takes his readers thru the 20 countries. He visualizes each country's interrelated geography, people, government, and social and economic problems. We see into the minds of the people and of the state. We meet the president [the two presidents in the case of Argentina] or the dictators. We are told how each country feels about the United States as well as about Germany, Italy, and Japan.

Mr. Gunther has a genius for knowing what is vital and for sparse description and interpretation. He never wastes a word in fine writing or purple phrases, and he never wastes space on irrelevancies. "Inside Latin America" is rich with information and understanding. It is as timely as a news dispatch and at the same time a contemporary historical record for the future. A chart in the middle of the book and an annotated map in the front are for those who want a swift summing up.

Mr. Gunther offers a few concrete suggestions about our relations with Latin America in his chapter, "What to Do About It." "Relations between the United States and Latin America are better, closer than they have ever been before," he says, but they can still be improved diplomatically, economically, and culturally.

What it is really like to live—as a native, not as a visitor—in one of the "republics" which John Gunther so brilliantly X-rays in "Inside Latin America," is told by T. R. Ybarra in "Young Man of Caracas," a delightful, nostalgic record of his youth as the son of the right hand military man of one of Venezuela's most colorful dictators.

T. R. Ybarra, a widely known American newspaper correspondent, was half Ybarra-Venezuelan — and half Russell-Bostonian. His grandfather was American minister to the South American "republic" until he was too frank in a report to the state department about its current strong man and was forced to leave Caracas precipitously. Dashing young Gen. Ybarra, engaged to marry Nelly Russell, was the dictator's favorite as well as his nephew. But romance triumphed, and, after a fiery verbal battle, the young general escaped execution only by the hairs of his flowing moustachios as he sailed away with his loved one's family to be married—necessarily secretly as far as his own family was concerned.

For 41 years the romantic Ybarras lived sometimes in Boston, sometimes in Venezuela, according to the fluctuating native politics, always two totally different psychologies finding happy stimulation in each other. For 21 years of young Tom Ybarra's life it was also toss and go between his own inheritances, and altho it was New England which finally triumphed, Venezuela has taken on the sweet romance of a renounced but never forgotten love.

Mr. Ybarra writes of his youth and of the romantic violence of his father's intimacy with Venezuela's bombastic politics and of his own youthful excitements. He tells of the informality of the household, dominated by an imperturbable Cockney-Irish nurse, "Yessie" Sullivan, and presided over by the blustering but loving father, who never did learn to speak wholly comprehensible English and whose attempts give the book some of its most amusing moments.

INSTALMENT XLV.

TORTURE.

Estrella's gaze passed clean thru me. In speech suddenly harsh and guttural she muttered:

"Fool, fool that I was! Alixe herself would have served me better, yet I stood here and let her go!"

"How would she have served you?" I asked curiously. "Can't we get down to brass tacks just for a minute?"

That recalled her. She glanced at a little gilt clock, which said 5:30.

"I will allow you 10 minutes. No more."

I wanted to ask, what then? The cruel tightening of her mouth kept the question from being uttered. I moved farther off from the electric heater. It was burning my legs.

All this time I was trying desperately to think the situation out, to steer clear, if I could, from raising an outcry. Noise would probably prove futile and anyhow would land me in a most awkward fix. Studying the strange Slav features I was convinced I was dealing with an hysteric. The magenta spots now pulsing on the high cheekbones looked ominous. If control suddenly snapped——

"Eight minutes more," Estrella reminded.

I could put up a good fight. I looked at the straight-hanging arms in their close black sleeves, trying to estimate their power. It was now I noticed the tailor's knife on the table within reach of Estrella's hand. It was the sort used for ripping seams —razor sharp, ground to a point.

She mustn't catch me eying it. I made a half turn that brought me facing the inner door, over behind Estrella's back. It had been tightly closed. I'd never doubted it was locked. No sound came from beyond it, yet stealthily it moved.

My lips parted. One mystery had grown terrifyingly plain.

"Yes?" grated Estrella.

She was staring over me into the long mirror. It reflected the fractional opening I'd that second seen.

"So be it," she hissed with odd fatalism, and gliding swiftly forward gripped my two naked arms. "Quiet!" she commanded. "Stand still!"

I struggled, butting my head into her chest. A pink shoulder ribbon snapped, my lace bras slid its moorings. In the thick of the tussle I heard light, elastic steps cross the floor. I tore free and plunged headlong for the window.

"Help!"

My voice died to a gurgle. Even as I bit the warm hand that closed over my mouth a silk scarf was crammed between my teeth, and tugged in a tight knot behind my head.

In less than 30 seconds I was trussed up on one of the little hard, rush-bottomed chairs, my arms and ankles securely tied, but my hands left free. Over my choking gag I saw Raoul de Chabenil, breathing quickly and flinging back the dark lock that had trailed over his handsome forehead. He wasn't looking at me at all.

"Paper!" he rapped. "Give it here."

I was making good use of my hands. He seized them mechanically and tightened the scarf as Estrella, without speaking, placed a writing pad on my bound knees. Keeping firm hold of my fingers de Chabenil got out his fountain pen and uncapping it with his white, even teeth forced it into my unwilling grasp. I let it roll to the floor.

"None of that!" This time my fingers were clamped on the pen with a brutality that hurt. "Write!" he ordered. "Write what you know!"

The inside of my throat was like the Arizona desert. Balancing my pad I scrawled:

"I don't know anything. Is it good sense doing this to me?"

He took it in at a glance. "Pah! Out with it. Then you can be off."

"Swell," I scribbled. "And what happens to you two?"

"We'll chance that," he laughed raucously. "Even with Raoul de Chabenil, mon enfant, the measure will be condoned. Don't waste time over the name. It's your knowledge we want—how you obtained it—and when. All else we know."

"I've lots of knowledge. Which item do you mean."

The word he ripped isn't printable, but the fist I cowered from didn't fall. Above my muffled mouth I looked at Estrella. Her chest made quick movements with her breathing, but her eyes were the same as before —inscrutable, devoid of compassion.

My pen got going again. "How do I know you'll let me go?"

His head bent eagerly. "Ah, that!" he scoffed. "Are we imbeciles, Madame and I? Should we try to dispose of a body here, in the Rue de Sevres, watched by the police?"

The Rue de Sevres . . . I saw it, sun-filled, decent, law-abiding. Five minutes walk from those strongholds of respectability the Bon Marche and the Hotel Lutetia. Only 30 feet below these closely draped windows; but unguarded when I came in. It was unreachable as Broadway; and besides I could picture this French boy daring anything and getting away with it. His ridicule rang false. It brought cold sweat welling into the roots of my hair.

Estrella muttered, "It is quite certain—?"

"That she know? But naturally! Last night she let the rabbit out of the hat. One sees why she is sitting tight. O, I read her like a book, but till her admission is in writing that is no good. Here! Take hold."

Now it was Estrella who pinioned me, her pointed nails stabbing my bare flesh. Two cat strides had taken de Chabenil to the windows where he lifted an inch of curtain and looked thru and down. What he saw evidently satisfied him. He was back, but hesitating. Lifting the long electric flex that coiled, a purple snake, on the drab carpet. Hefting it in his palm.

"Yes!"

He twitched the red hot heater up close to my feet. I wriggled furiously—sent myself toppling into the mirror. He righted me and took a new haul at my knots.

Coolly he said, "It burns easily, that skin." He waited. My gauze stockings began to scorch. "Well?" he said impatiently. "You still have your pen."

I clutched what I held, but no words came from it. I'd just seen Estrella's face.

Till this moment its expression had been — how can I describe it? Dogged. Fanatical. Sure. There had come a change. The eye that challenged the man's febrile gaze showed an alien mistrust. As tho a person trained to another's will had wrenched aside an hypnotic veil to start at some horrifying reality.

What she saw communicated itself to me. The red hot calyx glared at my feet like some satanic eye, but seared skin seemed a mere symbol of soul-shriveling fear. I remembered how once before I'd heard Estrella saying with blasting conviction: "You lie."

She hadn't spoken, hadn't moved. Her arms remained at her sides, the hands plaster white and clinched against the dead black of her gown. De Chabenil noted her new tension and poised, arrested.

"What's this?" he snarled.

"No." It was a deep whisper. "It cannot go on."

Their eyes measured one another's. Some movement on Estrella's part must have escaped me, for, adder swift, De Chabenil's smooth fingers closed down on the little knife. His voice cracked on a shrill note:

"I see. So you, too, are a fool!"

He snicked the telephone cord, dropped the tailor's knife into his pocket. Estrella went on looking at him.

"You did," she breathed slowly. "You did . . ."

She was pushing blindly towards the windows; but my wild hope died. De Chabenil had sprung on her with a tiger's ferocity. One savage blow, and Estrella was laid out by the divan, a thin red rivulet running from her temple. He was upon me again. I saw the whites of his eyes, felt the needle point of the ugly little knife digging into my gullet.

"That will show you," he panted. "Now write!"

It crossed by mind that he was the hysteric, not Estrella. He had put a spell on her, but only for a time. She would have saved me, but he'd seen to that.

Pen and pad lay close to the pulsating copper. I smelt singed vulcanite, cringed in the red furnace waves that were already roasting me. This, I thought, was the third degree.

"Write, write!" screamed my tormentor, cramming the means into my hands. "Tell how it was done! Write, write! Set it down!" He was shaking me like a rat, but suddenly he left off.

"Gug gug . . ." It was I, kissing my life chances good-by.

Why didn't he finish the job? I was going to conk out on him in about two seconds.

Van Paassen Continues His Life Story

"That Day Alone," by Pierre Van Paassen. [Dial, $3.75.]

The author of that best selling autobiography, "Days of Our Years," continues his autobiographical record in "That Day Alone," with the chronicle of his last days in France.

Like all other observers who used their heads as well as the eyes in them, Pierre Van Paassen saw France's downfall inherent in her rulers. His pen is more trenchant than most, his power of evoking the dramatic scene to impress his point is more memorable than most, his use of horror more spine-tingling, his inhibitions less, and therefore, his panorama is more spectacular. No one who reads it can ever forget the stark human degradation he records, which Jean Giona, a French novelist, lived thru at Verdun.

But "That Day Alone" is not all either autobiographical or about France, or even about the state of the world today. There is a long and vivid picture of life in the little town in Holland where he was born, Gorcum, including a brief history of Holland. Dramatically following it is the record of "The New Order Comes to Gorcum," the bitter tale of its occupation by the Germans.

Interspersed among skilfully analytical character sketches of historical figures and dramatic episodes, which may be either moving fact or tale, are sharp analyses of Europe's plight and bits of moving philosophizing about man's future, ending with:

"A day will surely come when man, having grown tired of walking alone, will turn to his brother . . . On that day alone the brotherhood of man will have become a reality."

U. S. CHARGES 28 ON TRIAL DRILLED FOR U. S. REVOLT

Plotted with Trotzky, Gave Him Guard, Jury Told.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 28.—Opening statements in the mass trial of 82 persons charged with sedition were made by both sides this afternoon before a jury of 11 men and one woman in the court of Federal Judge Matthew M. Joyce.

Victor E. Anderson, United States district attorney, in his preliminary outline, said the government would seek to show that all the defendants, 15 of whom are members of CIO Teamsters' union, local 544, also are members of the Socialist Workers' party. The defense insists some of the accused are not party members.

"The Socialist Workers' party is a revolutionary party," said Anderson. "It advocated the use of force and advocated overthrow by force of the government of the United States. It is the contention of the government that this party was the Trotzky party, or the party to carry out the views of Leon Trotzky with respect to the establishment of government on earth, and particularly in America. The ideas of this party were those of Trotzky and Lenin."

Meet Trotzky in Mexico.

The Trotzky party, or Trotzkyists, is a group in the communist party opposed to the Stalinists.

Some of the defendants, Anderson declared, went to Mexico to hold communion with Leon Trotzky. He said the government would show that in 1939, James P. Cannon, secretary of the Socialist Workers' party, and Vincent Dunne, one of the heads of CIO local 544, and others conferred with Trotzky, and the return trip was made in a car driven by Dunne. One of the defendants, he said, went to Mexico, saw Trotzky, and there was talk of increasing the guard for the exiled Russian.

Albert Goldman, one of the defendants, counsel for the members of the Socialist Workers' party on trial, interposed at this juncture with a remark: "Does the prosecution contend that defense of Trotzky in Mexico was a crime?"

Bodyguard Sent.

Part of the government's case, Anderson said, will show that the Socialist Workers' party in Minneapolis even sent a personal bodyguard to Trotzky in Mexico.

"Five months later," said Anderson, "he [the guard] brought back to Minneapolis headquarters a plan under which labor unions were to have military training. And because of the relation between this party and men in drivers union No. 544 who were leaders in the party, a military organization was set up in Minneapolis.

"In the basement of drivers' union headquarters target practice and instruction in military training were set up." Anderson said he would contend that some members of the party were delegates to the fourth Red Internationale.

Red Flag "the Only Flag."

"The party said the only flag was the red flag of Lenin and Trotzky," he said. "We are going to show that the Socialist Workers' party was to be the leader in military and executive life in the overthrow of this government and capitalism and the setting up of a workers' state."

Goldman, an attorney for the late Leon Trotzky, made the opening statement for the defense. He spoke derisively of a conspiracy.

"We shall let the jury decide if we have a right to our beliefs," he said, the ills of mankind need a solution. We admit we're internationalists, because economy must be organized on that basis.

"It was only when we began to fight against Daniel Tobin [head of the international teamsters union] and dictatorship that the indictment followed."

Agents of the federal bureau of investigation were called in yesterday in the investigation of what Acting Captain Robert Welling of the Town Hall police station called "a junior Dillinger gang." The gang, consisting of four men, was rounded up early in the day after an alert gas station attendant spotted revolvers and blackjacks on the rear floor of their car.

Lieut. William Drury and detectives from Town Hall station set out to hunt for the car, whose license number had been taken by Terry Brown, attendant in a gas station at Racine and Leland avenues. Detectives also went to a room in the Leland hotel which Brown heard mentioned. Within an hour four men and two women were captured and two cars found. Police said the men admitted stealing several cars and committing burglaries in three states.

Those held are Robert Nicholson, 25 years old, 1020 Lawrence avenue, who said he escaped in 1937 from the Ohio honor farm at Sandusky, where he was serving a burglary sentence; Edward Poppe, 26, an ex-convict, paroled from the Ohio state penitentiary last June; Ben Cohen, 25, of 4626 Magnolia avenue, and Edward Moreno, 30, both of whom said they were bartenders and innocent of any wrongdoing. Also held was Miss Louise Lynn, a cabaret dancer.

Warren avenue police last night held eight young men, who they said admitted various burglaries and robberies. Those held are:

Martin Heneghan, 18 years old, 317 South Maplewood avenue; Ralph Mefford, 18, no address; Edward Kirby, 17, of 2527 Adams street; Edward Fox, 2148 Jackson boulevard; Raymond Kepler, 21, of 2319 Adams street; Arthur Weaver, 20, of 1910 Washington boulevard; Joseph Bogue, 17, of 2113 Warren boulevard, and Lawrence Cordes, 17, of 2127 Warren boulevard.

They were arrested by Sergt. Patrick Groark and Detectives Leonard Scully and Joseph Tye, who said Mefford, Heneghan, and Kepler had admitted a holdup yesterday in which they used a gun rented from Marie Gargano, 15, of 2442 Wilcox street. Police said they took it from the home without permission. She was turned over to juvenile authorities. Acting Capt. Walter McGloon said Mefford and Fox were paroled recently from the Illinois Training School for Boys near St. Charles.

Identified as Robber of "L" Stations 7 Times

Edward McInerny, 28 years old, 1912 Winnemac avenue, was identified yesterday as the bandit who three times in the last two years held up the elevated station at State and Van Buren streets and also held up the Ravenswood "L" station three times and the Lincoln and Paulina station once. He was arrested Monday night within five minutes after allegedly robbing a restaurant at 1600 North Clark street.

THE TRIBUNE TRAVELERS' GUIDE

21 MILLION VISIT PARKS, SHRINES; THAT'S A RECORD

Americans, Barred from Europe, See U. S.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

More than 21 million persons—about one American in every six—have visited one or more of their national parks and monuments in the last year. This is a record high. It traces the changing travel habits of a public that no longer is permitted to visit Europe.

In 1933 only 3½ million persons entered the areas under the jurisdiction of the national park service. There has been a distinct gain annually ever since. In the fiscal year from Oct. 1, 1940, to Sept. 30, 1941, the exact total was 21,050,426. This was a 26 per cent increase over the figure for the previous year.

National Park Visitors.

Travelers to the 26 national parks totaled 8,388,909—a gain of 14 per cent over 1940. Great Smoky Mountains park led the parade with 1,247,019. Shenandoah, last year's leader, was second with 1,054,479, and Rocky Mountain was third with 685,393. Yosemite and Yellowstone each reported more than half a million visitors.

Other areas hanging up totals of half a million or more apiece were Fort McHenry National monument and historical shrine, Colonial National Historical park, Gettysburg National Military park, Lincoln memorial and Washington monument in the District of Columbia, Boulder Dam National Recreational area, and the Blue Ridge National parkway.

Bryce Canyon Has 124,098.

Fortress Monroe's Name Changed to Fort Monroe

Old Point Comfort, Va., Oct. 28 [Special].—Long ago the stone fortress built on this point in 1816 by one of Napoleon's generals outgrew its original bounds. But the post-office department has just got around to changing the name from Fortress Monroe to Fort Monroe. The fort commands the entrance to Chesapeake bay and the nation's capital.

Inquiries Indicate Record Pennsylvania Hunt Season

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 28 [Special].—More than 700,000 men are cleaning their guns and dreaming of a successful hunt in Penn's woods when the small game season opens Nov. 1. The Pennsylvania department of commerce has received more requests for information regarding the hunting than ever before.

Travel Experts to Hear Prospects for the Season

CALIFORNIA FETE TO REVIVE EARLY DAYS OF MISSIONS

Santa Barbara, Cal., Oct. 28 [Special].—California's early mission days are to be revived in a five day pageant starting Dec. 4.

This county's Franciscan missions—Santa Ynez at Solvang, La Purisima near Lompoc, and Santa Barbara in this city—will provide the settings for the observance. Dec. 4 will mark the 155th anniversary of the founding of the Santa Barbara mission.

Exhibits, costume dances, and lectures are being arranged. Descendants of the pioneers will reënact the wedding of Señorita Anita de la Guerra to Alfred Robinson, as described in Richard Henry Dana's "Two Years Before the Mast."

First Tuesday Concert Played by Symphony

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra, Frederick Stock, conductor, began its Tuesday subscription series in Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon with a concert which, while it did not stimulate us by presenting any new or relatively unfamiliar music, nevertheless offered highly competent performances of three standard works.

The Third Orchestral suite of Bach contains some of its composer's most exalted melodies—notably the Gigue, the first Gavotte, and the Air. Here is music of so sublime a content that any attempt to interpret it in words—beyond a recognition of the noble joyfulness that pervades it—is bound to fall flat.

It was played with a solid tone that yet possessed a lovely surface radiance. Phrases were allowed to realize themselves in an unhurried manner and to retain all of their enormous dignity.

The Strauss tone poem, "Thus Spake Zarathustra," one of the most pretentious works in the répertoire, was set forth with a rich meatiness of tone and [at climaxes] with a shattering sonority. Even if we write off most of "Zarathustra's" philosophical connotations and admit that it is somewhat lacking in basic musical substance, it still remains worth an occasional hearing because of the undoubted fact that it is one of the late 19th century's most dazzling examples of virtuoso writing for orchestra.

The Tschaikowsky Fourth symphony, which closed yesterday's program, does not profit in the same way that the Fifth does from an outstanding performance. It never becomes overwhelming. Indeed, the better the performance the more a listener is apt to notice the work's frequent sweetishness and occasional blatancy.

Yesterday the symphony's tunes were sung effectively and its climaxes were suitably big, but the pleasantest memory of the performance is the ghostly pizzicato scherzo—the most modest of its four movements. It was done with an exquisite cleanness and patness.

Art Institute Reception to Open Exhibit

BY JUDITH CASS.

FLOWERS and silver tea services are being carried into the Art institute this morning to decorate the five tea tables for the institute's 63d annual reception for members which will open the 52d annual exhibition of American paintings and sculpture this afternoon. Twelve clubs are joining in decorating the tea tables, and settings have been carefully planned for days, for the tables are of almost as much interest to the thousands of women as the show itself. The show will be opened to the public tomorrow morning. For the first time the exhibit is comprised wholly of invited works of art.

The Fortnightly club and the Antiquarian society will have a table together, with the Fortnightly "doing" the table. Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy has planned the table. She will be assisted by Mrs. Louis F. Watermulder and Mrs. Frederic C. Woodward of the Fortnightly and Mrs. Alfred E. Hamill, Mrs. Potter Palmer, and Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson for the Antiquarians.

Mrs. John L. Cochran Arranging Friday Club Table.

Mrs. John L. Cochran of the Friday club will set the table which the Friday, the Arts, and the Contemporary clubs will have together. Mrs. Edison Dick, Mrs. Edwin W. Winter, and Mrs. Clay Judson will assist for the Friday and Mrs. Paul Schweikher and Mrs. May Hardman Gilruth for the Arts. Mrs. Giovanni Cardelli, Mrs. Edwin P. Dewes, and Miss Frances Whedon will represent the Contemporary club.

Mrs. Charles S. Davies of the Chicago Drama league is arranging the table which the league and the Renaissance have together. Mrs. Robert Courtney Griffin and Mrs. Walter J. Cummings will assist Mrs. Davies for the league, with Mrs. Wallis L. Raw, Mrs. Burt L. Roetter, and Mrs. William R. Ramsey representing the Renaissance.

The Arché club will arrange the table which they are sharing with the Musicians Club for Women, with with Mrs. LeRoy John Zorn doing the decorating. Mrs. George W. Webster and Mrs. Edward Heinz Jr. will be the Arché club assistants and Mrs. Almada Biery Jones, Mrs. Frederick W. Armstrong, and Mme. Hanna Butler, the Musicians Club for Women assistants.

Municipal Art League Is Sharing a Table.

The Municipal Art league, the Art institute alumni, and the Chicago Woman's club are, sharing a table, with Mrs. John Haeberlin doing the setting for the Art league. Mrs. Maude Marritt and Mrs. Paul Schulze will assist for the Art league; Mrs. Edmund Giesbert, Miss Mary Hipple, and Mrs. Averill Conwell, for the Art institute alumni, and Mrs. Jennie C. Eulette, Mrs. Robert Brice Scott, and Mrs. Arthur E. Hansen for the Chicago Woman's club.

F. Clay Bartlett Jr., who has a painting in the exhibition, will not reach here in time for the tea this afternoon. He and Mrs. Bartlett will arrive tomorrow and will stay at the Ambassador hotel for a week-end visit here. Mr. Bartlett's aunt, Miss Florence Dibell Bartlett, will entertain for them informally. Mr. Bartlett also has a painting in the Carnegie show in Pittsburgh.

Another interesting tea to open an art show will be given on Friday by Miss Alice Roullier in her gallery in the Fine Arts building. The tea will open an exhibition of Clinton King's water colors and oils, most of them

GET YOUR FEATHER

Mrs. Gerhard Foreman, Mrs. John C. Murphy (standing), and Mrs. Earl Kribben are members of the women's division of the 1941 Community Fund campaign, which will hold a joint meeting with the industrial division tomorrow in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House. It will be a luncheon meeting at 12:30 o'clock and replaces the meeting of the women's division announced for Nov. 3. Mrs. Kribben is chairman of the women's division and Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Foreman are two of her four vice chairmen. The others are Mrs. Robert M. Adams and Mrs. Errett Van Nice.

INTELLIGENCE AND PEACE

In a fireside chat on Oct. 12, 1937, President Roosevelt said:

"Meanwhile, remember that from 1913 to 1921 I was fairly close to world events, and in that period, while I learned much of what to do, I also learned much of what not to do.

"The common sense, the intelligence of America agree with my statement that 'America hates war. America hopes for peace. Therefore, America actively engages in the search for peace.'"

Helen Kettner, Pianist, Heard in Debut Recital

Helen Kettner, pianist, gave a debut recital in Curtiss hall last night playing a taxing program that actually placed two such monumental works as the Bach-Busoni Chaconne and the Beethoven "Appassionata" Sonata one after the other. Miss Kettner revealed a fluent technique, a nice feeling for the shape of a phrase, and a serious, respect-commanding approach to her music. E. B.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

About the 1941 Notebook.

The annual Notebook of Front Views and Profiles will be out next Friday. A blue cover this year—gallant blue with white lettering. It contains the best of the paragraphs and verse from the year's columns. The first item in the book is the story of the two ghosts busy haunting a house, one of which asked the other "Do you believe in people?" Carl Sandburg's favorite story, he told us recently on one of his infrequent visits to town.

Marge of Sunrise Mountain Farm is in the Notebook of course. Her Aunt Lizzie of the Ozarks Goes to Opera, which so many readers wrote in that they liked, is included, also Claire Goodell's enchanting verse, and Charles Yu with some of his Poems of a Chinese Student. His book of verse by that name comes out the same day as the Notebook, by the way. There are, altogether, 64 pages of stories and quips, oddments and verse. We hope your favorite items are included, and that you will like the selections made. Mail orders are being accepted now. The Notebook costs 13 cents by mail. On the newsstands and at leading book stores Friday at 10 cents.

The Ballet.

[from "Macbeth" and Amy Waller Brewer].

"Vaulting ambition that doth

Necessity.

Miss Jan Struther, chatting with the president of a woman's organization before which she was lecturing, spoke of the reluctance of many persons to think. It reminded the club president of the comment of her colored cook: "I'se got to think, 'cause I ain't got no brains."

* *

Miss Struther, familiar as Mrs. Miniver to thousands of American readers, and seven times a guest on Information Please, left for the east last evening after lecturing in the middle west. A little book she was reading at odd moments was Charles Dickens' American Notes. Dickens came to America on a lecture tour just one hundred years before Miss Struther. In January, 1842, "Charles Dickens, Esq., and Lady" were aboard the steam packet Britannia, 1,200 tons burden per register. When some one asked Miss Struther the other day about the type of person she finds in lecture audiences she quoted Dickens in his American Notes: "Ladies who have a passion for attending lectures are to be found among all classes and all conditions."

City Fauna.

Since early spring a brown and white rabbit has been living in a hole burrowed under a toolhouse in the yard of a south side factory. The yard is surrounded by a street car line, a railroad station, a coalyard, the factory's outdoor incinerator, and the factory itself. Delivery trucks arrive at and depart from the loading platform, and cars of employés are parked in the yard. The rabbit pays no more heed to them than to the noise and smoke. The exact location of the factory is omitted lest some attempt be made to capture the little fellow and his plight worsen, instead of being improved.

Ormandy Gives City Taste of Unusual Music

Concert by the Philadelphia orchestra, Eugene Ormandy, conductor. Presented in the Civic Opera house as the first event in the History and Enjoyment of Music series, Tuesday evening, Oct. 28, 1941.
The program:
Overture from Concerto Grosso, D minor, Opus 3, No. 5........Handel
[Transcribed for modern orchestra by Eugene Ormandy]
[First time in Chicago]
Symphony, D major, Köchel No. 504 ....Mozart
Three Pieces for Orchestra....Roy Harris
[First time in Chicago]
Symphony No. 5, E minor..Tschaikowsky

BY CECIL SMITH.

It can fairly be said of Eugene Ormandy that he is still the same, only more so. By this cryptic remark I mean simply that he is bending the magnificent Philadelphia orchestra to his unpredictable will more firmly and, I am afraid, more successfully than ever, and that the end result of the whole process is, to say the least, bizarre.

Mr. Ormandy's conception of the task of the orchestral conductor stands at an opposite pole from that of so devoted a musical interpreter as Arturo Toscanini. Whereas Mr. Toscanini thinks of himself as one whose rigorous duty consists in discovering and reproducing as precisely and completely as possible the original intention of the composer, Mr. Ormandy—in completely theatrical contrast — clearly imagines his function to be that of an idea man.

In other words, he seems to assume that the music of any composer, no matter how good—whether Handel, Mozart or Tschaikowsky—can be greatly improved in effectiveness by novel treatment. He is constantly creating effects all the way thru his performance; he would rather hear a group of cellos buzz like angry hornets than hear the unaffected realization of a Mozart scale or figuration; he thinks almost any attack, no matter what its context, is best when it is heavily accented; he thinks a mass of string tone attains its sheerest delight when it quivers like a dish of gelatine pudding.

Roy Harris' Three Pieces for Orchestra [two of which were originally written as part of the Folk Song Symphony] are agreeable trifles of trick orchestration based largely upon familiar folk tunes. The surface glitters, but there is not much substance beneath the glitter.

Wells Club Lectures.

The Evanston-North Shore Wells College club will open its annual benefit lecture series at 10:30 o'clock today in the home of Mrs. George B. Dryden of Evanston. Clifton Utley, director of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations, will give this lecture and the three which follow it on Nov. 5, 12, and 19. Mrs. Theodore Rockwell and her daughter, Miss Paisley, are co-chairmen of the committee on arrangements.

Predicts 10 Million Members in Year in Group Hospital Plan

Within the next 12 months membership in group hospital plans thruout America will exceed 10 million, Dr. C. Rufus Rorem, director of the hospital service plan commission of the American Hospital association, predicted yesterday.

More than 7,500,000 persons now are enrolled in the 67 Blue Cross or group hospitalization plans approved by the Hospital association, Dr. Rorem said. They are cared for in 2,000 hospitals, or 80 per cent of the nongovernment bed capacity of America, he told a luncheon of hospital administrators at the Palmer House in observance of the national growth of the Blue Cross.

Of subscribers to the plan, 2 million have been hospitalized under it, the plan paying hospital bills of $100,000,000, he continued. The sign of the Blue Cross has paid for the birth of 250,000 babies.

After four and a half years of operation in the Chicago area, the Plan for Hospital Care here now reaches more than 300,000 persons, he said. Since Jan. 1, 90,000 new members have been added, the most successful year from a standpoint of membership in the plan's history.

Prize Winners Named in Art Institute Show

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The 52d annual exhibition of American Paintings and Sculpture opens tomorrow to the public in the east wing galleries of the Art institute. It is a competent show, colorful and well hung.

An entire gallery is devoted to sculpture and in addition there are various pieces of sculpture installed to advantage in all of the galleries. The sculpture, however, is not of as great importance as the paintings. The show takes its tone from a judicious mixture of the two and is a scholarly affair, rather neatly needled between the many isms of today.

There was a jury only for awarding prizes and the five men who composed it, William Zorach, Eugene Speicher, Henry Varnum Poor, Robert Laurent, and Charles H. Sawyer, were generous to Chicago artists.

Of the prizes the most important, from the amount of money involved, the Ada S. Garrett prize of $750, was given to "Winter Twilight," by Max Weber of New York, a heavily painted picture, robust, virile, and essentially a painter's picture. A head in limestone, "Barbara," by Oronzio Maldarelli of New York, was awarded the Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan Art institute medal and $500.

The Norman Wait Harris Silver Medal and $500 went to a richly dramatic painting by Ivan le Lorraine Albright, Chicago artist, entitled "That Which I Should Have Done I Did Not Do." This composition of black door, funeral wreath, mystic hand and ghostly breath, took the artist some 10 years to paint—but it is a distinguished piece of work, superbly handled.

James Lechay, New York, won the Norman Wait Harris Bronze Medal and $300 with "Pier on Sunday," a gay and attractive picture, French in feeling.

The M. V. Kohnstamm prize of $250 went to Glenn Krause, Chicago, for "Afternoon." The Martin B. Cahn prize of $100 was awarded by the Committee of Painting and Sculpture of the Art institute to Louis Ritman for his "Interior." The Bertha Aberle Florsheim prize of $100 was given to "Respite" by Mitchell Siporin, Chicago artist. Malcolm Hackett, Chicago, was awarded the William M. R. French Memorial Gold Medal for a painting: "Two Girls at a Table." The award was made by a special jury of the alumni association of the Art institute school consisting of Ivan Le Lorraine Albright, Briggs Dyer, and Merlin Pollock.

Carl Gaertner of Cleveland received honorable mention for "Car Stop"; George Picken of New York for "Building East River Drive"; Marshall Fredericks of Detroit for his intriguing sculpture in granite, "Moray," and Nicolai Ziroli, Chicago, for the painting: "Saturday's Child."

The exhibition will continue to Jan. 4.

Prize Sculpture

Oronzio Mandarelli of New York received the Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan art institute medal and $500 for his head in limestone, "Barbara," in the American painting and sculpture exhibition opening tomorrow.

Camp Officer Asks Help to Furnish Club

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

The first few days in the army are probably the most trying for new men. They are removed from familiar environment, and their normal living habits must necessarily undergo a sweeping change. Once men are assigned to permanent posts, outfitted and put to work, the newness and strangeness of the experience generally disappears, but during the period of waiting at the reception center there is plenty of time for homesickness and apprehension to develop.

In an effort to remedy that situation an officer in a camp in Michigan recently wrote:

"Dear Miss Brown: I am writing you as commander of a company at the reception center. We have 500 men in this company, and while they are here only five days, it is their initiation into the army.

"For our day room we would like very much to have a radio, a juke box, a pool table, easy chairs, or other similar items. Do you know of individuals or organizations which would donate and pay freight on such items? A lot of Chicago boys pass thru this company."

If any reader or group of readers possesses any of the above mentioned items, this department will be glad to supply further information. Since the distance from Chicago is not great, the freight charges would probably not be prohibitive. Readers who are willing to make donations of any of the requested articles and assume the responsibility for transportation arrangements will be making a definite contribution toward the comfort and amusement of hundreds of young rookies.

Art Institute Reception to Open Exhibit

seascapes and flower pictures, made on Cape Cod. He and his wife, the former Narcissa Swift, spent the summer on the Cape. Also in the show will be some of Mr. King's Mexican and southwestern landscapes and portraits.

Mr. and Mrs. Kent S. Clow have selected Saturday, Dec. 27, as the date for a dinner-dance they will give for their debutante daughter, Frances. It will be given at the Casino club.

Edward Kulikowski to Wed New York Girl Saturday.

Chicagoans who knew Edward Kulikowski when he was the Polish vice-consul in Chicago from 1933 to 1936 will be interested to learn that he and Miss Frances Lorillard Ronalds of New York will be married Saturday in New York. The wedding will take place in the afternoon in the rectory of St. Patrick's cathedral with a small reception following at the St. Regis hotel. Only members of the families will attend the ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Edward Curley of Cannes, France, and the late Reginald Ronalds of New York, will have Miss Lorraine Graves of New York as her only attendant. Mr. Kulikowski, in accordance with the custom of his country, will have two best men. Count Zeltowski and Leon Orlowski will serve in this capacity. Mr. and Mrs. Kulikowski will reside in New York after a honeymoon spent in Washington.

Miss Ronalds lived in England most of her life and was presented to the English court in 1935. Mr. Kulikowski returned to this country from Europe in December, 1939. He had been a prisoner in a concentration camp during the war in Poland and at one time was reported killed. He now is engaged in business in New York.

Prince Michael Cantacuzene and Bride Are at Home.

Now that Prince Michael Cantacuzene and his bride, the former Mrs. Florence Bushnell Carr, are at home from their brief wedding trip, their friends are seeking dates on which to entertain for them. Their marriage took place on Oct. 18 in the Greek Orthodox church near Libertyville, with only their families attending the afternoon ceremony.

There's a hint of the holly and mistletoe season in the air today as cherry red and white cards find their way from the woman's board of the Alice Home hospital to the mail boxes of many north shore homes. This morning patrons of the hospital will be opening invitations to the board's annual Christmas sale to be held on Monday and Tuesday in Mrs. Lester Armour's spacious lakeside home in Lake Forest.

The doors will be open from 10 to 5:30 o'clock on each of the two days.

The woman's board of the Travelers' Aid has decided to call its third annual party a Candlelight Ball. The party will be given on Dec. 6 at the Arts club, and, unlike its predecessors at the Drake and at the Casino, will be a dinner instead of a supper-dance. Mrs. Charles Cutter is general chairman. Working as committee heads under her will be Mrs. Paul Butler, decorations; Mrs. Harry S. Vested, invitations; Mrs. John Love, program; Mrs. Edwin S. Sims Jr., entertainment, and Miss Shirley Garnett, patron list. Mrs. Paul Holinger is president of the board.

Mrs. Franklin Miller's friends will be sorry to learn that she is in Grant hospital as a result of a fall downstairs Monday night. She suffered a broken leg.

Looking at Hollywood

by John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 28.—In "Remember the Day" Claudette Colbert is playing an old woman for the first time in her career. Just toward the end of the picture, which is the tale of a school teacher and a boy who had a crush on her. At the end she plays a woman of 55.

"I played her for a week," says Claudette, "and it was interesting, putting on those wrinkles and that gray hair. But the first time I came out Henry King"—the director—"said, 'You don't need to be so old, Claudette.' And I stopped and realized that Henry is in his 50s and he's erect and vigorous and clear-skinned and an active airplane pilot. Here I was, supposed to be his age, and I must have been playing a woman of 80. When he spoke I got younger right away."

Hollywood camera magicians have one of the toughest jobs in a long time in the Yankee stadium scenes for Samuel Goldwyn's picture about Lou Gehrig. Goldwyn sent a squad of cinematographers to shoot the world series for background stuff at the stadium. The outfield walls naturally had 1941 billboards on them—and the time of Gehrig's reign was some years ago. Frame by frame, pictures of these posters must be altered to fit the Gehrig era.

Poor Richard Haydn! In "Ball of Fire" Haydn plays an old college prof—a sort of educated Mr. Carp—and for the picture his hair was dyed platinum blond so it would photograph gray. Soon as shooting finished he fled to a beauty parlor to have his mane dyed brown, because he couldn't wait for the natural color to grow out. The other day he was called back for a retake on just one scene—and had to have his hair made platinum blond again.

The Mary Brodel who has been assigned to a bit in "Arsenic and Old Lace" is Joan Leslie's sister. . . . In "Heliotrope Harry" Preston Foster adopts a 3 year old girl—and the child is his own 3 year old adopted daughter, Stephanie. Preston explains, "Stephanie has been told she's adopted, but she is too young to know what it means. In another year or so we can show her this scene, with each of us playing our real parts, and it should make it all mighty clear to her." . . . Hottest studios at the moment are Paramount and Metro, with 20 new pictures going on their stages. . . . Jay Fassett, long-time legit actor, is getting a Paramount test for "Out of the Frying Pan," which involves Bob Benchley. . . . Bette Davis has long wanted to do "Ethan Frome" for the movies, and the Warners' buying it is a tribute to their First Lady. . . . Headline in a local paper: "Tree Surgeon Falls off Patient, Sues."

Shooting of "Yankee Doodle Dandy" begins at Warners' Nov. 24. This is the flicker in which Jim Cagney will play the life story of George M. Cohan—except for some sequences which are bothering the studio no end. Robert Buckner's scenario starts with the Cohan family from way back, and there are two spots in which George and his sister Josephine are pictured at the ages of 8 and 7 and 13 and 12. This necessitates a hunt for youthful doubles—not of Cohan but of Cagney. It means finding one boy of 8 and another of 13 who look like Jim and act like George. It's a tough assignment.

In the Cohan tale are mentioned many real, living people—and it is not impossible for some of them to play themselves. Steve Riordan, for instance; a heavy-jowled, flat-footed cop who long has been George's dearest friend. One bit of the script involves Franklin D. Roosevelt, and this will be a delicate thing to handle. F. D. R. doesn't like impersonations; he once asked a radio program to stop imitating him vocally.

To finish up "Valley of the Sun," Director George Marshall brought two dozen Taos Indians from their New Mexico pueblo to RKO's Hollywood studio. Few of them had ever been off the reservation—and there were two things they wanted to see. They didn't care a hoot about being in a movie studio, but they wanted to see the ocean and they wanted it fixed so they could see the Grand Canyon on the way home. . . . Bing Crosby's description of his agent brother: "Everett has more pleats in his pants than any other man in America." . . . Since his personal and professional Broadway hit in the guild's revival of "Ah, Wilderness," Harry Carey has become very hot stuff out here.

122d Field Artillery Party.

On the House

The season is timely to check on areaways and remove all dirt from them. . . . Also, to consider advantages of adding areaways if one has none, and would add more light to the busy basement this winter. . . . Cellar windows should close tightly and weather stripping and caulking are great benefits if one catches any glimpses of light around a window frame. . . . For better basement ventilation there are perfectly balanced ventilating windows which can be opened either from top or bottom. . . . There's a steel and glass unit of this type that affords indirect ventilation by simply unlocking and pulling the window forward the desired degree.

LAST WEDNESDAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 4: Both sides vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	2 diamonds	?

You are South, and hold:
♠10876532 ♥7 ♦Q54 ♣105

What call do you make?

Answer: Pass. Despite your seven card suit your hand is far too weak for a free bid. Your singleton in partner's suit is a danger spot. Partner is likely to bid three or four hearts over a two spade bid by you, and you then will be in trouble. Only in rare cases should free bids be made on distribution alone. [Ten points demerit for two spades; 25 points demerit for four spades; 50 points demerit for any other call.]

Question 5: Both sides vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	2 diamonds	?

You are South, and hold:
♠86542 ♥732 ♦54 ♣Q86

What call do you make?

Answer: Pass. Your five trumps and one queen do not justify a free raise, which, like every other free bid, requires something besides distribution. If you give such a raise, partner will rightly read you for greater strength and may be influenced to contract for a game, or even a slam, that will be severely punished. [Ten points demerit for two spades; 25 points demerit for four spades; 50 points demerit for any other bid.]

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question 13: Rubber bridge; North-South vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 hearts	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
6 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

West selected an unfortunate opening for his team, namely, the spade nine. East played the king, and declarer won. Now, obviously, since the spade nine had made "equals" of declarer's ten and eight, trumps could have been drawn and the hand laid down, merely by the concession of a spade trick.

Declarer, however, either was blinded to the fact or had some vague idea of making an extra trick. At any rate, after winning with the spade ace he laid down the queen, then led a third spade with the intention of ruffing in dummy. West "beat him to it" by ruffing in with the heart six. After that declarer's contract was in the limbo of lost hopes. West returned a trump and still had one left with which to prevent the ruffing of declarer's losing spade in dummy.

Why Let Yourself Get Constipated?

Why endure those dull headachy days due to constipation, plus the inevitable trips to the medicine chest, if you can avoid both by getting at the cause of the trouble?

If your constipation, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, the "better way" is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran. This crunchy toasted breakfast cereal is the ounce of prevention that's worth a pound of emergency relief. It helps you not only to get regular but to keep regular, day after day and month after month, by the pleasantest means you ever knew.

Eat Kellogg's All-Bran regularly, drink plenty of water, and see if you don't forget all about constipation. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

Your Daughter Has a Right to Know

It is every mother's duty to tell her daughter, physical facts. How much better that she learn them from you, rather than from girls her own age. In feminine hygiene, facts may be distorted, or wholly untrue. Result, many brides use overstrong solutions of acids which can actually burn or scar delicate tissues. Today, there is no need to use such deadly solutions. Science has given us Zonite. Non-poisonous, non-caustic, yet kills germs, bacteria on contact. Actually destroys undesirable odors. Protects personal daintiness. Most important, safe for delicate tissues. Over 20,000,000 bottles already bought. Free Book Tells Intimate Facts. Give your daughter this frankly written booklet, "Feminine Hygiene Today," which you can get FREE, sent to you postpaid in plain wrapper. WHY DO EVERGREENS SHED?

The reason why evergreens shed their needles — the condition of the subsoil since the recent heavy rains — the growth of the wheat—the corn picking methods contemplated if the fields don't dry up soon —these are the subjects of Gail Compton's article today on page 34 about activities on the Tribune's DuPage county farm.

Liver has such important contributions to make to the diet, that once a week isn't too often to serve it. Braised liver one week, broiled chicken livers the next, and a liver loaf after that will prevent any monotony which the family might feel if liver were served in the same way each week.

Salt pork in this recipe serves as flavoring, and furnishes the necessary fat to a dish such as liver loaf.

Liver Loaf.

[Serves Six.]

1 pound beef liver
1½ cups hot water
1 cup cracker crumbs
2 beaten eggs
2 tablespoons minced raw onion
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning

Partly fry out salt pork. Add water to liver and simmer for about 3 minutes. Put salt pork and liver thru the food chopper, and add water from liver to cracker crumbs. Combine meats, cracker mixture, eggs, and seasonings. Place in greased baking dish or loaf pan and bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes.

The loaf may be served plain or with a tomato sauce.

Fancy groceries and food departments in the downtown department stores carry wine vinegars which are grand for salad dressings. Red and white wine vinegars both are obtainable, and some of them have been seasoned with herbs, garlic, or tarragon. Use these vinegars as you would any other for salad dressings. For a tossed green salad, my preference is to sprinkle oil over the greens first, tossing them until all are lightly coated, then to add salt and pepper, and to sprinkle the vinegar in the same manner. A final tossing with salad fork and spoon will blend flavors. There are two schools of thought regarding the time to be allowed for the dressing to season the salad. Some cooks mix the salad and serve it immediately; others let the dressing stand on the vegetables for an hour or so, during which time some wilting of the greens necessarily takes place. These cooks are willing to sacrifice a bit of crispness for the sake of obtaining a better-flavored salad.

Cranberry Upside Down Cake.

¼ cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 cups cranberries
1¼ cups sifted cake flour
1¼ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter
¾ cup sugar
1 beaten egg
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Melt butter in skillet, add the cup of sugar and cranberries. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Sift flour, baking powder, and salt together. Cream butter and sugar thoroly, beat in egg. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk and vanilla. Beat batter smooth and pour over cranberries in skillet. Bake at 350 degrees about 45 minutes. Turn out onto a platter while hot. Serve warm or cold with whipped cream.

Tailored Jumper Frock

MISS' JUMPER DRESS.

Classroom and office call for tailored clothes which, nevertheless, have a feminine air. Today's jumper frock pattern is one you will like. Paneled lines distinguish the skirt, which has buttoned shoulder straps. The blouse, with either long or short sleeves, has button-up or rever collar line.

Style No. 3077 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 2⅝ yards of 54 inch material for jumper; 1½ yards of 39 inch for short sleeved blouse; 2 yards for long sleeved blouse.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly. The fall and winter pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with pattern.

Sailor Gets Beyond Depth in Romance

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

"I'm not conceited when I say the girl I like is crazy about me, too. She breaks dates with other fellows when I call her up. I have known her for years, having grown up in the same neighborhood, but became serious about her only when I entered the navy six months ago. I write to her regularly, and see her every second week-end when I'm at liberty. She is getting more serious every time we meet, and the same with me. I've told her to go out with other fellows and have some fun, but she tells me she won't. She wants to prove to me that she can be faithful. I'm only 21 and in no condition financially to be serious. It's not fair to the girl. Should I try to forget her, tell her it's all off between us, or what?

"SKYROCKET."

You don't want to tell the girl it is all over between you, do you? You want to get her letters while you are in service, don't you? You like to feel that, when the mail is handed out, you're one of the lucky boys with a regular girl correspondent. So don't spoil it by taking matters too seriously. Just be grateful for today's emotional blessings, and don't try to alter their character.

The girl is getting great fun from being faithful to her sailor sweetheart. She must like you a lot, so let her have her emotional spree. Talk a little sense when you are together about the impossibility of an early marriage, but of the joy there is in knowing that one girl cares a lot. You can't guess what's around the corner for you. Tomorrow it may be another girl, another town, another port to which you're ordered. And young romances such as yours are too sweet to be turned into major problems, such as serving notice that all is over between you. You don't want it so, so don't bring up the question. Drifting with the tide at your age is quite all right.

Club Giving Luncheon.

The Pioneer Women's organization will close its membership and fund raising drive with a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today at the Morrison hotel.

ELEANOR NANGLE REPLIES

If you have a beauty problem on which you need advice, write to Eleanor Nangle in care of the Chicago Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago, Ill. For a personal reply inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your question.

No "Reducing" Cream.

M. P.—Nothing applied to the surface of the body will remove fat. Ask your physician to outline a program of diet and exercise for you. There are actually no such things as "reducing" creams or lotions.

Sleeping Mitts Good.

J. C.—Yes, sleeping mitts are a good idea if you are troubled with chapped hands. Rub a rich cream into the skin each night. The bed mitts will help it to work better and will save the bedclothes from oil stains.

DORIS BLAKE'S LETTER BOX

Have you a perplexing problem on which you need friendly counsel? Write to Doris Blake in care of the Chicago Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago, Ill. If you wish a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Winning Him Back.

"Dear Miss Blake: After I had gone with a fellow for 14 months we had an argument. He then turned to my ex-girl friend, and has been going with her ever since. I have tried to get him back, but to no avail. I want him back. What shall I do?—WORRIED."

You can't make him come back to you unless he wishes to of his own accord. Show him you don't have to depend on him, by letting him see you can find other boy friends just as nice.

Courage Needed.

"Dear Miss Blake: I liked a girl for a long time. I became infatuated with her best friend. The first girl was swell thruout the whole affair and, now that the infatuation is over, I find that I like her. Please give me some very much needed advice.

HOPEFUL H."

You don't need advice. All you need is the courage to tell girl No. 1 that you love her truly. Other men have confessed their love. Why can't you?

Let a Child Get Dirty on Visit to Park

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

"Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"I would like to write to you about what I consider the unfairness of mothers in a common, everyday problem.

"Altho I have only my first child, a son of 21 months, I feel that I have gained experience, before he was born and since then, by watching other mothers, especially in parks and playgrounds. I have learned what not to do from seeing their behavior.

"Whether a mother has a small girl or boy, I feel it is most unfair to bring the child to such a place and constantly keep scolding and shouting to them to 'keep clean' and 'get up from there, you will be all dirty,' and so forth. Why not let them be in suitable clothes and enjoy themselves?

"I carry a small knitting bag with an old piece of towel or napkin, a cup for drinking water, a rubber sponge filled with soap, and a shovel and a few toys. My little boy is dressed in overalls with brown shoes and, before taking him home, I sponge his hands and face, altho I live only a half block from the park. He plays from 9 to 12:30 and then I bathe him, feed him, and put him in his crib.

"After his nap I take him out again, dressed in white shoes, wash or knitted suit, and he walks or goes in his carriage or cart. In this way he keeps clean.

"Of course, I realize that all mothers cannot adopt my schedule, especially when there are more children, but to me it is more important that my child enjoy himself for at least a part of the day, than that he be dressed up and spotless."

I too, have spent many hours in the park and seen sights galore which distressed me so that I felt I must do something about the situations and the small victims. But what can one do? You can't make over unkind or neglectful mothers, or report careless nursemaids to parents you don't even know. But thru the medium of this column I have tried to open some of the eyes that needed it, in some of the very ways I used to fret about. Printing this letter is one more attempt in the same direction.

'All Out for Democracy' Topic of Forum Today

A forum, "All Out for Democracy," will be sponsored jointly by the Cook County League of Women Voters and the Association for Family Living today at the Congress hotel. Louis Wirth, professor of sociology, University of Chicago; Martin Wagner, field examiner of the National Labor Relations board, and Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce, will address the morning session, beginning at 10:30 o'clock. Charles E. Merriam, distinguished service professor emeritus of political science, University of Chicago, will address the luncheon session on "Your Job on the Home Front."

Numerology

By Evelyn Holmes

Oct. 29, 1941.

Universal day—Wind up all old matters and keep your feelings out of them.

November—Those in a 7 year this year may feel a double weight of depression because of a sort of final feeling that will prevail. Don't let it make you do erratic things or come to emotional decisions. If you feel as if things have gone slightly askew for you, and right now that things seem to be falling apart and people you depended upon deserting you, try to look on these happenings philosophically. This is the year that you should have found a new or revivified philosophy of life and now is when you need it. That "last rose of summer" feeling might sound gloomy, but not if you realize that there is always another spring.

Snowflake Luncheon Motif

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Here is a crocheted luncheon set which is, by all odds, one of the quickest and easiest of the innumerable designs available. It is lacy, dainty, and handsome in its finished state, altho it consists of a group of medallions set together with tiny fill-in motifs which completely change the effect of the large design. No crochet worker can afford to overlook this attractive pattern, since handmade luncheon sets are at a premium.

For instruction in crocheting the luncheon doily in snowflake design, No. 496, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Cozy New Togs Make Call of the Wild Enjoyable

BY REA SEEGER.

It's the call of the wild for a lot of women these days when they start packing for duck hunting. Such sports are about the only remaining test of feminine ability to withstand wind, weather and discomfort with the same endurance as their pioneer ancestors. But what you wear and how you wear hunting clothes is now a matter of personal choice. Hunting outfits in these effete days of water repellent featherweight materials are only distantly related to the excessive layers with which the mighty hunter [male or female] treked forth for a week at a time in days gone by.

You'll stay snug and cozy in the coldest duck blind if you wear the newest things in stuffed suits. Boot trousers are made of the finest cotton gabardine specially treated so as to be windproof and water repellent. The interlining is a light weight cotton fabric coated with several layers of pure gum rubber to insure protection from wind and water. An inside lining is a double-faced exceptionally warm stuff called alpaca pile, and when these three layers are combined you have something to keep you as warm and comfortable as tho you were home before a fire. It's easy to out-stay your masculine competitors without a single complaint.

There are parkas and mackinaws to complete the trousers. The mackinaw is cut with an attached hood made the same way as the other two pieces of this outfit. Mittens complete the ensembles. Drab color is the most popular shade. It's a suit not only for duck hunting but also for ice boating and high flying.

Other hunting outfits offer two interesting new colors—one a blue-green that blends in with the landscape and the other a neutral beige gray. One has a zippered lining of sheepskin in the jacket; the other a warm interlining. The mackinaw has all kinds of pockets, including a waterproof game pocket. The boot trousers are the last word in snug comfort, with a fleece lining.

Important and necessary underlayers come in a nude shade and the usual white. Long sleeved shirts and long under-drawers of the finest cashmere are light as a breeze and warm as a tropic heat wave. Equipped with these new togs, you'll be a welcome addition to any "stag" party.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

The dirty powder puff is much more than a sin against fastidiousness. It can be a dandy little source and spreader of infection.

Most of us, fortunately, have skins that are pretty hardy, but a surprising number of women have the delicate kind of complexion that is susceptible to dirt infection. They're the ones who should be extremely fussy about the cleanliness of anything that touches the skin.

If the skin is very thin and sensitive, or if it's the coarse, oily kind that is continually beset with blackheads, a fresh puff daily is essential. Better yet, use a fresh piece of sterilized cotton for each powder application. If you prefer a puff—and most women do—buy the washable kind that will stand almost daily laundering in warm, soapy water, followed by careful rinsing.

Puffs aren't expensive, and their condition is important to skin health as well as to the suavity of makeup. Drawing a grimy puff over the skin a dozen times a day is bound to give your makeup a gray cast, and there is always the possibility of actual infection.

There are a couple of makeup preparations applied with sponges. It's important to keep the sponges clean and to keep them aired and dry when not in use. Don't keep a moist sponge in the sealed container between applications of the product. A sponge that is never laundered, aired, and dried is a menace and can be responsible for more skin eruptions than many women realize.

Hanya Holm Brings Her Company Back in Redesigned Program

After a year's absence Hanya Holm, one of the major choreographers among modern dancers, returned with her company to give four performances at the Goodman theater under the auspices of the Art institute. With a group of six girls and three boys instead of the previous 11 girls, Miss Holm staged a program that showed she has lost none of her creative or interpretive gifts.

Altho all the dances but one had been shown here before, they had all been redesigned to make use of the two sexes. In every case the works have been strengthened and pared of excess material so that they emerge as a remarkable set of creations. The "Dance of Introduction" presents the company in a clear and beautifully formal pattern. "Tragic Exodus," stripped of a former heavy preachiness, is freighted with the rhythms and directions of the refugee horde. The "Two Primitive Rhythms" have lost none of their physical excitement, and "Metropolitan Daily" seems more wittily observant and hilarious than ever.

ASK FOR SURVEY OF HIGH SPEED ROUTE TO GARY

Motor Clubs and Officials Indorse Project.

BY HAL FOUST.

A joint meeting of the south area [Chicago] council and the Lake county [Indiana] council of the Chicago Motor club yesterday adopted a resolution urging highway authorities of the two states to begin a survey for a superhighway to link the outer drive at Jackson park with U. S. 12 and U. S. 20 east of Gary.

The meeting, held in Hammond, was attended by engineers of the two states and by officials and civic leaders of Chicago, Gary, Whiting, and East Chicago. There seemed to be unanimity in favor of a route on or near the shore of Lake Michigan. The cost of the project, about 22 miles long, was reckoned at 66 million dollars.

Promises Support of City.

Ald. William A. Rowan [10th], whose ward abuts the Indiana line, said he was authorized by Mayor Kelly to promise the support of the Chicago city hall in promoting the interstate motorway. Mayor Ernst Schaible of Gary and Mayor James McNamara of Whiting pledged their active cöoperation.

Similar statements were made by F. E. Bernoske for the Indiana highway commission, Otto K. Jelinek for the Chicago park district, James F. Kelly for the Cook county highway department, and J. P. Tuthill for the Illinois highway department.

Need a Superhighway.

Charles M. Hayes, president of the motor club, described this south end of Lake Michigan as eastern gateway to the Chicago metropolitan area and as the crossroads of America.

George Barton, the club's traffic engineer, and Laurence A. Kane, Gary traffic engineer, said the main need was for a superhighway penetrating and traversing the populous and developed areas, not a bypass route.

Barton said that a lake front superhighway might be financed by tolls, by gas tax of the two states' and of the cities traversed, or as a federal unemployment relief project during the anticipated postwar depression.

ORDERS MOTHER OF 4 TO REWED HUSBAND NO. 2

Mrs. Virginia Miller.

Mrs. Virginia Miller, 27 years old, 2941 North Halsted street, mother of four, was refused an annulment of her second marriage yesterday by Judge Rudolph Desort.

Meyer M. Gilbert, Mrs. Miller's attorney, said that her marital affairs became scrambled in 1934, when she filed suit for divorce from husband No. 1, Phillip Paternoster. Her attorney died before a decree was granted, but Mrs. Miller, believing herself free again, married Herbert Miller, now 35, a filling station attendant.

In September, 1940, Mrs. Miller, to her surprise, was divorced by Paternoster on the ground of desertion. Miller promised to remarry her, according to Gilbert, but failed to do so. She then sued for an annulment.

Miller declined. "She's got another man," he said.

"For the sake of the children, and whether you like it or not, you'll get married again," ruled Judge Desort. "Both of you come back Nov. 5 with a marriage license, and I'll perform the ceremony."

Keith Thompson.

Flames were raging all around Keith Thompson yesterday, but Keith, 7 years old, trapped by fire in his home at 807 McAree road, Waukegan, didn't think to save himself. He was worried about his new kitten, Ronnie.

He was groping his way thru smoke and flames looking for the kitten when Deputy Geno Palmieri of Lake county and several neighbors smashed open the door, and carried him out—kicking. "I want Ronnie," he cried. But by the time the rescuers could get back Ronnie had perished.

IDENTIFY SECOND VICTIM OF CRASH BETWEEN CAR, BUS

Chicagoan Dies in Car of New Yorker.

The second victim of the automobile and motor bus collision Monday on route 66 south of Downers Grove, was identified yesterday as Sam Roy Midell, 442 South Wells street. The other victim was Jack Kalmore of Brooklyn, N. Y.

The two men were riding in Kalmore's car when they were cut off by an unidentified motorist. Their car swerved and crashed into an oncoming Bluebird bus. The bus, en route from Joliet to Chicago, was carrying 22 passengers. Both vehicles caught fire. Fifteen bus passengers suffered minor injuries. Midell and Kalmore were burned to death.

James M. Jessie, 34, of 5716 West 63d street, a laborer, died in Holy Cross hospital of injuries received earlier in the day when he was hit near his home by a car driven by John Levine, 23, of 1224 West 74th street.

Mrs. Ruth Klemm, 45, of Route 53, Palatine, was killed in Higgins road, three miles south of Arlington Heights, when a car she was driving hit a tree.

Robert Crowe, 20, of Louisville, Ky., was killed last night when his truck collided with an Elgin, Joliet & Eastern railroad freight train where route 30 crosses the tracks near Dyer, Ind.

Mrs. Dorothy Stulce, 64, of 3328 North avenue, died in Oak Park hospital of injuries received Oct. 5 in front of 820 Gunderson avenue, Oak Park, when she was struck by a car driven by Thomas Powell, 32, of 9745 Ridgeway avenue.

The state highway office in Springfield reported yesterday that 236 persons died in Illinois in September as the result of automobile injuries. This was a [illegible] per cent increase over the 224 Illinois traffic deaths in 1940.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 768 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 532 were killed in Chicago where 21,213 were injured in the same period.

ALL POLICEMEN WILL ISSUE PARKING TAGS AFTER NEXT SATURDAY

Police Commissioner James P. Allman told supervising and district captains yesterday that from now on every policeman is to be traffic minded and watch for violations.

His order was issued when he met the captains to instruct them on the use of automobile parking violation tags which are to be distributed to all patrolmen Nov. 1. The traffic division has used the tie-on tag system of arrest slips for a year.

Allman told the captains the tags are to be used in connection with double parking, parking in safety lanes or beside fire hydrants or parking which blocks traffic. He said that before attaching a tag to an automobile the officer should try to locate the owner of the car and give him a standard arrest slip.

STUDENT FACES 2 CHARGES OF MANSLAUGHTER

Clarence McDonald Jr., 20 years old, a student at the Illinois Institute of Technology, will be arraigned in boys' court this morning on two charges of manslaughter growing out of the deaths of two men struck by his car Oct. 5. The victims were John P. Grady, 64, of 1508 Rosemont avenue, and John Doles, 59, of 2746 North Artesian avenue.

The accident occurred at Western and Devon avenues. McDonald, the son of a wealthy electrical goods manufacturer, and four companions testified at the inquest last Friday that they had several beers in three taverns, but that McDonald was not intoxicated at the time of the accident.

AN EVEN DOZEN ADD NAMES FOR TEN PIN MEET

Two Cleveland Stars to Bid for Honors.

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

More names, big names, have been added to the list of entries for the All-Star bowling eliminations and match game championships, scheduled in the Coliseum Dec. 7 thru 14. Six, including a complete team entry, are from Chicago, and six more have come in from other cities. These entries from outside are particularly significant, proving beyond doubt that Chicago's coming attraction has captured the interest of bowling stars everywhere.

Frank Kartheiser.

The list of non-Chicagoans is headed by two Cleveland greats, Charlie Lausche and Joe Kissoff. Lausche is the star who carried Lowell Jackson right down to the final frame of the elimination finals in St. Louis last November to determine the man to meet Ned Day for the latter's match game championship. Kissoff's name is synonymous with the word bowling to bowling fans the nation over.

A New Yorker Enters.

A third star among the entrants is Albert R. Brandt of Lockport, N. Y. His entry blank lists a succession of 200-plus averages for the last five years, but outstanding is the 886 three game total he submitted two years ago. It is the highest three game total ever submitted. His games were 297, 289, and 300.

Additional bowlers from outside Chicago who have filed entries are Earl P. Gramer of Fargo, N. D.; John S. Ferraro of Kingston, N. Y., and James M. Brady of Valparaiso, Ind.

Added to Chicago's entry is that of Frank C. Kartheiser, manager of Northtown recreation, former match game champion, and winner of two previous round robins—in Detroit and Milwaukee. He averaged better than 220 in each event.

And the team entry is that of the Chapin & Gores, which finished fourth in the last American Bowling congress tournament with a 3,033 total. The quintet also finished third in the last city tournament, second in the North End Traveling league, and currently is second in the 18 team Randolph league and in the North End circuit. It has finished second in two sweepstakes and fourth in another this fall.

Erickson Leads Chicago Team.

The team is captained by Marvin Erickson who was leadoff man on the quintet which was predecessor to the C. & G. and won the ABC title with a 3,057 score in 1928. Erickson, president of the Illinois Bowling association, is not now in the lineup. Stars who were on that championship five and still are members are Leo Faetz and Herb Lange. Other veterans of the team are Rudy Boedecker and Leroy Zander. The one freshman—but a veteran bowler—is Rudy Habetler.

Faetz was captain of the Monarch Beer team which won the ABC crown in 1940 and thus has two world championship medals. In individual or team competition he also holds four city of Chicago championships and others as follows:

State, two titles; Midwest, two; Milwaukee, three; Interstate, four, and Tri-state, four.

Zender's Good, Too.

Lange was the first man to bowl over 1,900 in successive ABC tournaments, getting 1,943 in 1922 and 1,950 in 1923. Since then he has added 1,901, 1,910, and 1,907 all-events totals in the national event, thereby becoming the only man to hit over 1,900 in five tournaments.

Zender averaged 202 to lead the Greater Chicago Traveling league last year. He finished sixth in the ABC doubles in 1940. Boedecker is a steady 200 average bowler in league play. Habetler rolled 23 better than 600 series in the North End last season and finished third among the individuals with 204.

NEW FLIGHT OF DUCKS INVADES ILLINOIS VALLEY

High Water Continues to Be a Problem.

BY BOB BECKER.

The recent storm and much cooler weather up north has sent thousands of ducks into the Illinois river, according to reports received yesterday from the valley country. The storm that swept thru the northern states was just the kind that each fall starts the birds on their way. Pete Carroll of Lacon said last night that there were many new birds in the marshes near that town. The mallards have been moving in and the pintails leaving. At the present the majority of birds down there are mallards, greenwings, and widgeon. There are some open water ducks such as the redhead and the canvasback. The water level still is up approximately two feet.

Sangamon Hunting Even Better.

High water continues to be a problem in most of the marshes along the river. Hunters everywhere are begging for a long spell of clear weather that will permit the streams to carry off the excess water all thru the river valley.

Despite the high water some parts of the Sangamon river valley again produced extraordinary hunting last week-end. When we hunted along the Sangamon about ten days ago we had some of the finest shooting we've ever experienced with five species of ducks going into the bag. Last week-end it was even better, according to the report from a party of Chicago hunters. Their bag was mostly pintails.

Hunting Bound to Be Spotty.

With the new flight of mallards into the valley, the bag ratio should change this week-end, unless the mallards can't find a satisfactory depth of water. That's one of the big problems for all the puddler ducks during this spell of high water. We know of stands of millet along the river that are so deeply submerged by high water levels that the puddler ducks can't get to this desirable source of food.

Until the streams and marshes get back to normal and sloughs which now have four or five feet of water return to their usual depth of one or two feet, duck hunting is bound to be rather spotty. There is plenty of natural food in the river for the birds if the water will only drop so they can get to it.

AUSTIN ELEVEN TO PLAY ATLANTA BOYS' HIGH NOV. 7

Austin High school of Chicago will meet Boys' High school of Atlanta, Ga., in a night football game in Atlanta Friday, Nov. 7. The arrangements were completed by telephone last night by Coaches Boy Hyland of Austin and Shorty Doyal of the Atlanta school.

Boys' High has one of the most impressive records in the south. It has 18 straight victories to its credit and has won seven games this season, totaling 307 points while holding all opponents scoreless. Austin has won five league games this year while losing one.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 28.—There are a few things about after dinner speaking that ought to be investigated by experts on mental ills. . . . One is why a sports writer ever attempts to make an after dinner speech and another is why any one would listen to a sports writer trying to make an after dinner speech. . . . Nevertheless and notwithstanding, your correspondent last night put in an appearance at the annual Buffalo Athletic club banquet, and aside from the trifling drawback that we had nothing of consequence to say, it was a grand oratorical triumph. . . . After all, how could a sports writer from Chicago have anything of importance for a group which in previous years had heard such men as Henry McLemore and Grantland Rice discuss the relative value to womanhood of Gypsy Rose Lee and Lydia Pinkham, and by the way, whatever became of Frenesi? . . . After the dinner some of the guest speakers tried to forget it all over a tub of lager, and somehow or other the conversation got around to football officials and their place in the human scheme. . . . This was entirely unexepected, because your correspondent, having sat on the All-Stars' bench the last eight years with some of the nation's most famous coaches, had concluded that these gentlemen could find no reason whatever for the presence of officials at football games. . . .

From this point we're going to let Tommy Hughitt, one of the gridiron's most widely known arbiters, carry on the discussion. . . . This is Mr. Hughitt talking: "You remember the famous fifth down incident involving Red Friesell in last year's Dartmouth-Cornell game? Well, we had another fifth down occurrence a few weeks ago in a Canisius-St. Francis college game here in Buffalo. The game was handled by four officials who have a good list of assignments from Asa Bushnell of the Eastern association. That's the group that said 'officials who worked both college and pro games in 1940 became mentally and physically tired.' I wonder what they'll say about this latest error. Those boys are fine officials and have had long experience, but it still shows that a human can err. My suggestion for limiting such slips to a minimum is to put the checking of downs in the hands of a timer when timers are used to run the electric clocks and time the games. They should sit in the press box and keep a graph of the game showing each down. I think this easily could be done together with their duties as timekeepers. Neither job needs to be official, but can be used as a check on the men working the game on the field.

"A gong or some other signaling device could be installed behind each bench. Then when the checker rang up the downs coaches, players, and officials would know what down was being played. I think confusion resulting from incomplete passes, fouls that sometimes result in the down being played over or a delay of the game during discussion of fouls are the causes of errors in checking downs. A person seated by himself in the press box would be in position to check downs without disturbance as well as to time the game."

CARL SOMDAL

Simple Strategy.

The defense of Russia beyond Moscow should be easy. I understand it is a wild and desolate country. All the Russians will have to do is burn all the road maps and the Nazis will get lost.

Earlier America.

George H. Ellis, 76 years old, who is consultant engineer for the insulite division of the Minnesota and Ontario Paper company, recently was honored by Minneapolis civic leaders at a testimonial dinner. One of his most vivid recollections was an incident that occurred in Evanston, where he lived at the time. In 1894, while driving his homemade automobile, Ellis was arrested by an Evanston policeman. A justice of the peace ordered the car chained to a hitching post while he looked up the law regarding the matter. Ellis was charged with running a self-propelled vehicle on a street or highway without a footman preceding at 10 paces with a red flag by day or a red lantern by night. He was fined, and the arresting policeman was ordered to escort the vehicle to the city limits in the prescribed manner. Ellis bought a cane and a red bandana to equip the officer.

Bonds of Friendship.

When days are filled with sunshine
How close we hold a friend.
It's good to share the laughter—
The dreams that have no end.
And it is fun exchanging
Some episode of fun,
And finding much in common
In all that you have done.

But when the days are shadowed
Perhaps with pain or grief,
The bonds of friendship tighten
Almost beyond belief.
And burdens aren't so heavy
When some one takes your hand—
And not a word is needed
To prove he understands.

The world would be so lonely
In sunny hours or gray—
Without the gift of friendship
To help us every day.
—Hilda Butler Farr.

Hats.

With each fresh season women's hats
Comprise a new adventure,
Looking them over, trying them on,
While friends beguile or censure;
Trying to decide if that "off-the-face"
Might look just a little silly,
Or debating whether that bird on the brim
Might seem just a mite willy-nilly.

Now why can't men have a thrill like that
Each time the seasons alter,
Why can't we, too, be torn with doubt
And quake and tremble and falter;
Trying to decide if that robin egg blue
With that little bunch of red cherries
Is a bit too gay—boys, what do you say—
Now wouldn't that be the berries?
—JAZBO of Old Dubuque.

Sobs of a Substitute.

I sent the little girl a note tonight
Asking her why she pawned my watch and pin;
"You know," I told her, "stealing can't be right,
And you are guilty of a grievous sin;
I've treated you quite well you must allow,
I've bought you fancy dinners by the score,
But you've destroyed our lovely friendship now
By acts of theft and treachery galore."

I wonder if all girls who are refined,
Who have exceeding charm and striking beauty,
Have never any other thought in mind
But the procuring of some easy booty;
It seems to me such an untold disgrace

Quarter Backs Still Are the Field Generals.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Minnesota has an advantage in weight and in the number of experienced linemen over Northwestern in preparing for the Big Nine title battle Saturday in Minneapolis. The Gophers also have had an advantage in schedule since the Wildcats met Michigan and Ohio State in succession while the Gophers played a weak Pittsburgh eleven before meeting Michigan.

On the basis of games won and lost, Minnesota also may be presumed to have an advantage in generalship. From the play by play accounts of the games of each of Saturday's rivals, the Gophers have made a higher percentage of touchdowns from scoring opportunities than the Wildcats.

Bill Garnaas, Minnesota sophomore quarter back, now looms as the sophomore of the conference year. He is not a ball carrier. He doesn't punt. But Garnaas stepped into Minnesota's back field in the opening game with the University of Washington and has directed the team ever since. He's a fine blocker and his defensive work against Michigan's passes last week probably saved that game for the Gophers.

Northwestern will depend on Don Kruger and Dick Erdlitz to direct its attack. At the moment Erdlitz is the varsity quarter back because of his success in last Saturday's game at Ohio State. Erdlitz is a fine pass receiver—he caught four of the seven completed passes—and he has tightened up the secondary defense from his position at defensive right half.

Quarter Backs Still Field Generals.

It is possible under the 1941 collegiate substitution rule for a coach to call all plays by changing quarter backs or sending in a substitute with instructions. Neither Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern, nor Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, has taken the game away from their field generals. Waldorf believes that too many instructions from the bench eventually will undermine the confidence of the team.

Erdlitz undoubtedly will start at quarter back for Northwestern Saturday. His position on the first team is a reward for perseverance and his performances against Michigan and Ohio State. Erdlitz is best known to the thousands who have watched Northwestern in the last two years as a place kicker. Erdlitz has kicked nine points after touchdowns this season in 10 attempts. He made one in two tries in the Kansas State game, followed with five against Wisconsin, one against Michigan, and then kicked both points after Northwestern's touchdowns at Ohio State.

Result Might Have Been Tie.

It is likely Northwestern would have tied Minnesota last year instead of losing 13 to 12 if the current substitution rule had been in effect. Northwestern scored first in the opening period and Don Clawson

Operate Today on Clay Bryant for Bone Chip

Zanesville, O., Oct. 28 [Special].—Pitcher Clay Bryant, who teamed with Bill Lee to win a National league pennant for Chicago three years ago, will leave by motor at dawn tomorrow for St. Louis to undergo an operation for removal of an elbow bone chip from his right arm.

Bryant said the operation will be performed by Dr. Robert Hyland, St. Louis Cardinals' team surgeon. Dr. Hyland has told Bryant that shoulder pains which have hindered the pitcher's delivery for two years, resulted from excessive use of the shoulder to relieve strain on the injured elbow.

Bryant finished only a fair season with Tulsa in the Texas league and hopes soon to become a free agent. He said he does not yet have his release from the Oilers.

Three Army Men for Irish to Watch

One of Army's hardest running backs is Henry J. Mazur of Lowell, Mass., who does some fancy stepping for the cameraman. Army and Notre Dame started their rivalry in 1913 and have played each succeeding year except in 1918.

Army Coach Refuses to Take Credit for Team's Great Work

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP).—Coach Red Blaik wants it distinctly understood that no one pulled any rabbits out of a hat to bring Army back as a football power.

Despite what the majors and colonels in the far flung army outposts try to tell you about the miracles Red has worked since taking over on the Plains, there was nothing to concocting the winning cocktail but a jigger of horse sense and a dash of making the players realize it was just as easy to win as to lose.

No Miracle, Blaik Says.

As the entire cadet corps, from the football captain down to the rawest, stiff-necked plebe, made ready today for the annual big battle with Notre Dame Saturday, Red sat back and pooh-poohed the idea that the startling shift from two years of Army losses to a so far undefeated campaign necessitated any miraculous magic on the part of himself or his staff.

"Why," he said, "we've treated these fellows just like we would any ordinary men. We've approached them from the common sense angle. We've tried to tell them why we were having them do certain things so they'd know why they were working hard on certain football fundamentals.

Players Get the Idea.

"When I first arrived the boys just didn't know what the hard work was for. But after they'd won a couple they got the idea in a hurry. That's all there was to it. They're college men and they realized that if they were going to work hard they might as well do it to win as to lose. As for saying I've done the coaching job of the year here—well, I'm no Houdini."

In spite of the fact Red tries to knock down any great stunt he might have pulled, there's no denying the fact this Army team has more morale and zing than any cadet club in years. They're so high, in fact, they're looking ahead to Notre Dame as just another ball club to be taken—and this despite Red's warning to them that on physical comparison, speed, and performance the Irish should walk over them.

Praises Squad's Morale.

This, mind you, despite the fact Red has virtually the same squad which won only one game last year, and that a one point edge over Williams.

"Do you want to know the real miracle here?" he went on. "It's the fact that a squad which has lost consistently for two years can still have such great morale. Ordinarily, after a team has been down for two years like these boys have, a new coach would take three or four years to rebuild. But these fellows just picked themselves off the floor and now they're fighting like soldiers."

Red may think this continued morale is to the credit of the players alone. But Army men laugh that one off and put the finger right on—you guessed it—Prof. Red Blaik.

PLAN CRIMINAL ACTION UNDER '41 ILLINOIS LAW

Evidence Will Go to Grand Jury.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The Illinois Racing board is expected to launch a move today which may establish a precedent on the American turf. Following a second hearing yesterday on the recent Rapid Bone ringer case at Hawthorne, Maj. Ednyfed Williams, Frank Mandel, and William Fay—the three members of the board—will issue a ruling this morning. It is generally believed that the parties responsible for the hoax will be barred from the turf—but that's not the half of it.

Conspirators have been ruled off on previous occasions without wincing any more than if they'd been slapped on the wrist. This time, however, the authorities plan to get as tough as the ringer gang.

Today's ruling, which will establish the identity of the persons whom the board considers responsible for the Rapid Bone fraud, is considered merely the preliminary to the real business at hand—prosecution under the racing law of 1941 which provides a prison sentence for the specific offense of running a ringer.

Will Seek Indictments.

Assistant Attorney General Albert J. Meserow, in opening the hearings last Friday, stated that the goal of the authorities was not merely disciplinary action, but criminal prosecution. He said the evidence would be presented to the grand jury with the idea of obtaining indictments. If indictments are returned, extradition proceedings can be instituted against those who have ignored the board's invitation to appear at the inquiries.

The persons who have failed to appear, and may or may not be named in the board's ruling today, include R. V. C. Van Cleve, the reputed owner of Rapid Bone when that horse ran at Hawthorne on Sept. 24 and Sept. 26; William Rafferty, reputed owner of Hasty Notion, which ran as a ringer under the name of Rapid Bone in the above mentioned races; John M. Sperry, a principal in the Laddie Boy ringer case at Washington Park in 1938, who also has been linked to the Rapid Bone affair, and Thomas Malone, who figured in the Bye Bye ringer episode at Pimlico in 1938. There are a number of others named in the various subpenas, but these four are considered key men in the case.

Jockey a Smart Witness.

In yesterday's hearing, Attorney Meserow made a final attempt, rapier-like in its swiftness, to obtain evidence linking Brad Brodsky of Philadelphia with the case. Brodsky, registered owner of Hasty Notion, had testified on Friday that he had disposed of the horse to Rafferty in a private sale a week before the ringer episode.

The fast exchange came toward the end of yesterday's hearing while Robert Merritt, the jockey who had ridden Hasty Notion for Brodsky, was in the witness chair. Merritt's manner had commanded more respect than any other witness at the entire hearing. He had been confident without being cocky, courteous without being servile, shrewd without being slick—and he had shown a nice discrimination for the various shades in the meanings of questions. In other words, he had been a witness worthy of a prosecutor's efforts.

Parries a Fast Question.

Interest was dragging a bit when Meserow asked Merritt if he'd ever signed anything for Brodsky. After some deliberation, the jockey said he had ordered some blankets and blinkers and he may have signed for them but he couldn't be quite sure. On the face of it, the transaction seemed unimportant, but Meserow was on it like a flash. He flipped a photo across the table to Merritt—a photo of Rapid Bone in blinkers, with Van Cleve at the bridle, immediately after the finish of the winning race at Hawthorne.

"Are those the blinkers?"

Merritt studied them and hesitated.

"Well," he said, "the blinkers I bought were blue."

After some study Merritt was unable to say positively whether they were or were not the blinkers he had bought but he was inclined to doubt that they were part of the Brodsky stable's equipment.

BOB'S WAY SHOWS WAY TO 6 RIVALS AT SPORTSMAN'S

Longest Shot on Board Wins Feature.

Bob's Way beat a field of six rivals in the River Grove purse at Sportsman's Park yesterday after he had been established as the longest shot on the board at 11 to 1 in an exceptionally wide open betting race. He finished powerfully in this mile and 70 yards run to beat Off Shore by a nose, while the 8 to 5 favorite, Mordecai, was saving third money.

Bob's Way had scored by eight lengths in the $2,000 class in his only previous victory of the season. That was in July at Arlington Park. He had run a creditable race at Hawthorne early this month, however, being beaten only a nose by Off Shore.

Pays $24.20 to Win.

Connie Ann, the 9 to 2 second choice, showed her customary early speed, racing into the lead while Off Shore forced the pace. After going seven furlongs, Connie Ann began to tire and the race developed into a struggle between Off Shore and Mordecai. Off Shore went wide for the better footing in the stretch, carrying Mordical with him. Then Bob's Way closed powerfully from away back to get up in the last stride.

The prices on the winner were $24.20, 9.40, and 4.80.

Connie Ann Collapses.

Connie Ann collapsed after the race, falling flat on the track and pitching off Jockey Steve Brooks soon after crossing the finish. After lying down for a while, she got up and cantered back to the finish line, apparently little the worse for her exertions.

Bob's Way was the second substantial priced horse to score after the more popular contenders had dominated the earlier part of the program. Golden Monk finished stoutly to take the fifth race at prices of $25, $11.60, and $6.60. He beat Bolute by a length with Brown Blizzard third.

Coach Credits Army Players for Fine Work

plays in dummy scrimmage. Coach Frank Leahy also issued five new plays and sent the squad thru a rehearsal of old ones in shadow scrimmage. A contact scrimmage likely will be held tomorrow.

The squad reported in excellent physical condition, with no member of the first three teams likely to be unfit for duty in the game in New York, barring mishaps in practice the rest of the week.

Jack Warner, relief left half for Angelo Bertelli, missed Saturday's game, but he will play this week, Leahy said. Warner and Ray Ebli, second team left tackles, who were out of the Carnegie Tech game, are the only members of the first two teams who have been out of action with injuries thus far.

MARQUETTE SEES MISSISSIPPI AS HARD TO BEAT

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 28 [Special].—Coach Tom Stidham of Marquette today indicated he expects Mississippi to be even tougher than Duquesne was last week, but expressed the hope the Avalanche eleven would be more successful defensively than it was against Duquesne. In addition to the problem provided by Mississippi's touchdown twins, Full Back Merle Hapes and Half Back Junie Hovious, there is another worry this week in Jackie Flack, the southerners' reserve back who led the team to last Saturday's victory over Tulane.

The physical status of Center Mel Maceau and Half Back Johnny Goodyear of Marquette still was uncertain today. Both were injured in the Duquesne game.

Ten Years Ago Today—Three Minnesota football stars, Capt. Clarence Munn, Kenneth McDougall, and Jack Manders, received letters offering them $1,500 apiece to "throw" the Wisconsin game. . . . Tony Canzoneri retained his junior lightweight title by winning a 10 round decision over Phil Griffin.

BRONCO CLAIMS A 3D VICTIM IN STADIUM RODEO

The bucking broncos and wild Brahma bulls that pit their strength and ferocity against the ropes and cunning of the cowboys in the world's championship rodeo in the Chicago Stadium claimed another victim last night. He was Harold Ridney of Morrison, Okla., who suffered a broken leg when he was thrown during the saddle bronc riding contest by the bucker Poison Arrow. Ridney was taken to Norwegian American hospital where two other injured cowboys are recovering.

Quarter Backs Still Are the Field Generals.

missed the kick for the point. Then Minnesota went ahead, 7 to 6, on the first play of the second period and scored again in the third quarter to lead, 13 to 6. Northwestern's second touchdown was made by Red Hahnenstein on the first play of the fourth period.

Under 1940 rules a player removed from the game could not return until the next period. Thus if Erdlitz had been substituted to kick the tying point the player he relieved would have been thru for the afternoon. George Benson attmpted to kick the point and failed.

Holding the ball for the placekicker is at least equally as important as the act of kicking. The play calls for perfect coördination by the center, who must pass the ball accurately, the man who holds it, and the kicker, while other team members block out opponents. Kruger holds the ball for Erdlitz' kicks.

Weighs Only 175 Pounds.

Erdlitz has gained a starting berth in the Wildcat back field despite a lack of weight for this blocking position. He weighs only 175 pounds and is 5 feet 9 inches tall. He also is handicaped in covering pass receivers and in defending the right flank of the Northwestern line. His spirit and determination have been factors in his favor.

Erdlitz is a senior in the college of liberal arts and he has majored in geology. He won 11 letters in four sports in Oshkosh, Wis., High school. His father, R. J. Erdlitz, director of physical education in the Oshkosh schools and one time an official in the National Professional Football league, formerly was employed by a circus. Young Erdlitz has worked in the summer vacation periods for the same circus. One of his recent jobs was as attendant to Gargantua.

N. U. Drills on Defense.

Northwestern's squad drilled last night on its defenses for the Minnesota plays. Several of the varsity were excused from drill to recover from the effects of the battle with Ohio State. Among them was Don Johnson who shares the center position with Gene Mundy. Johnson will be ready to play Saturday.

Otto Graham, sophomore half back, underwent an operation for a nose fracture yesterday, but will be ready for Saturday's game. Graham suffered the injury last Saturday against Ohio.

PURDUE HAS SCRIMMAGE.

With Kenny Smock declared definitely out, Bob Chester, another sophomore, moved into the regular left half back position and turned in a good performance. Marion Carter, who played right half back last week, was moved over to left half and also registered several good gains. Most of the passing was handled by Chester, Francis Meakim, and Walter Cook.

One gloomy note cropped up in the Purdue camp when Coach Mal Elward said that he doubted that Co-Capt. Tom Melton would be able to face the Rams.

Badgers See Pass Defense as Big Problem

Madison, Wis., Oct. 28 [Special.]—Wisconsin's football squad went back to work this afternoon in preparation for Saturday's Syracuse game with a scrimmage against the freshmen, using the eastern team's running and pass plays.

Defense against forward passes will be emphasized during the week, Coach Harry Stuhldreher pointed out, for it was in that department that Indiana all but whipped the Badgers Saturday.

The selection of Ted Damos, senior right half back from Waukegan, Ill., as acting captain for the Syracuse game probably means that Mark Hoskins will be moved over to left half back and Len [Bud] Seelinger, who was hurt in the Indiana game, given a rest.

WORKS ON DEFENSE.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 28 [Special].—Syracuse's varsity today had a long defensive scrimmage against Wisconsin plays demonstrated by the freshmen in preparation for Saturday's game at Madison. All three of the varsity units in action experienced some trouble in stopping the frosh. Ed Fox was moved up to quarter back of the first team and Ralph Cordisco, a former wing back, called signals for the second eleven.

ROLLER DERBY TEAMS TO START GRIND TONIGHT

Two squads of men and girls will open the roller derby at 8 o'clock tonight in the Coliseum. The teams, representing Chicago and California, finished first and second, respectively, in the National Roller Derby league last season.

For 26 nights, thru Nov. 23, the rivals will battle for the league leadership. Each night a separate game is played and the series goes to the team taking the most of these contests.

Chicago's starting team will include Peggy O'Neal, Wes Aronson, Alicia Gaidas, Bob Satterfield, Virginia Baltzer, Eddie Fetter, and Jackie Johnson. California's lineup will include Russ Baker, Oneida Reynolds, Marge Evans, Tommy Atkinson, and Paul Gorski.

City Baseball League to Honor Winners Tonight

The Chicago Baseball league tonight will present trophies to the winning teams of last season's competition at Dinty Moore's banquet hall, 69th and Ada streets.

BROWN'S ACTION AGAINST PLAYER CREATES A STIR

Anderson Fired for Good of Team, Says Coach.

Columbus, O., Oct. 28 [Special].—Ohio State's football team today started preparation for its game with Pittsburgh Saturday as the campus buzzed with comment on the dismissal of End Charlie Anderson.

Anderson, who was dropped after practice yesterday, refused to discuss his dismissal but admitted he had visited a night club while the team was in training.

Coach Paul Brown's formal statement today said that Anderson was dismissed "for the benefit of the squad and the future welfare of Ohio State football."

Others close to the situation said that Anderson had not shown the proper spirit in practice sessions or during the games, that he was frequently late to practice, and had not learned the plays. Brown said, however, that Anderson's showing in the Purdue and the Northwestern games had nothing to do with his action. Anderson played three years at Massillon High school under Brown.

WOLVERINES ARE WEARY.

ILLINI GET LIGHT WORK.

Uncertainty still prevails about Elmer Engel's return to the lineup against Michigan here Saturday and it is probable that Bob Wilson will again play left tackle. Alex Agase, Don Mattiazza, and Cliff Niedzelski were worked at right guard in place of Joe Pawlowski, who will be unable to play.

M'AFEE'S NO. 1 FAN? LUCKMAN —AND SID KNOWS

Bears' Quarter Back Has Quite a Job.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Not all of George McAfee's fans sit in the stands. Some of his public acts much closer to the Bears' one play wizard than the seats. In fact, the man who hands George the ball is spellbound by his running genius, and in the heat of a ball game, just another fan.

"The toughest part of a ball game for me," said Quarter Back Sid Luckman yesterday, after the professional champions had put in three solid hours in Wrigley field preparing for Sunday's game with the Packers, "is to carry out my assignments after giving the ball to George. You know, the quarter back has to make a fake on all plays unless he's willing to contribute $10 to the team's treasury. But even so, I always manage to at least get a quick look out of the corner of my eye at George as he gets under way."

Sid Has Backers, Too.

Luckman has his share of Sunday football followers, too. He isn't as spectacular as McAfee, of course. Sid's job is that of a calm executioner, picking plays at the right time as play director of this finest football team of all time. He realizes that Sunday he will have one of the most important assignments of his career.

"We'll run a couple of plays first to find out just what kind of a defense we're going to get today. . . . See whether they're going to use a five, six, or seven man line. . . . I mustn't forget to see who's covering our man in motion, either. . . . I'll have to watch closely as they may have more than just one man on this job. . . . Let's see, now, who's in our back field? Gallarneau, Swisher, and Osmanski. . . . That's important. . . . These runners are specialists. . . . Some of 'em are great on quick opening plays, others run the ends, and when the right time comes, I've got to pick out the right man for the right play.

"Have to Keep Thinking —"

"Gee, you have to keep thinking all the time. . . . What down is it? And what is the position of the ball on the field? No score yet and if we do get stopped down there and we're close enough, we'll try a field goal. . . . It's important to score first and I'll take three if I'm not sure of six points. . . . I'll have to get a blue print of that other line in my mind. . . . Mustn't forget to see if their men are over shifting or undershifting."

And so it goes. Thousands of thoughts in every game for the quarter back, at least the quarter back who cracks the whip for a team with such an intricate offensive and defensive system as the Bears.

"The quarter back can't see everything that goes on," says this earnest young man from Columbia. "We get a lot of help from the linemen. They know how the other fellows are blocking and shifting. Back in the huddle, I ask for this information. It all makes for a better selection of plays and general tactics."

MOSCONI ROUTS PROCITA, 125 TO 4, IN CUE TOURNEY

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 28 (AP).—While undefeated Ralph Greenleaf held to the lead in the world's pocket billiards championship tournament, Defending Champion Willie Mosconi of Philadelphia broke a four way tie for second place tonight by defeating Joe Procita, Gloversville, N. Y., 125 to 4, in 17 innings for a record of five victories and one loss.

Knox, Flowers Meet Tonight in Hammond Ring

Buddy Knox, Dayton, O., heavyweight, who has not appeared in this territory since he beat Henry Wacker in Chicago Stadium Jan. 29, 1940, will return for a 10 round bout against Lou Flowers of New York in Civic center auditorium in Hammond, Ind., tonight. Dutch Ulmer, Milwaukee heavyweight, is paired with Bill Petersen of Indiana Harbor in an eight round semi-windup.

Jim McMillen, veteran heavyweight wrestler, will meet Ole Olson of Milwaukee in the windup bout this evening in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. Supporting matches will bring together Ignacio Martinez and Rudy Kay, Ken Fenlon and Jack Claybourne, Mike Kilonis, and Wayne Barnett and Karl Malone and Billy Venable. . . . An amateur program will be presented in Social Turner hall, Belmont avenue and Paulina street, tonight under the auspices of the Ashland Athletic club. Eight contests are scheduled, headed by five rounders between Joe Baldassano, Ashland A. C. welterweight, and Jesse Walker, Morgan park, and Sam Davis, Waukegan featherweight, and Celestino Voldez, Northwest A. C.

Indiana Harbor amateur boxers will meet a West Suburban club team in a series of bouts this evening in Cicero stadium, 19th street and 52d avenue. . . . Another amateur show tonight will be held in Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison street, under the sponsorship of the 24th Ward Gov. Green organization.

3 BEARS PREDICT PACKER DEFEAT AT PRO HUDDLE

Three members of the Chicago Bears, George Wilson, Bob Nowaskey, and Ed Kolman, answered a barrage of questions yesterday at the Interfraternity club's Pro Huddle in the La Salle hotel after pictures had been shown of the team's recent 25 to 17 victory over the Green Bay Packers. All were quietly confident that the Bears again would whip their old rivals in Wrigley field Sunday.

CLASSIC LEAGUE BOWLS TONIGHT AT LOGAN SQUARE

Leading Schlitz Team to Meet Monarchs.

The Schlitz bowlers, league leaders, meet the Monarch Beers in tonight's Classic league matches at Logan Square Recreation, 2552 Milwaukee avenue. In other matches the Pabsts oppose Koenig Brau, Washington Shirts meet Blatz, and National Bowling faces Ambrosia.

Cy Therriault bowled a 652 series as Englewood Electric won three games from Lincoln Bottling in the Congress Recreation major. Wonder Bar, Sunnybrook, Fortune Brewing, Ruppert Beer, and Goebel Beer were the other winners. . . . Entries close Saturday night for Barney Hochstadter's second annual junior team sweepstakes—for teams of 875 average and less—at Archer-35th. The tourney is set for Nov. 15-16 and 22-23. . . . Chicago Recreation cut the Internationals' lead in the South End Traveling league to two games by winning a pair from the Internationals. Meanwhile Bruck-Strachans won two to join the second place tie.

Vogue Tyres' 2,967 series, topped off by a 1,033 game, led the South Shore Major league totals Monday. Jack Rusnak's 647 was high solo count. . . . Fritzi Scheffs' match with the Michelobs heads the Samuelson Major schedule tonight. Universal Musics meet Waggoner Stations, Samuelson Budweisers oppose Mee & Ramme, and Wallace Coals meet Goldammer Kids in other matches. . . . A Fort Custer team including Bob Cavanaugh, former Holy Cross end, and Milt Bocek, one time White Sox, will meet the Meister Brau team of the Greater Chicago Traveling league in an exhibition match at Fullerton-Crawford at 2 o'clock Sunday.

BLACKHAWKS AND KANSAS CITY TO CLASH TONIGHT

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 28 [Special].—The Chicago Blackhawks of the National Hockey league and their newly acquired farm club, the Americans of Kansas City, will meet in their first practice game of the season tomorrow night on the University of Illinois rink, where both have been working out. They will meet again Saturday night in the Chicago Arena and on Sunday night in Kansas City.

The three games will give Manager Paul Thompson of the Blackhawks a good line on the new men at Kansas City who might be available for big league duty in the near future. The minor leaguers are directed by Johnny Gottselig, for many years a Blackhawk star.

BEUTNER PANTHERS WIN.

The Beutner Panthers defeated the Monarchs, 19 to 18, in a Greater Chicago league game played in Weber park last night. The Hawthorne A. C. will meet St. Bart's in the same park tonight.

They Join Up as a Unit

If You'd Find City League's Feudists, See Crane, Austin

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

A search for the outstanding feudists in the Public High School league will lead you to the west section, where Austin and Crane Tech produce such close races that tosses of coins, long conferences, and ouija boards are necessary to determine which eleven will represent the zone in the semi-final play-offs. The 1941 campaign has been no exception, and as the sectional schedule nears an end the two teams are technically tied for the lead, each with 10 points under the league's system of awarding two points for a victory and one for a tie.

The whip, however, is in Crane Tech's hands this season for the first time since 1935. Crane Tech has four victories and two ties and meets Kelvyn Park in its last game on Nov. 8 in Key Branch stadium. Austin has won five games, lost one, and opposes Foreman, which held Crane Tech to a scoreless tie last week in Hanson park, Fullerton and Central avenues, Saturday afternoon. If the two leaders triumph in the final games Crane Tech will be named as the semi-finalist because of a 12 to 6 victory over Austin two weeks ago.

The two Public School league semi-final games may be played as a double header in Soldiers' field on Nov. 15. . . . Brother Finch is the new athletic director at Leo High. . . . Robert D. Peck III., son of the late Robert Peck, Pittsburgh center, who was placed on Walter Camp's All-American teams in 1915 and 1916, is a senior quarter back on the Lake Forest academy eleven. . . . Barney Varnes, Leo basketball coach, will speak at the weekly basketball clinic in Independence park, 3945 North Springfield avenue, tomorrow night. . . . Howard Fellows of La Salle-Peru is one of the youngest prep athletic directors in the district. He is 25 years old.

Hinsdale, unbeaten leader in the West Suburban conference, will seek its fourth victory against Glenbard in Glen Ellyn Saturday afternoon. . . . La Grange, occupant of second place with two triumphs and two ties, meets York on the La Grange field. . . . Linc Lippincott, New Trier center, played in the Winnetka school's back field last season. . . . Urbana has accepted an invitation to compete in the Pontiac holiday basketball tournament. . . . Dwight Eddleman's Centralia quintet and Morton of Cicero also are entered in the meet. . . . Mario Maggio, St. Mel left half back, who is 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighs only 145 pounds, has played an important part in each of the squad's three victories this season.

Coaches Andy Pilney, St. Mel; Wally Fromhart, Mount Carmel; Joe Gleason, De La Salle; Tony Lawless, Fenwick, and Ralph Maillard, St. Ignatius, are members of the board which will determine the Catholic league's winner of the Noble E. Kizer Memorial trophy, which is awarded by the Purdue club of Chicago. . . . Capt. John Pinnow, Freeport High's 175 pound full back, is a brother of Don Pinnow, now playing full back on George Washington university's eleven. . . . Don Morris of Streator, Don Shelton of Peoria Central, Sam Haun and Booker Moore of Danville, and John Rebuffoni are among the leading ball carriers in the Big Twelve conference this season. . . . Jack Vanderpoel and Doug Lorman, former Schurz football players, are attending the University of Illinois.

MERTES, GREEN RETURN TO IOWA VARSITY LINEUP

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 28 [Special].—Bus Mertes, half back, and Bill Green, full back, went back on the varsity today in the Iowa camp and a newcomer, Bob Matthews, sophomore candidate, joined the squad because it is figured the Hawkeyes need a place kicker against Indiana Saturday. Matthews place kicked with remarkable accuracy in today's workout. He appeared in uniform, but did not wear pads as he has an injured shoulder.

INDIANA WORKS ON KICKING.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 28 [Special].—Various aspects of the kicking game, including place kicks and returning and covering of kickoffs and punts, received attention at the Indiana university football camp today. Earl Doloway and Billy Hillenbrand handled most of the punting while Lou Saban drilled on kickoffs and placements.

Practice was concluded with the varsity going thru offensive maneuvers. The squad will leave Thursday night for Cedar Rapids, Ia., remaining there overnight Friday after a final drill in the Coe college stadium.

MAY BIRKHEAD, FORMER TRIBUNE WRITER, IS DEAD

On European Staff for Many Years.

New York, Oct. 28 [Special].—Miss May Birkhead, former European correspondent for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, died here last night in the Hospital for Special Surgery, after an illness of more than a year.

May Birkhead.

The body is being sent tonight to Louisiana, Mo., her mother's home. Funeral arrangements will be made by the family there. Services probably will be held Thursday.

Miss Birkhead was born in the Missouri town in 1883. She was the daughter of Dr. W. W. Birkhead, a dental surgeon, and Mrs. Laura Rule Birkhead, member of a pioneer Missouri family.

Miss Birkhead attended the high school in Louisiana and was graduated in 1899. As a young girl she visited often in St. Louis, where she was active in social affairs. Her parents were close friends of the late Sen. Champ Clark.

Chance thrust Miss Birkhead into journalism in 1912. She was aboard the steamship Carpathia, which went to the rescue of the passengers of the great liner Titanic after it struck an iceberg in the North Atlantic.

Story Wins Foreign Post.

She took copious notes on the rescue work and obtained pictures of many of the passengers saved. A New York newspaper purchased her article and later gave her a job as Paris correspondent. For more than 25 years she viewed the European scene and interpreted it with understanding. She had a wide acquaintance with important people abroad and this enabled her to cable many exclusive dispatches to the United States.

Miss Birkhead remained in Paris thru the world war. In 1927 she joined the staff of THE TRIBUNE. She wrote of Col. Lindbergh's landing after his sensational solo flight from New York. Later she covered such important news events as the wedding of the duke of Windsor and the British coronation ceremonies.

Bared French Unpreparedness.

Her knowledge enabled her to analyze with great accuracy the damage that had been done to French unity and preparedness for war by the radical government under Leon Blum. Early in 1939 she drew attention to the fact that France was woefully unprepared for war and was hoping it would not come until its army was ready. This has since been abundantly borne out by events.

When the present war started Miss Birkhead remained in Paris. She was still there when the Nazis swept over the French troops and occupied the city. It was her avowed intention to continue reporting the war as long as it lasted. She decided to leave only when she became ill and the Germans tightened regulations so far that it was difficult for her to give accurate accounts of what was going on.

Seized as Spy Suspect.

Her trip to America was in itself an epic. She and a physician and an author all left Paris in the doctor's car after getting as much gasoline as they could from the supply rationed to the American embassy. A few more gallons were picked up from German truck drivers, who accepted champagne in return.

In the city of Poitiers the travelers were arrested by the Germans as suspected British spies. Five days later, having proved their innocence, they were permitted to cross Spain and go into Portugal. In Lisbon, Miss Birkhead obtained a passage to America on the steamer Excambion. She arrived in New York Aug. 16, 1940.

Surviving is her mother. Her father died in 1904.

MATHER-SMITH DIES; EX-HEAD OF PAPER FIRM

Charles Frederick Mather-Smith, retired chairman of the board of Bradner, Smith & Co., Chicago paper manufacturers, died Monday at his estate, Edgegrove, in Oakland, Fla., it was reported yesterday. He was 77 years old and a member of a pioneer Chicago family.

Mr. Mather-Smith had lived in Florida for the last 35 years, but spent his summers in Highland Park. He retired two years ago from the board of the paper concern, which was founded by his father, Charles Mather-Smith, and his uncle, John Bradner. He was a prominent figure in the Florida citrus industry. He was one of the founders of the Chicago club and the Chicago Golf club, near Wheaton.

Surviving are a son, Charles Mather-Smith II., of Honolulu, T. H., and three daughters, Mrs. James Allen Turner of Highland Park, Mrs. Harry Calvin of Winnetka, and Mrs. John Fischbeck of Honolulu. Private services will be held in Florida.

MME. LEBLANC, 'INSPIRATION' OF MAETERLINK, DIES

VICHY, France, Oct. 28.—Georgette Leblanc, the actress who starred in Maurice Maeterlinck's plays, has died at Cannes. For some 20 years she was a close friend of the Belgian writer and claimed to have "inspired" many of his work. When Maeterlinck married the friendship ended and Georgette Leblanc wrote bitterly about him.

She once wrote that having come across a volume of Emerson's essays with a preface by Maeterlinck she read and reread that preface all night and when day dawned she was convinced "he was the only one I could ever love."

W59C WILL AIR SONG PROGRAM BY EDNA O'DELL

Edna O'Dell, W-G-N staff singer who has become a favorite of radio listeners thru her many radio shows, tonight is to begin a new series of programs on W59C, the frequency modulation station of W-G-N, Inc. She will be heard with the W59C Studio Salon orchestra directed by Harry Sukman from 7:30 to 8 p. m.

Edna O'Dell.

W59C, in coöperation with the Chicago Society for the Hard of Hearing and the Victory Workshop, where children with impaired hearing are taught trades, conducted an experiment recently to test the responsiveness of persons with defective hearing to frequency modulation.

In the first group tested were eight persons using hearing aid devices; in the latter, four juveniles, relying only on their ears. Listening alternately to FM and standard radio transmissions at the same level of intensity, both groups seemed to hear FM with better quality.

Radio engineers said frequency modulation programs would sound better because of greater definition and because FM has overcome the tonal distortions.

STARS TO HEAD SHOW AT RADIO ARTISTS' BENEFIT

Victor Moore, Irene Bordoni, and William Gaxton will head the floor show of the American Federation of Radio Artists' annual benefit entertainment, to be presented Nov. 7 in Hotel Sherman. Other stage, screen, radio and night club artists on the program will be Bob Strong and his orchestra, Joe Lewis, Marian Mann, the Vagabond's quartet, Harry Blackstone, the magician, the Pied Pipers, Zorina, Beverly Bayne, Lila Lee, and Phyllis Thaxter. Proceeds will go to the AFRA's sick and death benefit fund. Tickets may be purchased in Hotel Sherman. Many prizes will be awarded to guests.

RENEW STRIKE AT BIG AIRPLANE PARTS FACTORY

Threaten Five State Plant Tieup.

Bendix, N. J., Oct. 28 (AP).—The third strike in 15 weeks hit Air Associates, Inc., today, bringing with it a threat of a general strike in five eastern states by members of the aviation division of the United Automobile Workers of America [CIO].

Richard Frankensteen, national director of the union, said in New York he had telegraphed President Roosevelt he had no recourse but to use the economic strength of his union to protect members who declared here they would remain outside the plant until the company signs a contract or the army seizes the plant.

Company officials said 65 of the 700 employés struck, the same number involved in the second walkout, from which they never got back to work on 5 million dollars of defense contracts for aviation equipment.

Charges Pact Violation.

Frankensteen charged that F. Leroy Hill, president of Air Associates, had violated an agreement made Saturday with the defense mediation board to return the strikers to work at their old jobs. He said President Roosevelt was at fault because no effort had been made to force the company to abide by the board's ruling, adding:

"I will not be responsible for what happens after Thursday of this week. . . . Either the board will enforce that language [the recommendation that all strikers be rehired] or we will. Either all our people are going in on the same day, or they are not going in at all."

Local 711 of the union charged the company had refused to abide by the settlement announced in Washington by Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson and OPM Director William S. Knudsen.

Denied by Company Head.

Hill, in a telegram to Knudsen and Patterson, blamed the CIO for the latest trouble, asserting: "We have been at all times ready and we are ready now to live up to and carry out the letter and spirit of the agreement."

Union leaders contended reinstatement terms prepared by the company would deprive the strikers of their former positions and wage scales. They refused to sign yesterday, asserting terms accepted by Hill in Washington called for reinstatement at former positions and wage scales.

[Dispatches reporting the settlement reached last Saturday quoted Hill as saying he would return the strikers to work and put them on their old jobs as soon as possible.]

Since the CIO first went on strike on July 12 there has been much disorder and discord. The company contends 90 per cent of the employés wish to work.

Break Thru Picket Line.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 28 (AP).—AFL leaders formed a flying wedge to break a welders' picket line and reopen the Lake Washington shipyards at Houghton today. Later the Seattle Metal Trades Council [AFL] estimated that more than half the 4,000 sympathy strikers had returned to work at shipyards and other industries in this area.

An estimated 1,700 welders, demonstrating against the AFL's refusal to authorize them to form a separate union, continued their walkout here and at Tacoma.

Plants affected locally by the walkout have national armament orders aggregating 350 million dollars. The Houghton plant has 32 million dollars in naval defense orders and employs 1,400 men.

Arms Plant Is Closed.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 28 (AP).—The Eastern Rolling Mills plant, working on a $1,883,000 order for cartridge cases, was closed today by a strike of its approximately 450 employés. Manuel Trbovich, assistant director of the Steel Workers' Organizing committee [CIO] in Baltimore, said the dispute arose in the polishing department when new type machinery was installed and the rate of compensation in that department lowered. The rate was not disclosed.

Power Strike Postponed.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 28 (AP).—A power strike which would have paralyzed industries working on hundreds of millions in armament contracts and affected the homes of more than 1,500,000 persons in three states was postponed indefinitely tonight. It had been scheduled for 10 a. m. tomorrow and would have hit hardest at the South Louis metdopolitan area.

Representatives of 55 chapters of the Tri-State Utility Workers union of the Union Electric company voted to accept an OPM plan which would place the controversy in the hands of the national defense mediation board. The board, in return, would appoint three St. Louisans to arbitrate the 10 per cent wage increase demands of 3,000 workers.

Dedicate Hudson Motors' New Naval Ordnance Plant

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 28 [Special].—The 20 million dollar naval ordnance plant operated by the Hudson Motor Car company was formally dedicated today by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox. Known as the Centerline plant the project was started seven months ago. Its 14 buildings are virtually completed. Production has begun on the Oerlikon 20 mm. anti-aircraft machine gun for naval vessels. The plant will employ 7,000 workers when at capacity operations.

OIL CREDIT MEN TOLD TO PREPARE FOR WAR CONTINUING UNTIL 1946

Harvey T. Hill.

Business men should plan their affairs on the basis that the war will last until 1946, Harvey T. Hill, secretary of the Chicago Association of Credit Men, yesterday told the annual joint conference of the petroleum refiners division and the eastern petroleum credit group of the National Association of Credit Men in the Knickerbocker hotel.

The duration of the war is important in business planning because the longer it lasts the more regimentation it will bring, Hill indicated.

"When the war is over we all will be so badly in debt that the only way out will be inflation, unless drastic steps are taken by our government to avoid that spiral of prices," Hill said. "It is very likely that by the end of the war we shall be so regulated by the government that Secretary Ickes' oil regulation and today's priority rulings will appear insignificant. We now have priorities. Next will come allocations. Then, gradually, complete regimentation of business."

CENTRAL ILLINOIS PUBLIC SERVICE LOAN ON MARKET

The 38 million dollar Central Illinois Public Service company first mortgage bond issue which Halsey, Stuart & Co. was awarded in competitive bidding Monday will be offered the public today. The series A 3¾ per cent bonds, maturing in 1971, offered by an underwriting group of 47 members, are priced at 107 and accrued interest.

The utility company, controled by the Middle West corporation, will apply the proceeds to the redemption of an identical amount of 3¾ per cent A bonds of 1968 which are to be retired at 105¾. These steps are part of a 47 million dollar refunding program designed to effect substantial interest savings.

MEMBER OF SEC WARNS AGAINST CHANGES IN LAW

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28 (AP).—Ganson Purcell, member of the Securities and Exchange commission, told the house interstate commerce committee today that some of the amendments to the securities laws proposed by the industry might jeopardize investor protection.

Opening hearings on 80-odd proposals by both industry and the SEC, Purcell said that "the impetus for amending the act comes from the industry—and not from the commission."

Purcell said that the SEC "must strenuously oppose" some of the amendments and asserted that the long standing disagreement over revising the law arose from the fact that the industry "wants to free itself from anything that appears to it to be burdensome" while the SEC's duty "is to administer a law for the proctection of investors."

F. D. R. Tactics in Big Seaway Plan Assailed

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 28.—The methods used by President Roosevelt in his effort to put over the billion dollar St. Lawrence waterway project were denounced here today by Rep. Walter C. Ploeser [R., Mo.] before the 23d annual convention of the Mississippi Valley association. The association later passed a resolution condemning the project on the ground that "it is unsound national economy and would seriously handicap the nation's defense effort."

Ploeser charged that when the President was unable to get a treaty passed by the senate providing for the big navigation and power project he tried to get congress to approve an "agreement" with Canada covering it. The agreement, he said, has been embraced in a bill requiring only a simple majority approval by both houses instead of a two-thirds' majority in the senate for approval of a treaty.

Seeks to Compel Vote.

Ploeser said the President then labeled it a national defense project and in an attempt to insure passage he had it made a part of the rivers and harbors bill, an omnibus measure which as of Sept. 17 included some 250 other projects in all parts of the nation. Ploeser explained that the purpose was to compel congressmen to pass the entire bill in getting approval for their own local projects. As an example, he said that when it was learned that the southeast was lukewarm toward the St. Lawrence project it was decided to put the Florida ship canal in the omnibus bill to get Florida votes.

Besides disrupting a large part of the national economy, Ploeser said, the St. Lawrence project agreement would place Lake Michigan and diversion of water from Lake Michigan at Chicago directly under Canadian control. No real government estimate of the cost has been made public, he said, but outside engineers have placed the cost well above one billion dollars, with some six years required for completion.

Declares Canada Unwilling.

"Canada is already trying to get out of the agreement, but the state department will not let it," Ploeser said. "Maybe congress will help."

Among the activities which would suffer irreparable damage from the St. Lawrence waterway, he said, would be labor, agriculture, rail, and motor transportation, industry in general, and the inland waterway system. The Mississippi valley would suffer especially, he said.

Chester C. Thompson, president of the Inland Waterways corporation, and George E. Talmage Jr., director of the bureau of water carriers of the Interstate Commerce commission, urged coördination of waterway, railroad, and motor truck transportation.

Talmage said that there should be effective joint rail-water rates. Thompson suggested that a method be worked out whereby river carriers exchange barges in a manner similar to the interchange of freight cars among railroads. He said to be successful such an interchange would require standardized equipment.

MAKERS OF ARMS TOLD TO ASK OWN BANKS FOR HELP

Manufacturers who have been awarded armament contracts or subcontracts should utilize their customary bank connections before trying to obtain federal financing for acquisition of materials or equipment, Arthur L. Olson, assistant vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, said last night. He spoke at the third of a series of eight forums on arms production problems presented weekly by the Illinois Institute of Technology and the Chicago Commission on National Defense at 176 West Washington street.

CHICAGO CARTRIDGE CASE PLANT FIRST OF 'MASS OUTPUT' TYPE

The nation's first mass production type cartridge case plant, operated by the Ingersoll Steel and Disc division of the Borg-Warner corporation, was dedicated yesterday before army ordnance officers and company officials and employés. The new plant is at 1000 West 120th street.

It can turn out 15,000 brass cartridge cases for 105 mm. howitzers in three eight-hour shifts. Full production is expected to be started early in November. The plant is completely mechanized.

BRITISH DRAIN U. S. EGG MARKET THEN INVADE IT

Offer Dried Product, Source 'Unknown.'

A new British invasion of American markets began this week with the appearance in large quantities of an egg substitute for sale to American bakers and confectioners.

The product's chief ingredients are dried egg yolks and dry skim milk. It appears at a time when American eggs—fresh, frozen, and dried—and American dairy products are streaming to England under the lend-lease law by the millions of dozens and the millions of pounds.

So great has been the outflow of eggs, particularly from the central west, that prices have soared to new price peaks.

Milk Prices at Peak.

The lend-lease outflow of dried and evaporated milk and cheese not only has raised milk prices to a 21 year peak, but has brought widespread protests that the domestic butter industry is being wrecked.

Considerable mystery surrounds the source of the eggs necessary to manufacture the new British product. London dispatches repeatedly emphasize the egg shortage there.

In July, Food Minister Lord Wool-

Third Quarter Profit of U. S. Steel Is Largest Since 1929

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—The United States Steel corporation, faced with a strike of workers in its coal mines, and a consequent serious shortage of fuel at its steel mills, announced today the largest third quarter net earnings since 1929.

Net income for the September quarter was $34,313,345, or $3.21 a common share compared with 33,103,067, or $3.07 a share, in the like 1940 period. In the June quarter this year the profit was $24,814,751, or $2.12 a share.

The corporation's earnings for the first nine months of the year were $95,968,091, equal to $8.82 a share on the common stock against $69,418,070, or $5.80 a share in the like 1940 period.

Vote Another $1 Dividend.

Directors voted a dividend of $1 a share on the common stock. Three similar payments have been made this year and last year's common dividends totaled $3.

Of the $60,321,120 charged off for taxes in the September quarter, $37,685,500 was for federal income and excess profits taxes. For the nine months these levies accounted for $82,285,500 of total tax deductions of $135,882,791.

Emphasizing the seriousness of the coal strike situation, directors started their quarterly session today one hour earlier than usual and continued their discussions almost two hours beyond the usual time.

Irving S. Olds, chairman, told newspapermen later that the priorities system was operating in an increasingly improved manner. He suggested that the system of allocation might make things a little easier but added, "that, after all, is a refinement of priorities."

Olds reported that in the first nine months of this year, 20 per cent of the dollar volume of all production represented direct armament contracts, and that at present 50 per cent of the order backlog was directly for arms.

He said the reason for today's reduction of 20 per cent in operations in the Pittsburgh and Youngstown areas was because the furnaces there use beehive coke which is prepared right at the mills and of which there is no reserve.

Increased corporation earnings in many fields, despite rising federal taxes and other added costs, were shown in another batch of reports issued yesterday. Story on page 33.

YOUNGSTOWN PROFIT UP

Youngstown Sheet and Tube company yesterday announced third quarter net profit of $3,103,649, equal to $1.73 a share on common stock, compared with $2,842,280, or $1.57 a share, in the 1940 period. Indicated earnings for the first nine months of 1941 were $12,445,843, equal to $7.06 a share, against $5,265,492, or $2.77 a share, a year earlier.

The company set aside $19,043,105 to pay its nine month federal tax bill, which more than quadrupled the $4,405,768 tax cost of the corresponding period last year.

CARNEGIE PUTS NEW FURNACES INTO OPERATION

Output of Stainless Steel Boosted.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

With the start of production yesterday in two new electric furnaces at its South works, the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation raised to 160,000 net tons annually its producing capacity on stainless and alloy steel.

The stainless steel production of the United States Steel corporation, of which Carnegie-Illinois is the principal steel making subsidiary, has been concentrated for many years at the Chicago South works. The new facilities placed in production yesterday enhance greatly the plant's importance as a producer of this type of steel which is flowing in increasing volume into manufacture of aircraft and army ordnance equipment.

Former Production Figure.

Before the new furnaces began production South work's capacity for this type of steel was 60,000 net tons annually.

Army and navy ordnance officers and officials of United States Steel and its subsidiary were present yesterday to witness the tapping of the first heats in the new furnaces. The furnaces are housed in two new all

Chicago... Arsenal of Agriculture

BY FAR the greater part of all agricultural machinery in America is made in Chicago and within 200 miles of the Loop. In this area every major manufacturer in the industry is represented by main offices or important manufacturing plants.

And the farm equipment industry has taken on a new task. While continuing to supply implements of agriculture, it is also devoting facilities to the production of defense equipment for which it is particularly adapted.

This great industry has meant much to the Middle West, to Chicago, and to this Bank.

IMPROVED BRAND OF NEWS HELPS TO LIFT STOCKS

Gains and Losses Well Mixed at Close.

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—An assortment of cheering earnings statements and dividend declarations imparted quiet strength to individual stocks in today's market, altho many issues were neglected.

The list exhibited hesitancy at the start. Light bidding then began to appear and, at the best, selective gains ranged from fractions to a point or so. Plus and minus signs were pretty well divided at the close.

Volume a Little Larger.

United States Steel came out with a gain of ½ and, after the close, directors announced larger third quarter profits despite large provisions for taxes. Results were about in line with Wall street expectations.

Aside from optimistic business items securities markets still reflected worries over mounting taxes and labor rifts affecting the armament program. There was little excitement over the President's "shooting" broadcast.

CHICAGO LIST UNSTEADY.

Price changes showed a mixture of gains and losses, generally of fractional proportions, at the close of the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Of the 105 issues traded, 33 closed higher, 46 lower, and the others unchanged. Commonwealth Edison, one of the most active issues, closed down ⅛ point at 23¼.

United States Steel, lightly traded, crept up ⅛ during the half hour the exchange remained open after the New York close, presumably reflecting the report on higher earnings. Westinghouse Electric and Peoples Gas sold at fractionally higher prices.

Commodities

Cotton futures closed 15 to 45 cents a bale higher yesterday after early gains had carried prices up as much as $1.10 a bale. Speculative interests were said to have remained cautious in the face of the uncertain foreign situation.

Other commodity futures moved higher on renewed active buying. Cottonseed oil was up 0.19 to 0.24 cent a pound, influenced by the strength in cotton futures. World sugar closed unchanged to 0.05½ cent a pound higher.

Brazilian buying pushed coffee futures 0.05 to 0.10 cent a pound higher. Cocoa and hides were moderately higher and wool irregular.

TAX INCREASES BITE DEEP INTO EARNINGS GAINS

Link-Belt Sales Rise More than Offsets Levy.

The heavy toll that increasing federal taxation is exacting from corporation profits was emphasized in another batch of reports issued to stockholders yesterday, but most of the reporting companies were able to increase their earnings despite the tax hike and other added costs of doing business.

Link-Belt company, big Chicago manufacturer of power operated shovels and other machinery, announced net earnings of $2,172,824 for the first nine months of 1941, compared with $1,780,740 in the corresponding period a year ago. Earnings were equivalent to $2.95 and $2.37 a share on the common stock in the respective periods.

For 12 months ended with September the company earned $2,906,464, equal to $3.94 a share, against $2,556,363 and $3.43 a share in the preceding 12 months.

Link-Belt Tax Quadrupled.

Link-Belt's nine month federal tax bill jumped to $2,578,034, from $554,663 a year earlier, and for the 12 months showed a still steeper climb, $3,366,557 against $760,096. Nine month sales were $31,949,516, against $20,576,367, and 12 month volume was $40,013,492, compared with $27,216,630.

Remington-Rand, Inc., whose normal business of manufacturing office equipment has been augmented by substantial arms program production, reported September quarter net income more than trebled the 1940 level. Earnings were $1,918,590, equal to 98 cents a share on common stock, against $499,969, or 18 cents a share, in the 1940 quarter. Earnings for six months ended with September were $3,302,283, equal to $1.65 a share, compared with $1,065,209 and 40 cents a share in the parallel 1940 interval.

Brunswick Profit Trimmed.

Increasing taxes nullified the effect on earnings of substantially higher sales for the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company, big Chicago manufacturer of bowling and billiard equipment. Sales for the first nine months of 1941 increased 21.1 per cent over the 1940 level to $5,170,882, but federal taxes and operating costs rose at a faster clip, the tax bill rising from $887,000 to $1,067,000.

Net income for the nine months was $1,522,240, equal to $3.20 a share on common stock, against $1,638,849, or $3.45 a share a year earlier. R. F. Bensinger, president, told stockholders that foreign subsidiaries, all in the western hemisphere, had contributed a larger amount to the consolidated earnings, but warned "it is not unreasonable to assume" that fourth quarter earnings would be below the 1940 level because of mounting taxes.

Holland Furnace company issued a report from Chicago showing September quarter net profit of $705,151, equivalent to $1.57 a share, against $841,755, or $1.87 a share in the 1940 period.

DAIRY EQUIPMENT MAKERS GET HIGH PRIORITY RATINGS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28 (AP).—The Office of Production Management granted defense preference ratings today to dairy equipment manufacturers in a move to provide necessary equipment for an increase of 8 billion pounds in next year's milk production.

The department of agriculture proposes production of 125 billion pounds of milk in 1942.

Douglas C. MacKeachie, director of purchases, said the ratings would go to manufacturers of milk cans and tinned and tinplate dairy equipment. The plan, effective immediately will expire next March 15. He said that the high ratings could not be used to build up an inventory.

Electric Furnace at Steel Plant

steel buildings situated along the lake shore on the east side of the South work's 560 acre plant site. Room is provided in the buildings for a third furnace and additional expansion can be carried out by extending the buildings to the south.

The entire cost of the expansion, estimated at 5 million dollars, was financed by the company. Construction of the furnaces was begun last March. The start of production was delayed for a short period by inability to obtain prompt delivery of equipment for loading the furnaces. The last equipment was delivered only three weeks ago.

Government Plans Others.

The furnaces are being brought into production as the Office of Production management is completing plans for a vast new expansion in electric furnace facilities for the Chicago area. The OPM announced in Washington Monday that it had recommended construction of a government financed new all electric mill in Chicago capable of producing 504,000 tons of alloy steel annually. The plant, which would cost around 8 million dollars, would be operated by Republic Steel corporation. It would not get into production until late next year. It is one of several steel expansion projects for Chicago under consideration in Washington.

The principal products of the electric furnaces of the type added by Carnegie are stainless and high quality alloy steels which are in particular demand at the present time. Alloys used in the manufacture of these steels include chromium, nickel, vanadium, molybdenum, and tungsten.

The canning and food processing industry, the building trades and the streamline train manufacturers are principal peacetime users of these types of steel. At the present, however, they are being used primarily for aircraft products such as crankshafts, cam shafts, gears, crank cases, and miscellaneous aircraft parts, and for ordnance. The ordnance uses of electric furnace steels include gun parts, protective helmets, armor piercing bullets, bearing parts, and torpedo parts.

First Big Expansion Here.

The two new Carnegie-Illinois furnaces are the first important expansion in the company's Chicago district facilities since the rearmament program started.

They were designed and built by American Bridge company, another United States Steel subsidiary. The larger of the two, which has a capacity of 70 tons, is said by its builders to be the largest three electrode electric furnace yet built.

BUILDING OF MONSTER TANKS AT FAST RATE IS REPORTED PLANNED

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—The trade journal, American Machinist, said today the armament program now calls for the manufacture of 60 ton monster tanks, and that plants were expected to be tooled up for a production rate of 100 a month.

Tank builders are geared to make 600 medium tanks a month, the magazine said, but will expand that rate to 2,000 a month by the middle of 1942. That program and the demands of Russia, England, China, and Netherlands East Indies have resulted in assurances to machine tool builders of around two billion dollars worth of defense orders in the next two years, the journal said.

Russia was reported seeking 40 million dollars' worth of machine tools to rebuild industries east of the Ural mountains, England wants 100 millions' worth, and China and the East Indies wish to build up war industries, the magazine said.

In aircraft production lack of propellers is delaying delivery, the magazine said, with Bell Aircraft corporation having airacobras which cannot be delivered because of the propeller shortage.

INVESTING FIRM WILL PAY $9.75 ON STOCK ARREARS

Canada Dry Declares 40 Cents Extra.

Directors of the Phoenix Securities corporation, New York investment company, yesterday declared a dividend of $9.75 on the preferred stock, clearing all arrearages on the issue. In addition the company voted the regular quarterly payment of 75 cents on the preferred shares and a dividend of one share of the common stock of Celotex corporation for each five shares of Phoenix common stock. The stock dividend is the first payment on the common since 1937.

Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Inc. declared an extra dividend of 40 cents in addition to the quarterly payment of 15 cents. The company paid nothing on the issue last year compared with $1 this year.

Votes 25 Cents Extra.

An extra dividend of 25 cents in addition to the quarterly payment of the same amount was authorized by the Dodge Manufacturing corporation, Mishawaka, Ind. Falstaff Brewing corporation, St. Louis, declared an extra 15 cent dividend and the regular quarterly payment of the same amount.

Remington Rand, Inc., Buffalo, authorized an interim dividend of 25 cents compared with previous payments of 20 cents a quarter. Indiana Steel Products company announced a 26 cent dividend against a preceding payment of 12 cents.

Alaska Packers association, subsidiary of the California Packing corporation, declared a $5 dividend, the first since 1938 in which year a total of the same amount was paid.

WESTERN UNION, POSTAL MERGER PLAN ADVANCES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28 (AP).—The senate interstate commerce committee unanimously recommended today that congress permit a merger of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies. The committee approved, with minor changes, a report on the proposed merger previously adopted by a subcommittee after nearly two years of legislative hearings.

Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], a member of the committee, said the next step would involve introduction of actual legislation carrying out the proposed recommendations involving nearly 60,000 workers and the two largest domestic telegraph companies.

Union Opposes Merger.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 28 (AP).—Delegates to the 19th convention of the Commercial Telegraphers' union [AFL] today urged continuation of "uncompromising opposition to merger" of the Postal and Western Union Telegraph companies in the United States.

3 MACHINE TOOL COMPANIES FINED AS PRICE FIXERS

Executives Also Must Pay; Total Is $23,000.

Three machine tool manufacturing companies and five of their officers were fined a total of $23,000 yesterday by Judge Charles E. Woodward in federal District court. They pleaded nolo contendere [no defense] to an indictment charging them with conspiracy to fix prices for die cast pulleys.

According to the indictment, the three companies manufacture 85 per cent of the die cast pulleys sold in the United States.

Exchange of Price Lists.

The conspiracy, as outlined in the indictment, began in November, 1939, when the defendants met in a Chicago hotel and agreed to regulate prices. This was done by exchanging price lists, and identical prices later were printed in catalogs distributed to jobbers, it was charged.

Defense attorneys admitted a technical violation of the Sherman antitrust law, but denied that they intended to raise their prices illegally.

Companies Fined, and Amounts.

Those fined and the amounts they must pay are: The Central Die Casting and Manufacturing company, 2935 West 47th street, $5,000; Congress Tool and Die company of Detroit, Mich., $5,000, and the Browning Manufacturing Co., Inc., of Maysville, Ky., $5,000.

John Browning, secretary-treasurer of the Browning company, was fined $2,000; Herman Tann, vice president of the Congress company, was fined $2,000; and Laddie J. Sebek, Louis J. Tunik, and J. A. Franklin, officers of the Central Die company, were fined $2,000, $1,000, and $1,000 respectively.

TRUSTEES OF SOO LINE OBJECT TO CAPITAL SLASH

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28 (AP).—Trustees of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie railway objected today to the 87 million dollar capitalization proposed by an Interstate Commerce commission examiner in connection with the company's reorganization.

James L. Hetland, counsel for the trustees, told the commission the proposed capitalization was too low, but that there was no other major objection to the plan proposed by Examiner Ralph H. Jewell. He said the northwest territory which the Soo line served had shown a remarkable recovery and urged the commission not to give "too much weight" to the carrier's earnings in "off" years.

He urged that the commission permit total capitalization of nearly 105 millions, and that the stated value of 719,319 shares of common stock be $100 a share instead of $75 a share as proposed.

WORLD'S BIGGEST POTASH CONCERN CHANGES NAME

New York, Oct. 28 [Special].—International Minerals and Chemical corporation was adopted as the new name of the International Agricultural corporation by shareholders today. Louis Ware, president, who said the company is the world's largest producer of potash, reported its mines were operating at capacity and the year's production already sold. Earnings are above the 1940 level, he said.

900 Union Members Pledge 'Maximum' Arms Output

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28 (AP).—The navy department has received a telegram six feet long bearing the names of 900 members of local 1114 of United Electrical and Radio and Machine Workers of America [CIO] employed in the Chicago plant of the Foote Brothers Gear and Machine corporation. The telegram pledged the workers to deliver "maximum quantity production" for the arms program.

U. S. Financing Given More Plants for Aircraft Making

PRODUCERS SPEND BILLIONS.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28 [Special].—Producers' expenditures for new machinery and equipment this year will approximate 9 billion dollars, almost three times the annual average of 3 billion 300 million for the last 10 years, the department of commerce estimated today. Expenditures for new machinery reached 5 billion 600 million in 1929.

The war department yesterday announced approximately 16 million dollars in government financed lease agreements to expand the production of aircraft and ordnance, while the Office of Production Management took another step to add to the nation's copper output.

The largest lease agreement made by the Defense Plant corporation, a subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, was with the Ford Motor company and involved the acquisition of machinery and equipment for $9,788,916 to manufacture airplane engines. The DPC will finance the purchase and hold title to the equipment, which will be leased to and operated by Ford.

Copper Loan Recommended.

The OPM recommended to the RFC to finance new facilities at the Miami, Ariz., plant of the Castle Dome Copper company to produce 23,000 tons of copper a year. The amount of the suggested loan was not revealed. Castle Dome is an affiliate of the Miami Copper company and has large low grade copper deposits.

Other DPC lease agreements were:

North American Aviation, Inc., Inglewood, Cal., $954,099 for land, buildings, and equipment to increase its manufacturing facilities.

At a cost of 2½ million dollars the Ethyl Gasoline corporation, it was announced, will increase the output of its Baton Rouge, La., plants, especially of hydrochloric acid. The company will substitute the acid for chlorine in making tetraethyl lead, thus releasing more than one million cubic feet of chlorine for arms needs.

The Chesapeake and Ohio railroad ordered 10 mallet type locomotives at an estimated cost of $2,750,000 from the Lima Locomotive Works. The road's subsidiary, the Pere Marquette, awarded a contract to the Electro-Motive corporation, La Grange, for five new Diesel switching locomotives to cost about $373,750.

Chicago Arms Awards.

Chicago companies which received army contracts were:

Mid City Uniform Cap company, 100,000 hats, $47,500; Commercial Hat and Cap company, 75,000 hats, $33,750; Soboroff-Rosenwald company, 63,000 hats, $30,870; Eckerling Brothers, 35,000 pairs of trousers, $21,175.

Other war department awards included:

Tokheim Oil Tank and Pump company, Fort Wayne, Ind., shot, $2,791,090; Detroit Harvester company, Toledo, cartridge cases, $1,650,000; Darling Valve and Manufacturing company, Williamsport, Pa., shells, $595,680; Philco corporation, Philadelphia, fuses, $549,500; John Wood Manufacturing company, Conshohocken, Pa., galvanized steel boxes, $982,100; Cincinnati Milling Machine and Cincinnati Grinders, Inc., Cincinnati, milling machines, $500,580; milling and cutter machines, $519,449.

R. K. Leblond Machine Tool company, Cincinnati, lathes, guns drilling, boring and rifling machines, $1,111,799; Aluminum Specialty company, Manitowoc, Wis., cartridge cases, $446,750; Northern Engraving and Manufacturing company, La Crosse, Wis., cartridge cases, $448,750; Stevens Manufacturing Mills, Muscoda, Wis., ammunition boxes, $460,030; Ventnor Bolt Works, Atlantic City, N. J., bolts, $374,000; General Motors corporation, Delco Remy division, Anderson, Ind., generator assembly, $318,396; Leece Neville company, Cleveland, generator assemblies, $375,300.

People and Events

Dr. Matthew Luchiesh

Executives of several Chicago firms engaged in the electrical business will attend the G-E Mazda Flourescent Lamp conference tomorrow night in the Stevens hotel. Dr. Matthew Luchiesh, director of General Electric's Lighting Research laboratory, Nela Park, Cleveland, O., will be one of the principal speakers.

The Employers' Association of Chicago will hold a luncheon discussion on "The Closed Shop and Check-Off" at noon today in the Chicago Norske Klub at 2436 North Kedzie avenue. Gordon L. Hostetter, director of the association, and Otto A. Jaburek, its general counsel, will speak.

Construction, operation, and maintenance of airports will be the subject of the first annual fall engineering conference sponsored by the Illinois Institute of Technology which opens tomorrow in the Palmer House.

Samuel G. Hibben, director of applied lighting for the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, will speak tonight at a meeting of the Chicago section, Illuminating Engineering society, in the 20 North Wacker Drive building.

Recess Midland Hearings in East Another Week

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 28 (AP).—Special Master Daniel O. Hastings today recessed hearings until next Monday on bankruptcy proceedings in the reorganization of Midland United and Midland Utilities Companies of Chicago, formerly top companies in the Insull utility chain.

C. & O. ASKS BIDS ON ALL SHARES HELD IN C. & E. I.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad before long will lose its last connection with its former parent road, the Chesapeake and Ohio railway, it was disclosed yesterday. The C. & O. showed its intention of divorcing itself from its one time subsidiary by asking bids by Nov. 6 on its entire holding of 67,484 shares of C. & E. I. no par common stock.

Chesapeake and Ohio gained indirect control of C. & E. I. several years ago when the latter was the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway. After the latter was reorganized this year, Chesapeake's common holdings were declared worthless. The present 67,484 shares C. & O. holds in the reorganized C. & E. I. were received in exchange for higher classes of securities C. & O. held in the old railway company. Chicago and Eastern Illinois recently listed 343,297 shares of common outstanding.

PREDICTS POWER OF UNIONS WILL BE CLIPPED SOON

Roos Says Public Will End Arms Work Tieups.

Charles F. Roos.

Labor's powers gained under the New Deal will be clipped as the public demands the removal of all obstacles to arms production. Dr. Charles F. Roos, economist, predicted last night before the Chicago chapter of the Controllers' Institute of America.

Public sympathy will turn against labor, which was favored in the early '30s because it was considered the underdog, if strikes obstruct the maximum output of the arms industries, Dr. Roos said.

Calls Management "Underdog."

A former economic research director for the National Recovery administration in which he was associated with Leon Henderson, now federal price administrator, Dr. Roos asserted that public opinion usually favors the underdog in social and economic questions.

"Now that we are approaching full employment and straining to increase production, the balance of power has definitely passed to labor," he said. "Management now is the underdog. It is charged with the responsibility of producing goods for rearmament. Under the circumstances, the public is not likely to tolerate for long jurisdictional labor disputes, demands for closed shops, or unreasonable wage demands which intensify inflationary trends or labor racketeering."

Dr. Roos said that legislation to forbid strikes in arms plants may be an immediate development.

Predicts Lower Standards.

He estimated that industry's capacity to produce civilian durable goods will amount to 10 billion dollars a year, after providing 25 billion dollars a year for armament requirements. This curtailment of civilian output would reduce the public's consumption of durable goods to 1934 depression levels.

"Undoubtedly many manufacturers who are now producing civilian goods will be forced to convert their plants for the production of defense goods or go out of business," he said.

FANSTEEL VOTES 25 CENT DIVIDEND, FIRST SINCE 1927

Directors of the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation, North Chicago producer of specialized metals, declared a dividend of 25 cents a share on the common stock, the first since 1927. R. J. Aitchison, president, announced yesterday.

Aitchison estimated the company's profits at $260,000 for the first nine months, or about $1.12 a share on common stock after preferred dividends. In the corresponding 1940 period the company earned $147,732, or 58 cents a share. Sales were nearly 130 per cent above those of the 1940 period, he said.

ton said he hoped each Briton would get four eggs during the month. But he said he couldn't guarantee it.

In view of these shortages, Chicago bakers and confectioners were amazed to receive letters from the American Merchants & Manufacturers Service corporation, 30 North La Salle street, announcing it represents a London firm which is offering a product whose ingredients are egg yolk powder, skim milk powder, soya bean powder, citric acid, sodium bicarbonate and tumeric.

Claims Made for Product.

"It completely replaces one half the whole egg," asserts the letter, which was signed by M. A. Paul. "It is extraordinarily cheap to use and one pound of powder makes seven pounds of fluid egg equivalent. Because of present uncertainties we felt that you, as well as other leading bakeries, would want to prepare for any emergency shortage by having a supply of 'Baker's Pride' on hand."

Paul said he does not know the source of eggs and milk used to produce "Baker's Pride," explaining that his concern represents a number of manufacturers and that he has been assured of the legitimacy of the company and the purity of the product.

Distributed by New York Branch.

It was learned elsewhere that "Baker's Pride" is distributed by Silver Hill Products Inc., 113 Hudson street, New York, which is a branch of the main office in London. One letter from the company reads:

"From one pound of 'Baker's Pride' the baker obtains seven pounds of solution so that one pound of solution is equivalent to one pound of eggs, which costs him approximately 10 cents. If you compare the price of eggs, and yolk powder to our price, you can see the difference."

The difference is at once apparent by a glance at prices on the Chicago market yesterday. A pound of egg yolk powder [which requires breaking four dozen eggs] was selling at $1 to $1.20. Whole egg powder per pound [three dozen eggs] was $1.15 to $1.35.

Cost of Frozen Eggs.

A pound of frozen eggs [10 eggs] was 25 to 27 cents. And graded eggs in the shell, whose prices soared to new highs yesterday, were selling at 32½ to 34 cents a dozen.

Dealers and market men who speculated yesterday on the source of England's egg exports recalled the words of Congressman Melvin J. Maas [R., Minn.] who spoke here Sept. 12 at the emergency conference of mayors seeking to stave off ruin of nondefense industries under the priorities of the rearmament program.

"The British have assured us they won't use any more lend-lease materials for export," Haas said. "But they haven't said they won't use their own raw materials for export while still drawing on us."

Day by Day on the Farm

By GAIL COMPTON

[Friday's story about the farm will be the last until early spring, when the daily reports on farm activities will be resumed.]

Rains Delay Work.

Oct. 28, 1941.

The farm manager is anxious to get the fields smoothed down so the manure spreader can travel thru them. All winter long the manure from the feed lot and dairy barn will be distributed over the fields, but if they remain in their present rough condition it will be a hard task to get this important job done.

Too Wet to Pick Corn.

The only other big job that remains before the farm slips into its winter routine of odd jobs is the corn picking. The corn is ready to go into the crib but the fields are too soft to bear the heavy machinery. The corn should dry enough by now to stand storage. There will be little, if any, soft corn this year as the stalks had plenty of time to mature, and if the rain lets up the men will harvest a bumper crop.

One of the workers remarked that if the ground didn't dry out soon the farm would have to revert to the old fashioned hand shucking to get the corn in. A team of horses could get a wagon thru the fields without much trouble, and the men could husk the corn by hand. The big corn picker would bog down in the wet fields now, but the men could harvest a good part of the crop by hand while the fields were drying.

The subsoil has welcomed the rains if the men haven't, and the ground has soaked up the abundant moisture and will store it against a dry spring. Conditions for trees and shrubs are excellent and the gardener will not have to wet any of them down before freezing weather sets in as he usually does. The new seeding of wheat has responded rapidly to the rain, and the heavy stand of new sprouts promise a good field of wheat next year.

Evergreens Shed Needles.

Another sign of approaching winter is found among the evergreens. Several of them are beginning to turn brown in spots and shed their needles. This is nature's way of pruning the evergreens, and is not a sign of sickness or disease.

Browning in the evergreens may occur in the early spring and again in the summer. If browning occurs in late February or early March it may be attributed to the tree's drying out while the soil is still frozen, and the tree is unable to replace the water lost by the needles. Exposure to prevailing winds and direct sunlight generally account for this type of injury.

PENN MUTUAL.

Could you furnish me with a report on Penn Mutual Life Insurance company showing assets, reserves, and insurance writing figures for the last few years? Is this company also known as the Pennsylvania Mutual Life Insurance company?—R. C.

Answer: Penn Mutual, which began business in 1847, is controled by its policyholders. Participating insurance on the annual dividend plan is written exclusively, altho the company also issues policies on the salary savings plan with certain limitations. Penn Mutual and Pennsylvania Mutual are separate companies, both in Philadelphia. Penn Mutual is licensed in all states except Texas. Operating results follow [last three ciphers are omitted]:

1939	736,261	566,656
1938	702,629	541,041
1937	668,082	517,269
1940	$145,990	$1,996,757
1939	139,946	1,969,568
1938	155,903	1,951,750
1937	180,424	1,928,474

SINCE 1885.

I have heard that New England Telephone and Telegraph company has an exceptionally long dividend paying record. When were payments first begun and what have recent dividends amounted to? Is its stock all held by the public and is it traded on any of the New York exchanges? —W. R. B.

Answer: This company, incorporated in 1883, paid its first dividend in 1884. Payment was omitted the following year but resumed in 1886. Dividends have been paid continuously since. Since 1898 annual distributions have been between $6 and $8. Payments were $6, $6.50, and $7 in 1938, 1939, and 1940, respectively. Three payments of $1.75 each have been made this year. At the end of last year, American Telephone and Telegraph company owned 65.31 per cent of New England's 1,333,458 shares of $100 par common stock outstanding. The common, sole stock capitalization of the company, is traded on the New York Curb exchange.

PRIOR PREFERRED.

I read recently that Armour paid $1.50 on its $6 preferred stock. I hold the 7 per cent preferred but have received no payments. Would you please tell me why?—S. B. C.

Answer: Armour & Co. of Illinois $6 stock is prior preferred and as such, has first preference as to dividends over the 7 per cent preferred.

OH, DEAR-- LOOKS LIKE WE'RE STUCK! WHERE'LL I SLEEP?
IN TH' PLANE! I'LL SLEEP HERE ON TH' GROUND UNDER TH' SHIP!
THIS IS ONLY A THREE-PLACE PLANE-- I'LL HAVE TO SLEEP TWISTED UP LIKE A LAZY EIGHT--I'M NOT GONNA BE VERY COMFORTABLE!
NOW, ISN'T THAT TOO BAD! I'M SORRY, YOUR HIGHNESS, BUT DUE TO TH' SHORTAGE OF TRANSPORTS, I HAD TO DISCONTINUE SLEEPER PLANES ON THIS RUN!
IF YOU DON'T LIKE TH' SERVICE HERE, RIDE TH' AIRLINES! I WON'T GET JEALOUS--IN FACT, I'LL PAY YOUR FARE....
